MILITARY RULE FOR MEXICO IS PLANNED

Torreon Conference Votes Down Villa's Notion Regarding Presidency

CARRANZA WILL BECOME PRESIDENT AD INTERIM

One for Each Thousand Population to Have Voice in Next Election

ACTIVITY OF CLERGY FOR HUERTA CONDEMNED

Saltillo, July 11.—General Carranza issued a statement here to-day reiterating his intention of carrying out the plan of Guadalupe. He announced: "I shall continue to struggle to establish peace throughout the republic as soon as possible and will immediately thereafter call elections which will result in the re-establishment of constitutional order in Mexico."

Torreon, Mexico, July 11.—At the Carranza-Villa conciliation conference at Torreon, an effort to prevent Carranza or any of the military leaders of the revolution from becoming candidates for the presidency or vice-presidency failed to be adopted, according to a lengthy official statement issued here to-day. The motion was made by the Villa delegates. A motion was carried, however, demanding that the first chief, as president ad interim, with the triumph of the revolution should call a convention composed of delegates representing the constitutional army, every thousand soldiers to be represented by one delegate selected by a committee of military chiefs, to be approved by the general of the division who would fix the date and arrange for the election.

A list of names was suggested to Carranza by all the delegates from which he would select if he saw fit a provisional candidate or a consulting committee to act until the election of permanent officers. Resolutions also were adopted condemning what was declared the activity of the clergy in assisting the Huerta government. This followed a fight in which the Villa delegates attempted to eliminate any military leader including Carranza from presidential possibilities. Those recommended as suitable for the provisional cabinet were Iglesias Calderon, Luis Cabrera, Antonio Villareal, Miguel Silva, Manuel Bonilla, Alberto Pail, Eduardo E. Hay, Ignacio Pesquera, Miguel Diaz Lombardo, Jose Vasconcelos, Miguel Alessio Robles and Frederico Gonzales Garza.

Mexico City, July 11.—Robert O. Stava-Rutz, former acting Mexican minister of foreign affairs, left to-day for Vera Cruz on his way to Europe and South America.

The convention that agreed that General Carranza was the supreme leader of the revolution and General Villa the chief of the division of the north.

The internal trouble in the state of Sonora was mentioned in an adopted resolution calling on General Carranza to obtain a solution of the conflict in the western state. General Obregon, Carranza's western division commander, who was not represented in the conference here, and Jose Maria Maytorena, the constitutionalist governor of Sonora, have disagreed. It was suggested also that Maytorena resign if he believed such action would aid the trouble.

GUAYMAS NOT FALLEN BUT IS SURROUNDED

Obregon Captures Fifty-Three Trains, Eight Cannons; Still Taking Prisoners.

Saltillo, Mex., July 9.—Via Laredo, Tex., July 11.—Previous reports that the seaport of Guaymas had been evacuated by federal forces in error, according to advices to-day from General Alvarado, commanding the constitutionalists besieging that city. Alvarado reported he has moved the forces so as to surround Guaymas completely on the land side.

The following message was received to-day from General Obregon, dated Guadalupe, July 9: "I have the honor to report that up to this time I have captured fifty-three trains from the enemy, eight cannons, seven machine guns, two cars of artillery and ammunition and six of rifle cartridges and still continue to capture prisoners and supplies."

IS LIBERAL CANDIDATE.

London, July 11.—Bernard Leslie Richardson, who has recently returned to England after several years' residence in Canada is the future Liberal candidate for Hythe.

STORSTAD THIRD OFFICER BLAMED FOR DISASTER TO THE EMPRESS OF IRELAND

Commission Recommends Closing of All Watertight Doors in Foggy Weather and Portholes Below Water Levels on Steamers From Sunset to Sunrise

Quebec, July 11.—The collier Storstad is held to blame for the Empress of Ireland disaster, in the findings of the wreck commission, handed down to-day. The commission holds that the disaster was due to the Storstad's change of course ordered by the third officer, without instructions from the first officer, who was in charge of the collier at the time. The Empress was sunk in the St. Lawrence river on May 29, with a loss of more than 1,000 lives.

The report of the commission was read by Lord Mersey this morning. On the question of blame the report said: "We think that Capt. Kendall would have been better advised if he had given the Storstad a wider berth and ought not to have been there, as he had passed the Storstad at a greater distance on his beam than he originally intended. We do not think, however, that his stopping, which was really done for greater caution, can be said to have been an unseamanlike act, nor do we consider his failure to give the wider berth a contributory cause of the disaster."

Tutness Considered Negligent. Dealing with the porting of the Storstad's helm, the report says: "The commission is unable to accept the view that it was done to counteract the effect of a current and as an act of prudent navigation. We are of the opinion that Chief Officer Tutness, of the Storstad, was negligent in omitting to call the captain when the fog was coming on. The captain is the man who ought to have been there. Mr. Tutness says that he thought there was no danger and therefore it did not matter. He was wrong, there was danger, and anyway it was his duty to obey the order which he had received to call the captain when the fog came on."

We can come to no other conclusion than that Tutness was wrong and negligent in altering his course in the fog, as he undoubtedly did, and that he was wrong and negligent in keeping the navigation of the vessel in his own hands and in failing to call the captain when he saw the fog coming on."

Plans for Future Safety. The section closes with the remark that the disaster is not to be attributed to any characteristic of the St. Lawrence route. The recommendations of the commission include the closing of all water tight doors in foggy weather and wherever practicable, all water tight doors and portholes below the water levels should be closed at sunset and kept closed to sunrise. Also that rafts be placed on deck in such a position that they will float automatically as the ship sinks.

The most important section of the report, that dealing with the blame for the disaster, reads: "The question as to who, if any one, is to blame for the collision in this case depends largely on which of the two stories put forward by the respective owners of the vessels is to be accepted. The main difference between the two is to be found in the description of the way in which the two vessels were approaching each other at the time the Empress of Ireland changed her course after having obtained an offing from Father Point."

Evidence Irreconcilable.

"Father Point is the place at which the Empress of Ireland, the outward-bound ship, had dropped her pilot. Is the place also at which the Storstad, inward bound, was to pick up her pilot. It is situated on the south side of the river. The witnesses from the Storstad says that they were approaching so as to pass red, while those from the Empress of Ireland says they were approaching so as to pass green. The stories are irreconcilable, and we have to determine which is the more probable. Times, distances and bearings vary so much, even in the evidence of witnesses from the same ship, that it is impossible to rely on or base conclusions upon them. We have therefore thought it advisable to found our conclusions almost entirely upon other events, spoken to by the witnesses and upon their probable sequence in order to arrive at a solution of the difficulty. Suggestion made by the commission as to avoiding similar disasters in the future are as follows: 1. In order to prevent if possible disasters such as that into which we have been inquiring, we think that in foggy weather it would be desirable to close all water-tight doors and portholes below the top of the water-tight bulkheads and to keep them closed until the fog has completely cleared. We think also that where practicable all water-tight doors and portholes below the above level should be closed at sundown and kept closed until sunrise. Precaution of the kind suggested would have the effect of securing the floatability of the ship in accordance with the intentions of the designer, whereas neglect of such precautions may lead to the foundering of a vessel which would otherwise have remained afloat. 2. The rapidity with which the vessel foundered after the collier struck it made any life-saving appliances on board of little use. Most, if not all, of the passengers were in bed when the vessel was struck and there was an interval of only about 15 minutes between the collision and the foundering. The list which the vessel took to starboard was so sudden and so great that the life-boats on the port side were rendered useless almost at once, some of them were indeed worse than useless for they broke adrift and injured people as they clattered down the steep incline. Of those on the starboard side, only six were launched, although the best was done in the short time available to get them into the water.

These circumstances lead us to suggest that it might be desirable to consider whether rafts could not be placed in such a position on the upper deck that they would float automatically on the water as the ship sank. Such rafts would doubtless have to be attached to the deck in such a way as to prevent them from getting adrift in bad weather, but the attachments might be of a simple kind which could be loosened in a very short time.

Evidence of Galway.

It has not been suggested during our inquiry that the catastrophe was in any way attributed to the steering by a man named Galway, one of the quartermasters of the Empress. He had made two voyages on the ship. He stated that on one occasion going up the river, and while he was at the wheel in a narrow passage below Quebec, called the Traverse, the vessel behaved in an extraordinary manner, sheering to port against a port wheel and only missing by forty feet a schooner which was approaching. He further stated that between 9 and 10 o'clock on the evening of the 28th of May when the Empress was going down the St. Lawrence an incident of a different kind occurred, viz., that when he put the wheel over to port the gear jammed for the matter of a few minutes, and he had to pull it in order to make it work again. Another similar incident, he said, occurred on his previous voyage when the vessel was in the Mersey. He said that he reported the jamming incident to William, the second officer on the bridge who was drowned, and to the Pilot (Bernier). He said that he also mentioned the matter to Quartermaster Murphy who relieved him at midnight. Pilot Bernier and Quartermaster Murphy were called and denied that Galway had made any complaint whatever to them about the steering gear. It further appeared that he had given a statement to some newspaper reporter about the collision and that he had given a very full account of it to a solicitor and to the owners of the Storstad, but that he had not mentioned the steering gear to either of them.

Testimony Unreliable.

Galway gave his evidence badly and made so unsatisfactory a witness that we cannot rely on his testimony. Some evidence was called, however, to confirm Galway. This was the evidence of three men and the pilot from another Norwegian collier called the Alden, a boat under time-charter to the Dominion Coal company, which were the charterers of the Storstad. The witnesses spoke of having passed the Empress on her way down the river. About 9.20 (Montreal time) on the evening of May 28, they said she was swinging and steering badly, changing from red to green several times. The witnesses do not speak of any behavior of the vessel which would suggest jamming, and it is to be observed that the allegation that the vessel sheered from side to side on this occasion is entirely different from the allegation of Galway that the wheel jammed, an event which so far from making the vessel swing from side to side would keep her head swinging one way. On the other hand, we have the evidence from the officers on board the Empress and of her pilot, all of whom affirmed that the steering gear was in perfect order and worked well.

A further point that was made by counsel for the Storstad was an admission by Murphy, the quartermaster of the Empress. He said, with reference to the wheel: "It might be that it does not catch and what you have to do is to put your wheel back amidship and give it the helm and it will catch on right away." He stated, however, that this had only occurred once during the four years and five months he had been on the Empress. We do not attach any importance to the incident. On the whole question of the telemotor steering gear we are of the opinion that the allegations as to its condition are not well founded.

No Complaint on Steering.

A suggestion was made that the arrangement of the Empress of Ireland's

BRITISH PARLIAMENT TO CLOSE IN AUGUST

Premier Asquith is Expected to Make Announcement on Monday

London, July 11.—After a cabinet council on Monday the Prime Minister will make an important announcement as to the arrangements for the ending of the session. The expectation in ministerial circles is that the government will decide to bring the session to a close in mid-August and hold over until the new session to be summoned possibly in November, some minor bills and the revenue bill.

Andrew Bonar Law, leader of the opposition, will, after the prime minister's statement on Monday, inquire as to when the government proposed to take up the amending Home Rule bill. There is no possibility of the bill being considered next week, the whole of which will be devoted to the finance bill, but it may be taken up in the week following. It is further asserted in quarters which ought to know something of the ministerial intentions, that the government may possibly decide not to proceed with the amending bill unless there is some reasonable likelihood of an agreement being reached. In any event the Irish Nationalists, it is said, will not vote for the second reading.

The Daily Citizen (Labor) declares that the cabinet is divided into two factions over Home Rule, to say nothing of the revenue bill. One section is in favor of getting the Irish measure through at once while the other would like to put it off until the autumn session so as to give more time for negotiation.

Premier Asquith is said to favor the former course, while many members of parliament who are in favor of Home Rule, further asserts the Citizen, are anxious to avoid civil strife and will urge the government to offer further concessions to Ulster.

VIOLENT ATTACK IS MADE ON MR. BIRRELL

Mrs. Pankhurst Released Again From Holloway Jail To-day.

Bristol, Eng., July 11.—A violent attack was made to-day on Augustine Birrell, chief secretary for Ireland, by a male militant suffragette, who rushed at the statesman immediately on his descent from a train here. The assailant hurled a heavy bundle of papers in Mr. Birrell's face, at the same time shouting: "You cur, you torturer of women."

Mrs. Pankhurst Released. London, July 11.—Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, the militant suffragette leader, arrested July 8 at the offices of the Women's Social and Political Union, was again released to-day from Holloway jail.

ANARCHISTS AT NEW YORK IN DEMONSTRATION

New York, July 11.—Seven thousand persons, some professed anarchists, some members of the I. W. W., the free-speech league and kindred organizations, and some merely curious assembled to-day in Union Square for a demonstration in memory of the three men killed in the bomb explosion July 4. The ashes of the victims were not exhibited in urns, the mayor having forbidden it.

THREE DEAD IN MILL FIRE, MANY INJURED

Tacoma, July 11.—Three are dead, two missing and twelve or more are injured as the result of a fire that started from an unknown cause in the dry-kill of the Conly Mill company at Bismarck last night, destroying the Conly plant and the larger plant of the Bismarck Mill company with a total loss of approximately $115,000.

LADY HARDINGE DEAD.

London, July 11.—Lady Hardinge, vicarine of India, died to-day at a hospital here after undergoing an operation.

rudder, having regard to the fullness of her stern, was not large enough to enable the ship to steer well. We mention this to show that we have not overlooked, but we dismiss it from further consideration, inasmuch as we are satisfied that here, too, no real complaint can be made against the steering of the ship. This disposes of evidence put forth in support of the suggestion that the Empress of Ireland changed her course by reason of circumstances which were beyond the master's control. It is necessary, however, to refer to a manoeuvre of the Empress of Ireland commenced when the lights of the Storstad first began to show in the fog and continue for some time after. This manoeuvre consisted of reversing her engines full speed astern. That this manoeuvre was in fact executed we have no doubt. It was evidenced by appropriate whistle signal from the Empress of Ireland which were heard by the Storstad.

Result of Manitoba Elections in Doubt; Three Majority Is All Roblin Government Now Holds

TITANIC SUITS MAY GO TO THE BRITISH COURTS

American Claims Can Be Increased by Transference From United States.

New York, July 11.—In the federal court a ruling is on record to-day which permits claimants to withdraw claims growing out of the loss of the steamship Titanic from admiralty litigation here, and prosecute damage suits in British courts. Under the British law, known as Lord Campbell's Liability act, claimants may recover $3,000,000 for the account of salvage, freight and passenger money, while the American statute limits recovery to $97,000.

Action was brought on claims aggregating $18,000,000. Judge Hand's orders permit the claimants to proceed in British courts without prejudice to their rights of further action in this country.

DROVE HIS AUTOMOBILE INTO WHEELS OF TRAIN

Vancouver, Wash., July 11.—M. W. Turk, a wealthy retired farmer, 75 years old, drove his automobile into the drive-wheels of the engine pulling passenger train No. 8 on the North Bank road at Washougal at 7.15 last night. Turk was thrown 25 feet and killed, his wife in the rear seat escaped with a broken collarbone and bruises. The machine was demolished. The train had whistled for the crossing but Mr. Turk apparently did not heed it and reached the crossing an instant later than the engine.

GERMAN STEAMER ASHORE ON COAST OF ARGENTINA

Buenos Ayres, July 11.—The German steamship Mendoza went ashore to-day in a fog off Megotes Point on the Argentine coast. She has 275 people on board, including passengers and crew, and advices by wireless are that her position is dangerous. The Argentina gunboat Patri and two tugs have gone to the assistance of the Mendoza, which is lying about five miles to the south of Cape Corrientes, where there are many gunken rocks near the shore.

Winnipeg, Man., July 11.—Elections in Manitoba yesterday provided a turnover that has surprised the Conservative party. Of the forty-nine seats in the legislature it is to-day conceded that the Roblin government cannot possibly get a majority greater than seven if all from now on goes in its favor. This, however, is by no means certain. At the latest standing this morning there were twenty-four admitted Conservative members and twenty-one admitted Liberal members. There is one seat, that of St. George, which yet is considered doubtful, although the Conservatives claim it. The Liberal party, however, has considerable optimism in the matter, but neither side can put any reliance on it at the present stage of the count because it is an outlying constituency, and it will be some time before the definite returns are known.

At Best Majority Only Can Be Small.

There are three deferred elections in the province, and if the Conservatives were fortunate enough in the face of the blow which they received yesterday to win them all, and also secure the seat of St. George, the Roblin government would have only a majority of seven, with which Sir Rodmond would have great difficulty in carrying on the business of the province.

In many seats the difference between the candidates was very narrow and recounts probably will be asked in some places.

CANADIAN NORTHERN TO PUT BONDS ON MARKET

Transcontinental Line to Be Completed About November, Sir Donald Mann Says.

Toronto, Ont., July 11.—Sir Donald Mann states in an interview to-day that the transcontinental line from tide water to tide water will probably be completed in October or November next. The bond between the Canadian government and the C. N. R. provided for in the legislation of the last session which gave the company $45,000,000 of bond guarantees will probably be completed within the next few days.

It is understood that no arrangements have yet been completed in regard to the placing of the issue in London. That there will be an immediate offering of the entire amount and that in deference to the government's wish the bonds will be marketed on the installment plan is understood to have been agreed upon.

TORONTO ORANGEMEN CELEBRATE TWELFTH

Mayor Hooker Refers to What Happened in Manitoba Elections Yesterday.

Toronto, Ont., July 11.—With the weather too hot to be agreeable Toronto Orangemen to-day celebrated the 12th by the longest parade on record. It is estimated that between six and seven thousand of the brethren, headed by bands and with banners flying, marched through the principal streets to the exhibition grounds, where they listened to their leaders orate on the principles of the order. The acute crisis in Ulster was the keynote of most of the speeches. Every town and village in the province is also celebrating.

In his remarks from the platform Mayor Hooker, of Toronto, said: "The Orangemen of Ontario have shown their strength in the fight against bilingual schools. They have demonstrated their power in Manitoba. I call upon you to-day to honor your brethren in Manitoba. Yesterday they stood as in 1898. They fought a good fight. They kept the faith. They deserve the respect and admiration of the whole country."

MILITARY INCREASES IN EUROPE IN LAST YEAR

Foreign Secretary Replies to Attack on Question of Bloating Armaments.

London, July 11.—Criticism of the bloated armaments of the European powers were directed at Sir Edward Grey, the British foreign secretary in the House of Commons to-day. In reply, Sir Edward declared that Great Britain had done her best, but her direct suggestions to foreign countries as to the limitation of armaments had been regarded, he said, as attempts to limit their control of their freedom of action, and had been resented accordingly. Sir Edward added that the most notable thing in Europe during the last year had been not the naval but the military increases, and Great Britain had not been responsible for that.

Cartillon, which was to a certain extent doubtful last night, reports a majority of seven for Molloy, Liberal. Hon. J. H. Howden was elected in Beautiful Plains by a majority of 37 with all polls heard from, and Hon. George R. Caldwell's majority in Brandon City is officially placed at 183. Mr. Caldwell having polled 1,837 votes to 1,734 polled for Clement, Liberal. St. George and St. Rose are outlying constituencies and it has been impossible so far to secure definite returns.

Liberals claim that six seats now standing in the government's column are so close that recounts are inevitable, such a seat being Kildonan and St. Andrew's, where Dr. Montague, minister of public works, has now a majority of but three, whereas at the recent by-election it stood in the hundreds.

The result is a severe blow to the expectations of the government. Outside the loss of a number of what were considered safe seats, many other seats were held only by a small majority.

Premier Roblin, whose majority at the last election was over 400, has little to spare now.

The Liberals swept Centre and South Winnipeg, one of the most surprising things of the campaign, and which can only be attributed to a hostile Orange and church sentiment. In South Winnipeg particularly, Mr. McMeans was a good candidate, who sat in the last legislature, and earned civic popularity by taking up the cudgels of the city against the Reese interests, which sought to jam a bill through crippling the city's power development through the legislature.

One cabinet minister, Armstrong, was defeated by nine votes. Hon. Mr. Montague has only four majority. Probably there will be recounts in six constituencies.

The French districts saved the government, even Sir Rodmond Roblin losing in the English portion of Dufferin, his own constituency.

St. Rose was taken out of the doubtful column to-day and is lined up behind Premier Roblin with a majority of 73 for Jos. Hamelin over J. A. Campbell, Liberal.

In St. Clement's nine polls give Ross, Liberal, a majority of 219. The five polls not yet heard from are in the outlying parts of the riding and may not be heard from before next week. T. C. Norris, Liberal leader, who is still at Brandon, where he received the returns last night, declines to make any statement. "I will say nothing until further developments," he said this morning. With one poll to hear from Mr. Norris' majority in Landdowne is 472. J. B. Baird, Liberal candidate in Mountain, polled up one of the biggest majorities of the day, having 686 over J. F. Dale, his Conservative opponent, and 361 in excess of the joint votes of Dale and Craig, an Independent candidate.

BODY OF COMMISSIONER REES IS IDENTIFIED

Toronto, July 11.—Col. Gaskin, of the Salvation Army, received a message this morning from Rimouski to the effect that Major Jennings had identified the body of Commissioner Rees. The identification was made by a waterproof that the late commissioner wore and also by the initials of his pyjamas. The local officials of the Army are making arrangements for a public funeral on Wednesday next.

RAILWAY FIGURES ARE PADDED TO THE LIMIT

Overvaluation of $10,000 Per Mile Shown in Figures Given Commission

Fredericton, N. B., July 11.—That David W. Brown, acting on an alleged hint from E. V. Johnson, federal inspecting engineer, practically padded the cost of the Southampton railway to make sure of the double subsidy of $6,400 a mile, was brought out yesterday in the most sensational session of the government enquiry. It was shown that the Dominion department of railways and canals acted on the report submitted by Mr. Johnson. At the end of a severe examination by the commission, Mr. Brown made the statement that, acting on a hint from Mr. Johnson that the cost was too near the double subsidy limit of $2,400 a mile, and that J. K. Finkler's books would not stand an audit, he raised the value to $13,000, or about $1,000 a mile. Mr. Johnson, when recalled to the stand, stoutly maintained his innocence, and said that the statement credited to him by Mr. Brown was nonsense.

Edmund J. Walsh, a civil engineer, was the first witness. He had been engaged in figuring the cost of the road, which, from his evidence was shown to be $159,510.17, or about $2,500 per mile, instead of the $2,400 per mile shown in Mr. Johnson's statement, in which the double subsidy was granted. Mr. Walsh showed an overvaluation of $132,006.83. The total value of the road, as found in the government report, is practically the same as that shown by Mr. Walsh.

MOHENO TO EDUCATE AMERICA ON MEXICO

Will Be Interviewed, Lecture and Publish Book on Wrongs of His Country

Vera Cruz, July 11.—Quirido Moheno, former Mexican minister of commerce and labor, before departing for Cuba and the United States, issued the following statement: "I am going to the United States to educate the people of that country on the wrongs of Mexico. I will visit the forward saloon of the French liner, Senor Moheno looked through a port-hole toward the American flag flying in Vera Cruz and shook his fist in rage."

He insisted that he was in a position to produce proofs that there existed a secret platform of the Progressive party in the United States, of which Col. Roosevelt was a member, and in which he concurred, looking to the disruption of Mexico and the acquisition ultimately by the United States of all the territory between the Rio Grande and Panama.

He said that Francisco Escudero, who was minister of foreign relations in Carranza's cabinet, has letters which to him are conclusive evidence of his allegations and declared he hoped to be able to produce these letters at the proper time.

To show up President Wilson's crime against Mexico—the greatest in the history of modern nations—is the announced object of Senor Moheno's trip to the United States. He said he would publish a book explaining his connection with Mexican political affairs since the tragic ten days, and also deliver lectures. By these methods and through interviews in the newspapers, he said, he hoped to convince the American people of the enormity of the crime committed not only by President Wilson but by all the political factors in the United States regardless of party.

Senor Moheno added that he did not agree with the opinion that the oil interests were responsible for the revolutions in Mexico. On the contrary, he asserted, the oil interests were directed by its politicians. Neither did Senor Moheno have any hope except of the slightest nature that the overthrow of General Huerta by the constitutionalists would be followed by peace. Since he left the Mexican capital, Senor Moheno appears to have become frank in his admission of Emiliano Zapata, the southern revolutionary leader. He told the newspaper correspondents that Zapata was a much misunderstood man. He declared Zapata to be a simple Indian of high ideals and patriotic impulses, although his methods were somewhat barbarous. Zapata would never yield, he asserted, to any government unless that government agreed fully to his demands for the surrender of the lands of Morelos to him and his followers.

He added that he had no doubt the victory of the northern revolutionaries would be succeeded almost immediately not only by a continuation of the Zapata revolution, but by other revolts headed by disappointed sub-chiefs of Carranza.

In his denunciations of President Wilson, Senor Moheno resorted to much sarcasm, characterizing him as "the Puritan president." Moheno admitted his belief that armed intervention in Mexico would come. He promised to reveal the exact method of the killing of the late President Madero and Vice-President Pino Suarez.

"I will say now that I am confident General Huerta had nothing to do with the assassination of these men," he continued. "It was a political blunder and it was inevitable that it should result in a revolution, which all thinking Mexicans now concede to have practically triumphed."

WIDE DIFFERENCE IN FIGURES OF RAILWAY

Fredericton, N. B., July 11.—Edmund Joseph Walsh, of Ottawa, a civil engineer sent by Commission Privile to inspect and value the Southampton railway now under construction, gave his evidence yesterday. He gave an itemized statement totalling $159,516 as the actual cost, while the amount reported to the department was $291,517, a difference of $132,000.

THIN FOLKS WHO WOULD BE FAT

Increase in Weight Ten Pounds or More A Physician's Advice

"I'd certainly give most anything to be able to put up a few pounds and stay that way," declares every excessively thin man or woman. Such a result is not impossible, despite past failures. Thin people are victims of mal-nutrition, a condition which prevents the fatty elements of food from being taken up by the blood as they are when the powers of nutrition are normal. Instead of getting into the blood, all the fat and flesh producing elements stay in the intestines until they pass from the body as waste.

To correct this condition and to produce a healthy, normal amount of fat, the nutritive processes must be artificially supplied with the power which nature has denied them. This can best be accomplished by eating a Sargol tablet with every meal. Sargol is a scientific combination of six of the best strength-giving, fat-producing elements known to the medical profession. Taken with meals, it mixes with the food and turns the sugars and starches into rich, ripe nourishment for the tissues and blood, and its rapid effect is remarkable. Reported gains of from ten to twenty-five pounds in a single month are by no means infrequent. Yet its action is perfectly natural and absolutely harmless. Sargol is sold by D. E. Campbell and other good druggists everywhere, and every package contains a guarantee of weight increase or money back.

CAUTION.—While Sargol has produced remarkable results in the treatment of nervous indigestion and general stomach disorders, it should not, owing to its remarkable flesh producing effect, be used by those who are not willing to increase their weight ten pounds or more.

PUTS RESPONSIBILITY FOR WAR ON CARSON

Sir Edward Wants Peace and Ulster Unionists Leaves Situation in His Charge

Belfast, July 11.—"The provisional government," formed by the Ulster Unionists at its first meeting yesterday, gave Sir Edward Carson a free hand to take whatever action he may think necessary in calling the Ulster volunteers to arms. The men were declared ready for mobilization at a moment's notice.

Sir Edward, in a speech, said the time had come for the loyalists of Ulster to translate their words into action. He said something must be done to compel the British Government to make up its mind. Ulster, he concluded, was anxious for peace, but was not going to accept peace with surrender.

The official report of to-day's meeting announced that the executive had been instructed to act in accordance with the spirit of a declaration, asserting that the provisional government's well-grounded want of confidence in the bona fides of the imperial government compels it to press on with the completion of arrangements to resist by every means in its power every attempt to impose the authority of a Home Rule parliament on Ulster.

A resolution was also adopted, expressing willingness to consider any proposal on the Home Rule question which "recognizes the loyalty of the Ulstermen to the crown and constitution and preserves their inalienable rights under the imperial parliament."

Another resolution says: "Since our object only is to hold Ulster against a Home Rule parliament in trust for the king and the British constitution, we enjoin our people to see to it that all persons within our area, while it is under our jurisdiction, irrespective of class or creed, shall be subject to the same laws and have the same civil and religious freedom they now enjoy. We earnestly desire to impress on all Ulster loyalists that the same restraint which hitherto has characterized all our actions under grave provocation should be maintained in carrying out whatever forward steps our executive may consider it desirable to take in pursuit of our policy, that the world may hereby be shown the steadfastness of Ulstermen, when suffering for their God and their country."

NATURAL GAS PROVES ITS EXPLOSIVE FORCE

Man Injured and Others Thrown to Sidewalk in Raymond Experiment.

Raymond, Wash., July 11.—James Welsh, an employee of the Willapa Electric company, was seriously injured and a half-dozen others more or less shocked by an explosion of natural gas yesterday in the business section of the city where a demonstration of the natural gas was being made. A large tank was lowered over the escaping gas in the slough and from this tank the gas was conveyed through a hose to a gasoline tank on the sidewalk, the latter tank being equipped with a gas-burner on the upper side and a drainpipe with shut-off valve on the lower side. The tank was soon filled with gas and someone of the spectators suggested that a match be applied around the connections to ascertain if the gas was escaping. This was done and immediately an explosion occurred which could be heard for blocks. Both ends of the tank, rivetted with 75 three-eighths inch rivets, were blown off, one of them striking Welsh a glancing blow on the leg. Other spectators were knocked to the sidewalk, but fortunately escaped uninjured. The tank had been arranged for demonstrating purposes and the occurrence appears to have satisfied everyone as to the explosive power of the gas.

PRINTED ARTICLE ON CANAL DESTRUCTION

Sunset Editor and Others Held to Have Violated United States Laws.

San Francisco, Cal., July 11.—Warrants for the arrest of Charles K. Field, editor of the Sunset Magazine, and former president of the Bohemian club; Robert J. Fowler, an aviator; Riley A. Scott, a writer, and Ray S. Duhem, a photographer, were issued to-day at the request of John W. Preston, United States district attorney here. The charge against all four is the disclosure of military secrets, and the penalty is ten years in prison for such disclosures if made abroad, and one year if made in the United States.

In April Sunset was published an article entitled "Can the Panama canal be destroyed from the air?" Reproductions of photographs taken from an aeroplane and showing some of the fortifications of the canal zone and of the San Francisco Presidio accompanied the text. As soon as a copy of the number was called to the attention of the war department it requested Preston to investigate.

HARVEY HALL MAY BE AN ONTARIO SENATOR

Ottawa, July 11.—It is said that one of the four vacant senatorships in Ontario may go to Harvey Hall, the legal representative of the Order of Railway Conductors. Mr. Hall is said to have the support of the Hon. Mr. Crothers, minister of labor, who thinks that the labor interests should have a representative in the upper house.

HUMAN VOICE OUT AT SEA HEARD ON SHORE

Speech by Wireless and Ordinary Telephone Tested and Proved Successful

New York, July 11.—For the first time since it was discovered that messages could be transmitted through the ether without the medium of wires a human voice on board the Tyler, at sea, was in long communication with the Herald offices in Herald square.

Every word that Dr. D. G. McCaa, an inventor of Lancaster, Pa., uttered from the deck of the Old Dominion in the steamship was heard plainly in the editorial rooms of the Herald and through the medium of the telephone apparatus now in common use.

A telephone instrument in the Herald rooms was connected by wire with an instrument in the Herald radio station at the Battery. That instrument was connected directly with the aërial, or antenna, high above the station. Those aërials caught the ether waves that Dr. McCaa as it came through the ether from the Tyler as she steamed out to sea, and instantly the voice was heard by the person holding the receiver to his ear in Herald square.

The test proves, according to experts, that wireless communication is upon the threshold of its greatest forward step; that a person on shore, in his home or his office, may pick up the same telephone that he has been using for years to transmit land messages and be placed in communication quickly with any person on board a steamship at sea.

Furthermore it means that every vessel at sea may now be in communication at all times with other vessels and with the land by a simple apparatus that does not require a specially drilled operator, as does the wireless telegraph. The master of a freight vessel may stand on his bridge and speak in an ordinary voice into his wireless telephone instrument and be heard by his agents ashore or by other vessels.

Tests conducted demonstrated that the wireless telephone will more than double the capacity of all wireless telegraph stations in that the voice is received and transmitted without interfering with the dots and dashes of the telegraph system. Soon after the Tyler passed quarantine, Mr. McCaa got into direct telephone communication with the Herald editorial rooms.

"Hello, Herald radio station," came a voice in the station at the Battery. This was answered by wireless telegraph. Then came the voice again: "This is Dr. McCaa on board the Tyler. Let us talk to one of the editors, please."

A receiving instrument in the Battery station was connected directly with the New York Telephone Company's system and a connection with the Herald's editorial rooms was obtained.

"Hello, hello, Herald," came the voice as plainly as though the speaker were only a few feet away. "This is Dr. McCaa. I am on board the Tyler, bound out in the direction of Sandy Hook."

To this the Herald replied by wireless telegraph, the radio station not being equipped with Dr. McCaa's wireless telephone transmitter:

"Compliments. We hear you perfectly. How is the weather in the Lower Bay?"

Hardly was all of this wireless telegraph message off when the voice came back, as clear as at first:

"We are having a severe thunder storm now, but everything is all right on board the Tyler. The captain and officers of the vessel join me in extending congratulations to the Herald in the first message of its kind ever transmitted."

"And the Herald wishes to congratulate Dr. McCaa upon his remarkable success and the officers of the Tyler for their co-operation," was the reply of the Herald by wireless telegraph. "I want to thank you for the interest you have shown in my work," came the cheerful voice of Dr. McCaa. "We will try to keep in communication with your station throughout the night. Good luck."

Thus the messages went back and forth most of the night, or at least until press time, and long after the Tyler had turned the corner of Sandy Hook and was far on her way to Norfolk.

WOMEN DISAPPEAR AT PORTLAND MYSTERIOUSLY

Portland, Ore., July 11.—Victor E. Innes, a former deputy United States prosecutor of Nevada, who is named in connection with the mysterious disappearance of Mrs. Elsie Neilsen Dennis and her sister, Beatrice Neilsen, today repeated his denials that he knew of the whereabouts of the women. In 1911 and 1912 he said he had acted as attorney for Mrs. Dennis in her divorce suit at Reno. Mr. Innes said since the divorce details were settled he had heard nothing from Mrs. Dennis, the last being a year or more ago. He said he never knew any of the other members of the family. He was preparing today to remove his family to Salt Lake City to take up a permanent residence there.

That Mrs. Dennis had confided to him in 1909 that she had several times attempted suicide so she could leave $20,000 or $30,000 life insurance money to her son, was asserted by Mr. Innes. Three attempts to kill herself, she had told Mr. Innes, failed.

EXPERT WITNESSES AT HILLCREST ARE HEARD

Fire Boss Reported Gas in Seven Rooms Morning Explosion in Mine Occurred

Hillcrest, Alta., July 11.—With the examination of three more expert witnesses and the further examination of Fire Boss Adlain, the evidence in the Hillcrest mine enquiry, which has lasted since July 2, was concluded yesterday afternoon. There only remains the address of the counsel, which will be heard on Saturday, after which the enquiry will close, and Judge Carpenter will be in a position to go over the evidence and compile his report.

The evidence of the expert witnesses, R. G. Drinnan, of Edmonton; T. G. Hudson, of the Dominion department of mines, Ottawa, and J. T. Sterling, chief inspector of mines for Alberta, was much more conservative than that given by the former experts, Francis Aspinall and Norman Fraser. Mr. Drinnan did not criticize the system of ventilation in the mine at all, nor consider that the mine was a dusty mine, or contained an undue amount of gas. He thought the gas might have been exploded owing to some derangement in some part of the ventilation.

Mr. Hudson also thought it was a gas explosion, but would not give any opinion as to the cause of ignition. He would not call the mine unduly gassy or dusty. From the evidence of his examination, Mr. Sterling thought that some extraordinary and unforeseen combination of circumstances had been responsible for the explosion, and could not suggest how the gas had been ignited. Samples of the dust had been sent away to be tested for explosiveness, said Mr. Sterling, and it was agreed that the commission would take the result into consideration in making its report.

The recalling of Fire Boss William Adlain brought out some new facts about the amount of gas in the mine on the morning of the explosion. Adlain was on duty up till 6.30 on that morning, and as recorded in his former evidence, reported gas in seven rooms when he went off duty. It now develops that this gas was sufficient to put out his lamp as soon as it was placed in the room, indicating that there was considerable gas. Adlain said he had left instructions for the next boss to send in men to brattice these rooms off, but he did not know whether this was done or not.

His honor called Mr. Hudson, who had come from Ottawa to give the commission the benefit of his advice as an expert. Mr. Hudson said he had been through the mine, and was of the opinion that the explosion had been caused by the ignition of gas, but he could not say at what point.

The last witness was Mr. Sterling, who said he could not say anything except that ignition of gas, how, he could not say, had caused the explosion. If dust was shown to be explosive, he would conclude it had spread the explosion. Some unforeseen combination of circumstances, in his opinion, had caused the explosion.

Mr. Sterling also admitted that he had been surprised to hear from Adlain's evidence how much gas there was in the mine. If the brattice was up and the ventilation current passing along the face, he could not imagine how the gas would not be carried out.

TRADE IS OPTIMISTIC ON REPORTS OF CROPS

United States Reports Show Revival is Anticipated in Most Businesses.

New York, July 11.—Bradstreet's says: Mid-summer dullness is present in many, but not all, lines; crop reports continue generally good to excellent. The wool business, though broken by a holiday, seems to have been good in the west and slow to dull in the south and east.

Export sales of new crop wheat have been large, but of late sellers have shown an indisposition to bind themselves to early shipment. This is thought to be based partly on doubts as to ability to deliver, although the railroads have started their car shops on full time to make ready for the winter wheat movement.

Failures for the week ending July 9 were 247 against 210 in the same week of 1913. Wheat exports were 5,684,000 bushels, against 4,176,622 bushels last year. Bank clearings were $2,954,414,000, an increase of 16.3 per cent.

Dun's Review says: Irregularity characterizes the business situation. Favorable reports predominate and general conditions afford encouragement, although the volume of new business is of moderate proportions. Indications of improvement are noted in iron and steel, where a turn for the better is at last apparent. Manufacturers of the textiles are endeavoring to meet the slackened demand by curtailing the output and stocks of goods are stated to be in a well-liquidated position. Most interests in the trade are anticipating a more active period later on as a consequence of abundant crops. Shoe manufacturers are more optimistic.

Of the 317 commodity quotations compiled by Dun's Review there were 2 advances and seventeen declines this week, this being the first occasion in some time that the general trend of the leading farm products has been upward.

Commercial failures this week reported by R. G. Dun & Company are 293 against 238 during the same period last year.

It is the duty of the landlord to insure the house he lives in, but of you—the tenant—to insure the furniture, etc., contained in it.

CHINA MUST SIGN OR MEET WITH DISASTER

Sir Edward Grey Refers in House of Commons to Darzeeling Agreement.

London, Eng., July 11.—Warning that trouble may result from China's refusal to sign the convention in regard to what territory shall compose outer and inner Tibet, was issued to China yesterday by Sir Edward Grey, the British foreign secretary. Sir Edward, speaking in the House of Commons, said: "If China does not sign, but resorts to an aggressive policy the consequences must be disastrous for China. There certainly will be grave trouble on the Indian frontier which will require Great Britain to take up the matter seriously with the government of China."

The Darzeeling conference at which representatives of Great Britain, Tibet and China have been discussing the subject of Tibetan autonomy, has been in session since last fall and a convention was recently drafted and presented for signature to the three governments.

REDUCED CABLE RATES TO WEST INDIES PLANNED

Ottawa, June 11.—Under the West Indian trade agreement a material reduction in cable rates was provided for, as tending to increase trade and facilitate communication between Canada and the islands. Negotiations are progressing between the Canadian and imperial governments with reference to the subject and some time ago it was announced in England that the reduction agreed to by the companies varied from 25 to 50 per cent.

The agreement, however, had never been finally closed, owing presumably to the British government being occupied with other things. It is hoped that the new rates will go into effect in a very brief time.

SIGNIFICANCE OF RESULT IN MANITOBA.

The standing of the two political parties in Manitoba's new legislature is doubtful, according to the latest returns, but the actual result is not doubtful at all. It is certain. The Roblin machine, accounted the most perfect of its kind in the Dominion with the possible exception of that of British Columbia, is smashed and the pieces shortly must fly apart. If Sir Rodmond has a majority, it is very small and uncertain. The Liberals, strengthened in morale and with public opinion palpably supporting them, will be encouraged in combating the various influences and interests which have been at the command of a discredited government for fourteen years, and it is evident therefore that the end of the Roblin-Rogers combination is not far off.

Hon. "Bob," recognizing the fact that a crisis was impending not only in Manitoba but in a much wider area, took an active and characteristic part in the campaign. He was not conspicuous, but it was his hand that directed the operations of the machine. Hon. Dr. Roche also was there, distributing favors, promises and more substantial things as Minister of the Interior in the Dominion government. Notwithstanding the combined influence of two governments thus exercised by agents admittedly the most unscrupulous, corrupt and resourceful in political life to-day, a majority which in the last legislature was more than two to one practically has been reduced to the point of effacement, and the probabilities are that the courts will do the rest, as there is no doubt that the government in its desperation resorted to practices that will not bear judicial scrutiny.

The blow will prove a severe one to the Borden government. It counted upon Manitoba as one prairie province which would stand solidly behind it in denying the farmers access to their natural and most profitable markets, to support it in its policy of catering to the interests of eastern protectionists. But Manitoba has shown that the vote taken in the legislature unanimously favoring reciprocity was a real expression of fixed conviction. Local questions, doubtless also played their part in producing the result, the record of the Roblin government being what it is, but the general condition to which the country has been reduced since the advent of the Borden government was not the least important factor in the conflict. All three of the prairie provinces practically are in line now, and their membership in the next Dominion house will be largely increased. A scandal has developed which will drive the Conservative premier of New Brunswick out of public life. The condition of affairs in British Columbia is patent to all.

On the whole, taking one consideration with another, Conservatism may be said to be on the rocks in Canada, and instead of a federal general election we may look for a rush for public positions on the part of the faithful as a refuge from the impending storm.

JOHNSON STREET BRIDGE.

Don't be discouraged, neither let your heart be afraid. The Johnson street bridge project is making progress, like the great drydock at Esquimalt. Both will be built in course of time if we have patience. The fact that there must be Dominion and provincial general elections in due time is a guarantee that work upon the two undertakings will be commenced at least within two years. An agreement respecting the bridge has been prepared already, according to City Solicitor Robertson, and has been submitted for the approval of the companies interested jointly with the city but not to the financial extent in which the municipality is involved. The said companies may object to some of the provisions of this agreement, and there may be further negotiations, but we are convinced that the scheme is making progress. It is only eighteen months since Sir Richard promised us the bridge as a Christmas present, told us, in fact, that we might look upon it as already in our stockings. Some of us may consider a year and a half a long time considering the expectation of life of the government, but Sir Richard's "undertakings," as our experience with him and the C. N. R. prove, hardly ever should be accepted literally. All things considered, it is not surprising that the premier is considering seriously whether it would not be an act of discretion to transfer his many obligations to other shoulders.

THE TWELFTH OF JULY.

To-morrow will be the anniversary of the Battle of Aughrim, July 12, 1691, in which the forces of William III., under General Ginkel, gained a decisive victory over the army of James II., commanded by the French General St. Ruth, who fell in the fight, and thus put a quietus on the efforts to restore the Stuarts to the throne of Great Britain. The Battle of the Boyne was fought on July 1 in the preceding year, so, strictly speaking, it is not this memorable conflict which is being honored so much as the triumphant climax of the campaign which saw the hopes of James Stuart forever blasted.

But this campaign was merely a scene in the great drama which had held the stage of Europe for years, the chief actors in which were Louis XIV., the Prince of Orange and a glittering array of military geniuses. For a long time the Grand Monarque of France had been the dominant prince of Christendom. Haughty, arrogant and ruthless, he had waged war upon the surrounding nations and through the brilliant achievements of his great marshals, Conde, Turenne and Luxembourg, had gained almost the summit of his inordinate ambition—overlordship of continental Europe. His invasion of Dutch territory, however, gave birth to that deadly feud between him and the Prince of Orange which finally ended in his own disfigurement and changed the course of European politics.

When William of Orange, in response to an invitation from a large section of the British people, went to England with Mary, his wife, he was less concerned with the quarrel between James II. and his subjects than with the furtherance of his own vendetta against the King of France. He already had attempted to induce Britain to join the coalition he had organized to circumvent the designs of the tyrant of Versailles, but James had refused to lend a hand. The overtures which reached William from across the channel, therefore, fell most agreeably on his ears, but, with characteristic foresight, he stipulated that he should be joint sovereign and not merely the prince consort of Queen Mary. Once established upon the throne, he devoted all his energies to the great enterprise which was never out of his mind, the humiliation of the French sovereign and the limitation of his power.

Parliament generously aided his plans. Without complaint it voted enormous sums, upon which, by the way, the British people paid interest for many years. Nor did it oppose the lavish manner in which William rewarded with British estates and incomes from the public purse the friends of his youth who accompanied him from Holland, until those benefactions began to strain the limit of reason. So long as William was the effective champion of their civil and religious liberties his new subjects were not disposed to cavil, even though they knew their interests were subordinate in his eyes to the exigencies of the foreign policy which aimed at the maintenance of the integrity of his beloved Holland. The British people never entertained for their sovereign the deep affection in which they held some of his predecessors, but they admired his heroic, indomitable character and the Spartan resolution with which, in the face of constant physical suffering, he persevered in his long-drawn struggle on the continent. On his side it cannot be said that he had any personal attachment for his British subjects. To them he always was cold and unbending. It was only to his own countrymen, with whom he surrounded himself, that he revealed the sentimental side of his nature. He concerned himself only mechanically in domestic legislation. His head was in England, but his heart remained in Holland.

There seems to be a popular misconception regarding the attitude of Rome towards the policy of William III. In his designs to check the threatening power of Louis XIV. he had the support of the Vatican, which resented the Grand Monarque's haughty, arrogant attitude towards it and foresaw that unless a rein was imposed upon his restless ambition the Pontiff would be reduced to little more than a vassal of the French king. It was with this apprehension in his mind, therefore, that Pope Innocent XI. joined William's coalition of the German States, Holland, Sweden and Spain, in 1688. If the hierarchy in Rome was predisposed at all in regard to the fortunes of the campaign in Ireland, it was in the direction of the Protestant king rather than towards James II. Much as it may have desired the reestablishment of the Roman Catholic faith in Britain, it preferred to see William securely installed on the throne of the island kingdom if from this base he could check the progress of the king of France. Better the head of European Protestantism on the throne of Britain than the tool of Louis XIV. seems to have been the view entertained by the authorities of the Church of Rome.

DRAWING CLOSER.

The capture of Guadalajara by the constitutionalists under General Obregon ranks with Villa's victories at Terroon and Zacatecas among the most decisive and important successes of the revolution. It places Obregon's army nearer to the capital than those of either Villa or Gonzales. The latter is investing San Luis Potosi, and when this falls the three divisions will unite in a grand operation against Mexico City.

The armies of Obregon at Guadalajara on the west and Gonzales, now besieging San Luis Potosi on the east, thus will evolve soon into the right and left wings of a homogeneous force, of which Villa's division at Zacatecas, some distance back but midway between the two, will be the centre. These points are on the railway system, so it will not be long before the three generals will be able to concentrate for their final dash on the capital. Before that takes place, however, Huerta and his followers will have sought safety in flight.

With all the cards in their hands, it is quite easy to understand why the constitutionalists decline to consider mediation or peace terms with Huerta's representatives. They are not likely to hold their hands now that they are almost within sight of their goal. They will do what any other power would do in like circumstances—take the capital, establish themselves in position, and then discuss ways and means with Uncle Sam. The elimination of Huerta will clear the sky for Washington, but the recent differences between Villa and Carranza are not happy auguries for the future.

The capture of Guadalajara reminds us that there are other generals than Villa in the constitutionalist army. In fact, General Obregon is in no sense inferior to the ex-guerrilla chief as a soldier, and possesses, besides, statesmanlike qualities the other man lacks. General Gonzales, the victor of Monterrey and Tampico, is also a man of promise, while both have had the benefit of a good education. Villa's prominence is due to a picturesque personality, the spectacular character of his operations, his bandit ruthlessness and his ability to advertise himself, in which he is a natural born artist. But he is not the whole show by any means.

AN ISHMAELITE (?)

What a terribly lonely man Joe Martin must be. He cannot find congenial political company with which to associate himself. He has tried the Manitoba house, the Dominion house, the British Columbia house and the Imperial House of Commons, and still his heart yearns for associations tuned up to his high political ideals. He is on his way home from Great Britain now a gloomy, disappointed man—so terribly cast down that he hardly knows whether to retire into private life, leaving the political divisions of the earth with which he has been associated so long, and for which he has striven so mightily, to their inevitable fate, or whether to take up the burden of altruism anew and make one last effort for our political regeneration. It is said to think that a man who means so well and is so energetic in his well-meant should have been compelled to walk in solitude so long and so far. Reminds us of the lament over Jerusalem. Treading the winepress alone is a forlorn occupation. Now if Joe had timed better his departure from the scene of his last disappointment he might have burst like a meteor or a bomb into the late Manitoba campaign. There he would, temporarily at least, have found conditions just suited to his temperament and his ambitions. He would have discovered Hon. Bob there fighting for his life in his own peculiar way, not letting his deft manipulating hand be seen and taking no open part in the fray. Too bad, really, that Joe never stays long enough in one particular arena to put the finishing touches on his work. Viewing from afar the efforts of the Asquith government in Great Britain, it would appear that that administration has accomplished wonderful things for the democracy, but it has not measured up to the standards of the member for St. Pancras East, and he has shaken the dust of London from his shoes and is coming to British Columbia to settle down (if he can) and give us the benefits of his wide and extraordinary experience. We are pleased with Mr. Martin's decision. It conveys the best possible tribute to the attractions of the most beautiful ful part of all the British dominions, and we shall watch the future course of our old belligerent friend with a great deal of interest.

TOGETHER IN ADVERSITY.

Colonel Theodore Roosevelt is at outs with the Republican party. William Randolph Hearst, prince of the Yellows, who was in the city yesterday for an hour or two, is an exile from the Democratic party. Result: Hearst has become an admirer of Roosevelt and we would not be surprised if the colonel thought that Hearst was not such a bad fellow after all. Thus doth adversity in politics establish sweet communion between its victims.

What a difference a few years make! Seven or eight years ago William Randolph Hearst was a candidate for governor of New York in the Democratic interest against Charles Hughes, now of the United States Supreme Court. In that campaign the most dramatic incident was the participation of Elihu Root, Secretary of State in the federal cabinet, who in a remarkable speech at Utica announced that President Roosevelt desired the people of New York state to reject Hearst because it was the vicious attacks of the yellow journals owned by him which inspired an anarchist to assassinate President McKinley. That speech sounded Hearst's political deathknell. From the moment of its deliverance he never had a ghost of a chance. Now, seven years later, the colonel and the "unspeakable Hearst" have suddenly discovered that there is much in common between them and we hear talk of a fusion of Progressive Democrats—represented, of course, by Hearst—and Progressive Republicans, headed by the colonel, to achieve the ruin of the Wilson administration.

The projected tour of Sir Robert Borden through the west will not be decided upon until Hon. Bob Rogers and Hon. Dr. Roche return from Manitoba, where they had been assisting Sir Rodmond Roblin in his desperate fight to retain power. Now we wonder what kind of a report the Minister of Public Works and the Minister of the Interior will make to their chief, whether they will report the west as a result of their experience a good place for the premier to keep away from or whether they will recommend a visit as a possible antidote to the political slump indicated by the narrow escape of the Roblin government. Somehow we cannot but think that Sir Robert will be advised to postpone his tour until a more convenient season.

Premier Sir Rodmond Roblin said the Liberals were not sure of a single seat in Manitoba. The Liberals are sure of so many seats, captured under adverse conditions, that Sir Rodmond is not sure of a working majority in the new legislature.

ATHLETICS IN THE NATION.

A people that crowd to the ringside and the bleachers are not necessarily an athletic people. A nation which only produces a few highly skilled champions is not necessarily an athletic nation, and it is the athletic nation not the nation producing a few great athletes which must become dominant by reason of the energies of its people. Enthusiasm about persistent "fan" or "router" may be an athletic skeleton or a physical sluggard, who never walks the length of a city block in the course of a week.

HOW PROTECTION WORKS.

Ottawa Citizen, Tory.
At the Canadian manufacturers' convention, Hon. George E. Foster said: "There is the protection of the tariff, but there is a better protection, that of skill and economy in manufacture, and the making of honest and reputable goods." By having to compete with well made British goods, efficiency and economy might soon be promoted in Canada. But the protective tariff is framed to keep out just such competition. Why should manufacturers trouble about the "better protection" when they have the "protection of the tariff"?

THE "INDEPENDENTS."

Kingston Whig.
Did you notice that all the alleged independent papers—the papers that go off at a tangent and say brave things when nothing is at stake—manage to get behind the government and expose and defend it when an election is on?

GRATIFYING BALANCE

Arts and Crafts Club Receives $912.10 in Behalf of Handicrafts School Funds as Result of Festival of Art

As a result of the Festival of Art held at the Royal Victoria theatre on June 5 and 6 last, the very satisfactory sum of $912.10 has been handed by the committee of the festival to Dr. Hasell, president of the Arts and Crafts club, as a contribution to the funds of the School of Handicrafts and Design.

This amount, together with a financial statement of the receipts and expenditure in connection with the affair, was forwarded last Wednesday, and in a letter accompanying the cheque the treasurer, J. J. Shalcross, expressed the committee's pleasure in being enabled to make so satisfactory a remittance, which was due to the generosity of those who provided their own costumes for the tableaux, to those who gave willing services in many ways, and to the appreciation shown by the public. Attention was also called to the fact that practically all the disbursements for an amateur performance such as the festival were made in Victoria, so that the beneficial results should not be measured only by the net balance. The statement was as follows:

Receipts.
Sale of tickets in advance	$ 881.50
Seats sold at box office	1,140.50
Sale of programmes, postcards and chocolates	158.20

Empress Wreck Buoyed.—The department of marine and fisheries has notified mariners on the Atlantic coast of the placing of a steel cylindrical gas buoy, painted green and with the word "wreck" on it, three hundred feet northeast of where the wreck of the Empress of Ireland lies.

Centennial Epworth League.—The monthly consecration meeting of the Centennial Epworth league was held in the parlor of the church on Monday evening, Miss Heffron, chairman of the devotional committee, presiding. Miss L. Aubin gave an interesting talk on the topic, "What Does the Fatherhood of God Mean to Me Here and Now?" At the close of the address the pastor received two new members into the league. Next week the meeting will be in charge of the devotional committee and will be addressed by Miss Reid, ex-president of the "Victoria Christian Endeavor Union, who will speak on the subject, "The Gospel of the Pioneer Social Force." A very interesting meeting is anticipated. All who wish to attend will be welcomed.

New Land Maps.—What are called by the department of lands pre-emptors' maps are being issued from the surveys branch. Three more have been added to those already in existence, covering the Nechaco, Chilcote and North Thompson districts. These form part of a series of ten which, the department claims, are to prove of great assistance to intending pre-emptors. The surveyed lands are indicated by the section lines, the lands taken up are shown white and the lands available for pre-emption are colored pink. To one not familiar with the province it would appear as if the greater portion of the land was open to the settler, as the pink is overwhelmingly in evidence. There is nothing to indicate that the bulk of this is mountainside or valleys as yet inaccessible to the settler through lack of transportation. The intending pre-emptor who desires to take up unsurveyed land is notified that it is necessary for him to stake it and describe it according to metes and bounds in his application. It is significant in all these maps that along the lines of railway and rivers every acre that is of any value to a farmer is already taken up, mainly by the speculator.

Are You Going on a Vacation? Have you considered the G. T. P. Steamship Cruise of six days to Prince Rupert, Granby Bay, Stewart—the Alaska Coast. Special fare for July only of $38.00. All expenses included.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO TO-DAY

Victoria Times, July 11, 1889.

Arrangements have been made for a grand re-union of Foresters in this city on August 3. The re-union will take place on the Caledonian society's grounds, and an extensive programme, including archery, has been arranged. There will be a dance in the evening.

An association of some 80 or 90 of the leading citizens has been formed for the purpose of taking over the driving park, D. E. Campbell taking the lease from J. R. Tait on behalf of the club.

Arrangements have been made for a lecture by Dr. Talmage, the great Brooklyn divine, in the city on July 19. The subject will be a humorous one, "Big Blunders."

Pamphlet on Lands.—The department of lands has issued a new pamphlet on the lands in the Cariboo land recording division, which can be obtained from the bureau of information. The pamphlet is illustrated profusely with views of the Cariboo district and some of its farms and produce.

To Preach Last Sermons.—Rev. G. O. Fries, D. D., of Kamloops, who has been supplying the pulpit of the Fairfield Methodist church for some weeks, will occupy the pulpit tomorrow morning and evening for the last time and will also address the Excelsior Bible class in the afternoon. Mr. Fries goes to Vancouver next week to supply at the Mountain View Methodist church and Rev. Mr. Davidson, pastor of that church comes to Fairfield for two weeks.

Comes to Victoria.—Dr. S. Z. Bartley, who formerly practiced in Pittsburg, Dallas, Texas, and Salem, Ore., has come to Victoria to practice mechanic therapeutics. Young in years, but a deep student, Dr. Bartley had an extensive practice in Dallas. In medicine he had a lucrative patronage in Pittsburg. Attracted by the climate of Victoria and the inviting field he described for his practice, he has come to the capital to reside. During his career, Dr. Bartley has ardently pursued his studies, his one aim being to achieve the greatest possible degree of knowledge.

Goat Breeders' Association.—It is proposed to form a society called the British Columbia Goat Breeders' association. The objects of the society are: 1, to encourage the breeding of common goats and Angoras by introducing some good stock breeds from foreign countries; 2, to circulate general information on the subject of goat breeding and to keep a list of pedigree stock and those who raise goats; 3, to encourage the production of the goat, Angora hair, dairy products, etc., as staple articles of commerce. Those willing to co-operate will kindly communicate with W. G. H. Ellison, Port Renfrew, B. C.

Garden Party Held.—The ladies of the Church of Our Lord yesterday held a very successful garden party in the grounds kindly lent for the occasion by Mrs. G. A. McTavish, Heywood avenue. Miss Rita McTavish in her mother's absence acting as hostess. Many pretty stalls were arranged, home-made candy being in charge of Miss Edith Helmcken and Denise Harris; home-cooked in charge of Mrs. Harvey and Miss Newbury; and ice cream in charge of Miss Helmcken. Afternoon tea was served by Mrs. Spencer and Mrs. Huckle, and Mesdames Gladstone and Langley presided at a very well-stocked still of fancy work. Clock-golf, under Miss Gladstone's supervision, proved a very profitable pastime, and musical numbers were furnished by a gramophone.

Indians of the North.—William J. McAllan, Port Fraser, Indian agent at the Stuart Lake agency, is in the city, having come down to interview the members of the royal commission on Indian affairs. Mr. McAllan has oversight of the Indians in a territory covering some 60,000 square miles, over which there are scattered about 1,400 Indians. The commissioners are to visit this district during the trip on which they start in a day or two, and on which they will be absent from the city for two or three months. Mr. McAllan saw them yesterday and endeavored to convince them that it would take two seasons to visit all the reserves in his agency alone, and in the tour of the commission it is necessary that they visit each reserve.

The commissioners are to visit this district during the trip on which they start in a day or two, and on which they will be absent from the city for two or three months. Mr. McAllan saw them yesterday and endeavored to convince them that it would take two seasons to visit all the reserves in his agency alone, and in the tour of the commission it is necessary that they visit each reserve.

Ask About Reserve.—A deputation from the real estate exchange waited on Sir Richard McBride yesterday, asking information regarding the industrial sites proposed on the Songhees reserve. Sir Richard told the members that the government had been ready to complete the negotiations for months, but had been waiting for the Canadian Pacific railway to agree to the plans outlined in December, 1912. The premier advised them to consult with the Canadian Pacific officials before reporting back to the real estate exchange.

Real Estate Excursion.—An excursion will be held under the auspices of the Real Estate Exchange on Saturday next to Brentwood. The party will leave the city on the half-past twelve car, and during the afternoon sports will be engaged in and an inspection of the power plant and the cement works arranged. Luncheon, afternoon tea and dinner will be served at the hotel, and in the evening there will be an impromptu dance. Information regarding this outing can be had from the secretary of the exchange, Charles J. Wright.

A Japanese inventor has provided an iron kettle which bursts into song the moment the kettle begins to boil. The sounds are produced by steam bubbles striking against musical metallic bars just above the water.

VISITED VICTORIA

William Randolph Hearst, Owner of a Chain of Newspapers, Passed Through City Yesterday.

The owner of twenty-one of the largest newspapers and periodicals in the United States passed through Victoria yesterday on his way from Vancouver to Seattle.

William Randolph Hearst, politician and wholesale publisher, needs no introduction to the people of Victoria. His name is known practically everywhere English is spoken, as the result of his control of so many daily organs.

Mr. Hearst arrived with his wife and a party of friends. He has been spending two quiet weeks in the mountains, resting for a short space of time from the manifold cares of running a chain of newspapers and taking a prominent part in politics and public affairs. Mrs. Glynn, wife of the governor of New York, accompanied the party, which also includes Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Buchanan, Miss Goodrich and H. W. Phillips, secretary to Mr. Hearst.

While here, Mr. Hearst stated that his visit was solely one of pleasure, and he is now on his way to spend a few weeks at his old home in California.

EXPRESS DISAPPROVAL

Board of Trade Annoyed at Manner in Which Commission on Cost of Living Visited Victoria.

Great indignation against what the vice-president termed the "cavalier treatment" given to Victoria by the Royal Commission on the Cost of Living, was expressed at the quarterly meeting of the board of trade yesterday. The board is naturally incensed since the commission arrived here without announcing its coming, and without giving the body an opportunity to make any representations. Consequently, announced the vice-president, a letter had been sent to Sir Robert Borden, apprising him of the treatment received from the commission, to which communication the prime minister of Canada had replied by advising a reference to the commission.

The only members of the board to see the commission at all were Messrs. Boggs and Munn, who attended in their private capacity.

IMPROVE STORE.

Angus Campbell & Co. Let Contract For Fine New Fixtures to Local Firm.

Dickson & Howes, of Superior street, cabinet-makers and fixture-builders, have been successful in securing a contract, running into several thousand dollars, from Angus Campbell & Co., Ltd., the well known Government street firm, which is installing a completely new system of stock and fitting rooms in its mantle department. Though six Seattle firms and one Portland firm, all up-to-date fixture concerns, were bidding, Dickson & Howes won the competition. The plans and specification were drawn by Mr. Pearce, of Seattle, a fixture expert.

The fixtures will be built of mahogany, with heavy plate glass and bevelled mirrors. The French room, exclusively used by Angus Campbell & Co. for showing afternoon and evening gowns, will be elegantly appointed, and very much up-to-the-minute in style of decoration and lighting. It is gratifying to find that Angus Campbell & Co., notwithstanding the reputed dull times, have sufficient confidence to enter into this large expenditure, which is regarded as amply warranted by the rapid expansion of the business.

Clerk on Leave.—The city council yesterday extended the leave of absence of City Clerk Dowler from two weeks to one month, a medical certificate being received from the city health officer. Assistant Clerk Bradley was appointed acting clerk.

SLOOP'S NEW CREW

MAY GO ON RAINBOW

Men Coming Out From England for Algeria Likely to Go North on Cruiser

Owing to the fact that the Canadian cruiser Rainbow has not a sufficient number of men standing by her to take her to sea, it is understood that the officers and men now en route from the old country to Esquimalt to re-commission the British sloop-of-war "Algerine" will be ordered on board the Dominion cruiser and that an additional number from H.M.C.S. "Niobe" will make up the full complement. The Rainbow will not head for Behring sea for a couple of weeks yet.

As a result of the Shearwater and Algerine being in Mexican waters to protect British subjects and interests in the republic, the British government has no ship available on the Pacific for use in the Behring sea patrol, which it must maintain for a certain period in the year in compliance with the international agreement with other countries. The Shearwater and Algerine usually take turns each year in cruising the northern waters, and it was the latter's turn to make the trip this season. The Canadian government offered to send the Rainbow this year and the British admiralty accepted it.

Will Overhaul First.

Before the Canadian cruiser departs she will be floated into the drydock at Esquimalt to have her hull cleaned and painted and also to have a little minor repair work done to her bottom plates. She will be thoroughly renovated in the interior and some of the guns which were taken off her will be set back in position.

It is expected that Commander Hose will take the Rainbow to sea. She has about 35 men standing by her at the present time and when fully manned for sea she carries about 180. This will be the first time the cruiser has steamed out of Esquimalt harbor since she was away on a cruise after United States poachers on the west coast of Vancouver Island.

MAQUINNA GOES TO RIVER.

This morning the C.P.R. steamer Princess Maquinna, Capt. McLeod, left port for Powell River and way ports, relieving the Princess Royal for one trip. The Maquinna came in from Clayoquot early to-day with a good list of passengers.

FOUR MORE LINES TO

COME TO THIS COAST

Frank Waterhouse, Home From Old Country, Speaks of Developments

Seattle, July 11.—"While I am not at liberty to furnish a specific statement just now, I expect to be able to announce before long the establishment of three, and possibly four, new steamship lines operating to and from the Pacific coast ports, after the Panama canal is opened. In addition, the Royal Mail Steam Packet company's North Pacific service will be augmented in the next six months by five more big steamships of the Cardiganshire and Carnarvonshire type."

The foregoing statement was made by Frank Waterhouse, president of Frank Waterhouse & Co., in an interview yesterday, in which he also declared that the shipping interests of Europe believe that an era of the greatest prosperity is about to dawn on the Pacific coast. He returned Thursday night from London, England, after a three months' absence abroad. He visited the principal ports of Great Britain, Germany, France, Holland and Belgium in the interest of the upbuilding of the Pacific coast's commerce.

"The European ship owners," he said, "are manifesting the keenest interest regarding future business with the Pacific Coast. There appears to be a very strong opinion among them that after this fall's enormous crop is harvested no other part of the world should enjoy greater prosperity than the coast."

"On account of the delays which attended the opening of the Suez canal, there is a good deal of skepticism among shipowners in Europe as to the date on which the Panama canal will really be available for regular use by vessels of all drafts. In consequence of this feeling of uncertainty, final and definite plans regarding the building of new steamships and the operation of lines through the canal have been delayed."

Sir Thomas Lipton tells this story of a lady and her husband who were crossing the Atlantic for the first time. Their steamer encountered terribly rough weather and they were both very unwell. As they lay in their berths, watching the luggage rolling about on the floor of the cabin and listening to the bangs and bumps and the shouted orders on deck, they thought their last hour had come. Suddenly, from his wife's corner, came a feeble voice just audible above the noise. "John," she said, "John, do you think the people at home know where our life insurance policies are?"

PURSER'S RETIREMENT

John W. Moore, C. P. R.'s Senior Purser, Presented With Purse of Gold

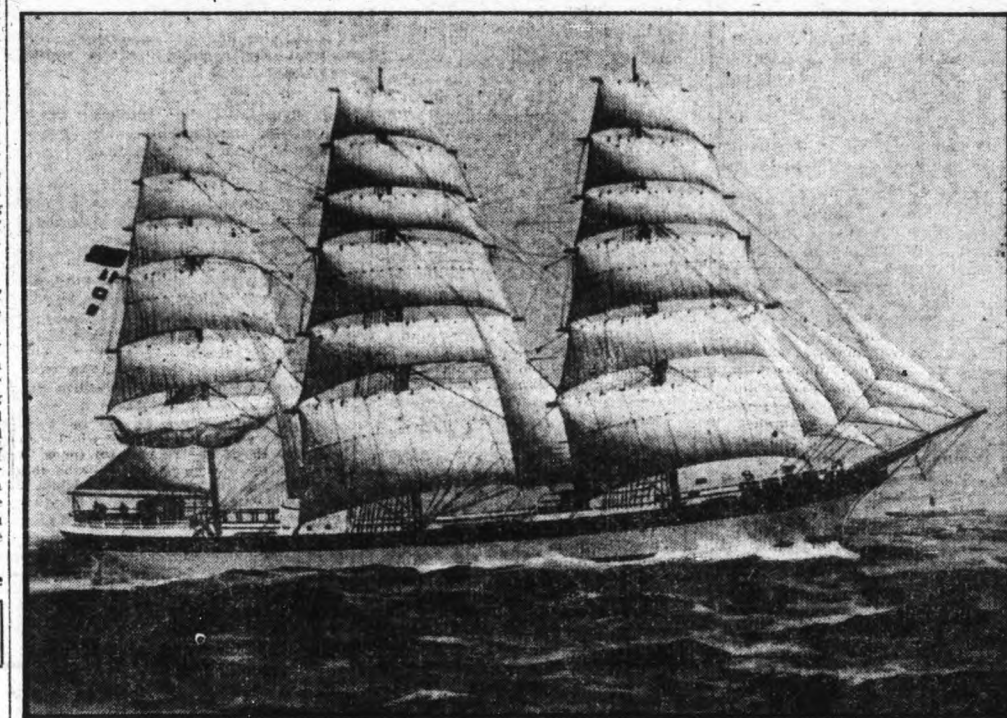

After rounding out 30 years' service with the Canadian Pacific Navigation company and the Canadian Pacific railway, John W. Moore, senior purser of the B. C. Coast service, one of the best known seafaring men on the Pacific coast, has retired. In June "Johnnie" Moore, as he is familiarly known, left the steamer Princess Charlotte and yesterday afternoon he was presented with a purse of gold and an illuminated address by the officers of the company, amongst whom he was a great favorite. All the skippers, officers and men liked to have "Johnnie" sailing with them.

Although Mr. Moore is now approaching his sixty-seventh year, he is still in the best of health and spirit and has always got a cheery word to say to captain, officers, deckhand and firemen. Mr. Moore has passed the age limit for active service in the C. P. R. and is to receive a pension.

The Address.

The illuminated address which was

FINE SQUARE-RIGGER LOADING LUMBER AT CHEMAINUS

RUSSIAN SHIP IMBERHORNE.

The big windjammer, which remained in the Royal Roads for nearly a week, is now berthed at the East Coast mills and is loading a cargo of about 1,500,000 feet of lumber. She is the first sailer to load off-shore at Chemainus for some time. The Imberhorne will take her cargo to Cape Town, South Africa. It is understood that the mills will ship much lumber in the future, following extensions to the plant. The United States barquentine Kohala is now on her way from Peru to Chemainus to load a lumber cargo.

presented to Mr. Moore read as follows:

"We, the officers of the B. C. coast service, have heard with regret of your retirement from the service.

"We have enjoyed your friendship for many years in good weather and in bad and we trust now that you are about to take up your abode with the landlubbers that you will sometimes think of your old shipmates, as you may be assured they often will of you.

"That you will long live to enjoy your well-earned pension and will always have a fair tide and clear weather is the sincere wish of your shipmates.

"We ask you to accept this purse of gold as a token of our appreciation, and of the respect and esteem in which you are held by us."

The address was signed by all the steamers of the B. C. coast service. Mr. Moore has sailed with every C. P. R. skipper and has been purser on nearly all the boats flying the checkered ensign. "Johnnie" was born in New Orleans in 1847. He came to the coast in the early days and was purser at various times on the steamers Alexander, Gertrude and Grappler, which were operated out of Victoria by his father, Capt. William Moore, a very well-known mariner. In 1884 he entered the employ of the C. P. N. in the dock offices and in 1887 was promoted to become purser on the boats and when the C. P. N. was purchased by the C. P. R. Mr. Moore remained. Up to the time of his retirement "Johnnie" was the senior purser of the big fleet and he had a large acquaintance, having met thousands of people on the different boats he sailed on. He is known from San Francisco to Dawson and many of his friends who traveled only on the boat on which he last was purser will regret that he has left active service.

Mr. Moore was surprised when the presentation was made to him yesterday, but he very modestly thanked the officers for their kind thoughts and assured them that they would always occupy a warm spot in his heart. His association with them had been of the best.

STRIKES ROCK TRYING TO AVOID HEAVY ICE

Invermore Sinks on Labrador Coast, but All Her Passengers Rescued

St. Johns, Nfld., July 11.—All of the passengers on the coastal steamer Invermore, which struck on the rocks near Brig Harbor Point, on the Labrador coast, last night, were landed safely to-day. Messages received here from the scene of the wreck said that the steamer filled rapidly after striking and was to-day resting on the rocks with only her top deck above water.

The Invermore struck while trying to avoid the heavy ice north of the Strait of Belle Isle. She left here July 14 to go as far north as the ice would permit. She carried a heavy freight cargo and many passengers, most of them Labrador fishermen and planters who were bound north for the summer.

The steamer Kyle, with divers and wrecking gear, was sent from here to-day for Brig Harbor, as the officers of the Invermore said that there was some hope of re-floating the vessel.

Brig Harbor Point is on the north side of Hamilton Inlet, about 275 miles north of Belle Isle. It is on a desolate stretch of rockbound coast, peopled only by a few scattered families of fishermen.

The Invermore, formerly called the Drumhead, is owned by the Reid Newfoundland Railway company. She was built at Glasgow in 1881 and is 250 feet long.

OFFICIALS OF G.N. SPEND DAY IN TOWN

Vice-President and Party Like Victoria; Build New Slip at Sidney

On a regular inspection tour of the west a party of Great Northern officials arrived in town this morning from Vancouver and at 4.30 o'clock this afternoon proceeded to Seattle on the steamer Princess Charlotte. After calling on the local agencies of the line, the party took automobiles and went out on the country roads. The officials were delighted with the ride and with such beautiful weather prevailing they went away well impressed with Victoria.

The party included J. M. Gruber, vice-president of the Great Northern, who is in charge of operation, and has his headquarters in St. Paul. Other officials were: J. H. O'Neill, general superintendent at Seattle; J. H. Emerson, general manager, of St. Paul; C. M. Nye, principal assistant engineer at St. Paul; and W. R. Smith, superintendent of the western section of the railroad with head offices at Seattle.

Building New Slip.

An announcement was made this morning to the effect that the Great Northern, which operates the Victoria & Sidney railway, will build a new slip at Sidney to cost in the neighborhood of $20,000. The present pier is in an exposed position and in the winter season is badly battered by the big seas which come in with a southeast wind. A better site has been selected for the new dock.

Fenders are now being called for and the contract will be awarded in a very short time. The Great Northern is doing

MANY SHIPS AT PORTLAND

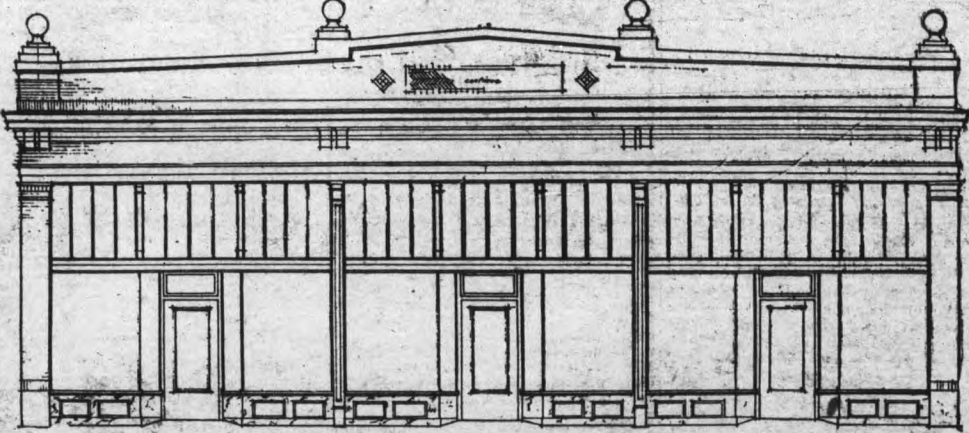

Portland, July 11.—A large number of trans-Pacific freighters will be at Portland this month. In addition to the regular liners operated by the Hamburg-American and the Royal Mail there will be four carriers of the China Import & Export Lumber company's fleet here. This includes the British steamship Strathclyde, which arrived in the river three days ago to load a cargo of lumber for Shanghai.

The Strathclyde will be followed by the British steamship New Zealand Transport. She sailed from Karatsu, Japan, for Portland, June 23. The New Zealand Transport is a new vessel, and will take out more than 4,000,000 feet of lumber. The next of this fleet to put in an appearance will be the Japanese steamship Shinkai Maru. Her arrival will be looked for July 20. Her capacity is something like 3,500,000 feet of fir. She will be followed by the Japanese steamship Kenkon Maru No. 8 along about July 30. These four vessels are expected to take out cargoes aggregating between 14,000,000 and 18,000,000 feet of lumber.

Two grain steamships, the Virginia and Maria, now in port, also will be among the big fleet to leave this month, clearing for the United Kingdom.

BOARD OF TRADE HAS QUARTERLY MEETING

Many Matters Before Members; Record of Past Three Months

The attitude of the board of trade towards the Victoria and Island Development association was outlined at yesterday's quarterly meeting of the board, when Mr. Shallcross amplified the clause of the presidential report dealing with this matter by stating that two resolutions had been passed by the council of the board. The first was to the effect that the board did not think it advisable to be formally represented on permanent organizations like the association, and the second that it thought the management should be comprised of representatives of those municipalities which contributed to the support of the institution.

On the other hand, Mr. Shallcross was careful to add, and in this he was corroborated by Mr. Pauline, the board of trade was fully and wholly in sympathy with the principle of spreading information about Victoria, which was the chief stand of the association. The best work the association could do for Victoria was to provide comfortable houses to preserve its great reputation as a residential city, to obtain thorough sanitation, and to secure cheap transportation for all. In the effort to procure industries for the city the residential attractions should not be lost sight of or interfered with.

Industrial Commissioner Cuthbert agreed with the ex-president of the board, especially in the opinion that no one condition of civic growth should be allowed to interfere with another. As a "varied" city in all that it had to offer Victoria had no equal in Canada. Among the other ways in which it attracted attention were as a focus point for tourists, for convalescents, as a residential city of luxury, as a commercial centre and as a national point of increasing importance. None of these matters could be overlooked in the great task which faced him as industrial commissioner. In the matter of industries he was assured that it would be far better to confine attention to one industry which would give satisfactory returns than to consume time with a number which could never hope to be successful. In this connection he would urge that those people in the city who had an expert knowledge of what industries were likely to be profitable here should send word to the Victoria and Island Development association. For instance, he strongly believed that a jam factory in the city, run on good lines would utilize most of the surplus fruit. He had heard that over ninety tons of strawberries had been sent out of Victoria. If a factory were established it would help the centralization of capital and would also stimulate the fruit-growing industry on the island to an appreciable extent.

H. F. Pullen, in urging the opening up and publicizing of beautiful spots on the island which are at the present time almost inaccessible, added that in several parts of the island there were great resources going to waste and beautiful lakes and waterfalls scarcely known.

The remainder of the quarterly meeting was taken up with a resume of the work done by the board during the quarter which was outlined by the vice-president, C. H. Lugin deputizing for Colonel Prior, who was unable to be present. A report had been prepared by the president, and it was on this the vice-president based his remarks.

On the matter of lumber exports reference was made to the valuable paper read by Henry Pearce, which had been full of statistics showing the lumber exports from the Pacific coast. The comparison of exports from British Columbia with those from the United States had been unfavorable to British Columbia mills, and the council was at present endeavoring to ascertain the cause. To this end copies of Mr. Pearce's paper had been forwarded to the B. C. Lumber & Shingle Manufacturers' association, and also to the Mountain Lumbermen's association for reprints. As soon as these were received and studied the council would be in a better position to know how to proceed in the matter.

The work done by the board regarding the bridging of Seymour Narrows received attention in the president's report, and in speaking on this head the vice-president remarked that perhaps too much attention had been paid

In the campaign to the actual bridging of the Narrows and too little to a rail connection. F. A. Pauline directed attention to the active part taken by the city council in the proposition this year, the first time such interest in the matter had ever been displayed by that body.

"Every effort," continued the president's memorandum, "has been made to secure the appointment of a Canadian customs officer at New York to facilitate the transshipment there of Canadian goods in bond for water carriage to this province by the Maple Leaf Steamship line. The minister of customs has expressed himself emphatically opposed but efforts are being continued to persuade him to meet the wishes of British Columbia shippers."

The resignation of A. Linchman and R. T. Elliott, K. C., from the council of the board was formally commented on, as were also the facts that 2500 reports had been printed and were in the course of distribution, and that Secretary Elworthy had been granted a three months' leave of absence after twenty-four years of service. J. J. Shallcross had undertaken to attend to the board's business during the absence of the secretary.

The members of the board might expect early intimation of the date to be arranged for an excursion to Courtenay, when the Esquimalt & Nanaimo railway would run a special train on the opening of the line. Reference was made in the report also to the subject of a special trade commissioner to reside in South America for the purpose of increasing the lumber exports. The board's committee had joined a delegation of the Vancouver board of trade in interviewing the provincial government. In the opinion of the premier, however, this was a matter to be settled by the Dominion government, and Sir Robert Borden had been telegraphed to accordingly. A reply had been received that he would give the matter his attention upon the prorogation of parliament.

WED AT DARLINGFORD.

W. M. Walker, Son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Walker, Victoria, and Miss Mary E. White Married.

A pretty wedding took place Tuesday morning, June 30, at Zion Methodist church, Darlingford, Man., when Mary Evelyn, only daughter of William White, was married to Walter M. Walker, of the Bank of British North America, Yorkton, Sask., son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Walker, of this city. Rev. J. Hellyar officiated.

The church was decorated with ferns and roses by the girl friends of the bride, who have long been identified with her in church work, the guest pews being marked by white ribbon and cut roses. Miss Edna White, cousin of the bride, was at the organ and as the bridal party entered the church played the Lohengrin Wedding March. During the signing of the register Miss Burk sang "O Perfect Day." The bridal procession was headed by the two ushers, Messrs. Murray and Walter Nichol, then the groom and George White, brother of the bride, who supported the groom; then came the bridesmaid, Miss Annie Hill.

The bride was given away by her father. The bride's gown was ivory champagne draped with Chantilly lace and trimmings of pearl. She wore a veil and orange blossoms. The bridesmaid wore pink champagne draped with shadow lace and wore a large white picture hat with French plumes.

Immediately after the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride. Only a few intimate friends, besides the immediate relatives being present. The bride's table was decorated with satin ribbon, centred by a handsome wedding cake surrounded by billowy tulle. Three dainty young ladies, Misses Nichol, Hellyar and Ching, attended to the wants of the guests in the breakfast room. The bride's traveling suit was of turquoise silk with trimmings of turquoise and black. Her hat, of black tulle, was trimmed with ostrys.

Mr. and Mrs. Walker left for Lagan, Banff and other points. The out-of-town guests were Mrs. H. M. Tucker, Mrs. C. W. Trick, Winnipeg; and Mrs. Leitch, Detroit, Michigan. Mrs. Tucker was gown in white crepe meteor and wore a large black lace picture hat, trimmed with ostrys. Mrs. Trick wore white crepe trimmed with Oriental lace and a tight-fitting black hat with jet trimmings. Mrs. Leitch wore grey poplin and a very handsome lavender hat with French plumes.

It is comparatively easy to grow white violets in congenial conditions. Dr. J. H. Jowett.

EVENING.

A glorious day is closing.
And there, in the western sky,
The sinking sun paints the heavens
With crimson and golden dew.

He gives to the distant mountains
A beautiful purple hue,
Which Nature daintily softens
With gossamer veil of dew.

The shadows of evening deepen
Ere the shades of night appear;
The moon, in her splendor rises,
Shattering the darkness drear.

With her lightest touch the night wind
Carelessly fans the leaves,
As they hang so limp and languid,
Making sweet refreshing breeze.

Perfect day and perfect evening,
A still more beautiful night;
As I gaze I thank my Maker
For the blessed gift of sight.

CLAIMS OF SEALERS

Court Hears Widows and Mothers of Men Formerly Engaged in the Industry Out of This Port.

Although it is long vacation and an off day in the courts, the sealing commission does not lose any time and the usual Saturday morning sitting was held to-day, when half a dozen claimants were disposed of.

Walter Walker was heard in part yesterday afternoon on his claim for compensation as an owner of the steam schooner Mischief, which he and his partners purchased early in 1892 and of which he remained managing owner until she was disposed of in 1900. He gave the particulars of his claim in reply to E. L. Tait, and this morning he was cross-examined by Frank J. Curran, K. C., counsel for the Dominion government.

Mr. Walker explained the transactions which took place over eight years in regard to the ownership of the vessel, this being afterwards stated by Mr. Justice Audette to be quite clear and satisfactory to him. The vessel was acquired by the owners on the advice of the late Captain Pett, he and Mr. Walker being joined by George Walker, H. T. Flett and Mrs. Flett. When the vessel was sold she was owned by Walter Walker, who had thirty-nine shares, and John Corndray, who had twenty-five, but the former is the virtual owner of all interest now and is the sole claimant.

The purchaser of the vessel was Moses Lens. It did not come out in evidence but it is well known here that after the vessel was withdrawn from sealing she served for some years as tender to the British naval ships in Behring sea and was under the command of Captain Hamilton R. Foote.

In 1892 the schooner was equipped and sent out on a cruise to Behring sea but was stopped and warned by H. M. S. Daphne that steam vessels could not enter the sea. It was then too late for her to go to the Japan coast, Mr. Walker told Mr. Curran, as her sail area and coal supply would not have enabled her to get down there in time to do any hunting.

Some question arose as to the probability of the schooner having been cleared by the customs here for Behring sea, as the modus vivendi had been renewed, but E. L. Tait, who was acting for Mr. Walker, informed the court that in 1893 and again in 1893 the customs cleared all vessels out to the North Pacific.

In 1894, Mr. Walker said, it was common talk along the waterfront that vessels could not go out to Behring sea and as Captain Pett was in poor health they decided to go out of business. Mrs. Sarah A. McKell, widow of Captain Robert Esdaile McKell, one of the well known old-time sealing captains, made a claim both as widow of a sealing master and as a part-owner in his vessel, having eight shares. She was represented by E. L. Tait. Her evidence was taken as part of the claim made by her co-owners, J. P. Elford and W. J. Smith, who were represented by Oscar C. Bass. Mrs. McKell gave a deal of evidence as to the trips made by her husband and the catch of his vessels in the various years.

Mrs. Mary Friday, widow of Peter Friday, an Indian, claimed in respect of her son John, who started sealing about 1892 as a boat-puller and later became a hunter. Her sons are all dead and she is left, alone in the world. Until John, who was her last boy, died they had a little farm but she had to give this up. He was killed in a logging camp at Shawinigan during sealing seasons.

Mr. Curran filed an objection to the claim.

SAANICH RATEPAYERS PASS RESOLUTIONS

Object to Excessive Speed of Automobiles on Cedar Hill Road; Other Matters

Numerous resolutions were before the Ratepayers' Association of Ward 1, Saanich, last evening at a meeting held at Cedar Hill.

It was claimed that some of the grocery stores in Saanich had been losing trade because of competition by city grocery stores, which delivered wine and spirits from wagons to houses in the municipality, though none of the grocery stores in the municipality could obtain bottle licenses. The following resolution was adopted on motion of E. H. Cotterell, seconded by Mr. Horner:

"That this meeting, of Ward 1 Ratepayers' Association, condemns the practice of allowing transient traders and merchants whose place of business is outside the municipality to canvas for orders and peddle goods in the nature of wine, spirits, beer and groceries, without having a license to trade in the municipality, and petitions the municipal council to take such action as to collect a license fee for such trading; this resolution to be forwarded to the council."

Another resolution requests the Central Ratepayers' Association executive to call a meeting of the Central Association for the purpose of taking such action as will induce the municipal council of Saanich to redeem its election pledges. In support of this resolution it was argued that too much unnecessary work has been done by the council this year, and too much money spent on legal and engineering expenses when actual construction work should have been carried out.

Very strong feeling was expressed by several Cedar Hill residents regarding the pace maintained by some automobiles on Cedar Hill road. After it was stated that automobiles at the rate of one every three minutes pass along Cedar Hill road on Sunday afternoons in fine weather, the meeting decided to ask the municipal council to give protection against automobiles travelling in excess of the speed limit.

One resident said that a police trap on the road could collect in fine on a single occasion sufficient to police the whole of Saanich for a year.

The association decided to ask Councilor Borden to have Mount Toimie road, at the B. C. electric railway terminus, made passable, as promised to the association.

A resolution was adopted requesting the council "to instruct the proper official to attend to the electric lights in the ward, as the lights are left burning most of the day and often as not turned on until near midnight."

WAR, ACCORDING TO—

The Enlisted Man—A chance to break the deadly routine of the parade ground with some real excitement. In isolated cases to provide opportunities for military or political advancement.

The Business Man—A period of economical depression, often followed by large failures and the consequent loss of the public's investments.

The Volunteer—A stern patriotic duty to be entered upon without inquiry as to its justice or injustice.

The Philosopher—An unintelligent and gross instrument for the settlement of the world's unavoidable quarrels.

The Historian—A logical, if somewhat reasonable, method of arranging the world's boundary lines.

The Optimist—The natural strife of humanity, tending toward the general betterment of the social cosmos.

The Pessimist—The natural strife of humanity, tending toward the general destruction of the universe.

The Mother—A long vigil in an empty room and a memory of child voices, forever stilled.

The Wife—A husband gone, a home destroyed, and a woman's heart broken.

The Seer—The last great barrier between civilization and the millennium.

—Life.

The monotony of modern factory life dwarfs individually, develops a kind of fatigue unknown to the working classes of two centuries ago, and also a longing for excitement and recreation as a counterpoise to the depressing effects of work.

THE BLESSING OF MOTHERHOOD

Healthy Mothers and Children Make Happy Homes

Motherhood is woman's highest sphere in life. It is the fruition of her dearest hopes and greatest desires; yet thousands of noble women through some derangement have been denied this blessing.

In many homes once childless there are now children because of the fact that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound makes women normal, healthy and strong. This is evidenced by the following letters which are genuine and truthful:

London, Ont.—"I wish to thank you for the benefit I received by taking your famous medicine, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Before my baby was born I was so ill I could not stand long or walk any distance. I had to lie down nearly all the time. After I took your medicine I felt like a new woman. I could work from morning till night and was happy and well. I certainly think it relieves pain at childbirth and recommend it to every woman who is pregnant. You may help some other woman."—Mrs. FRANK CORRIN, 182 Adelaide St., London, Ont.

Brooklyn, N.Y.—"I was ailing all the time and did not know what the matter was. I wanted a baby but my health would not permit it. I was nervous, my side ached and I was all run down. I heard that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was good and took the medicine. I have now a beautiful baby and your Compound has helped me in every way."—Mrs. J. J. BRITON USES MOST SOAP; RUSSIA LEAST

Average Subject of Czar Consumes Only Two Pounds a Year

Are two pounds of soap sufficient to keep a man clean for a year? A recent return shows that this is the amount per unit consumed in Russia.

The list of soap-using countries is headed by the United Kingdom, with twenty-one pounds per individual; the United States comes next; Russia is last.

Even if the soap bill is a true test of people's personal cleanliness it is an invidious task to tabulate the dirtiness of nations.

Louisa in "Man and Superman," says: "Every Jew considers in his heart that English people are dirty in their habits."

It will be a familiar fact to many readers that among the lower middle classes, and to some extent in the lower classes, soap is regarded as a sort of charm. It is used on the face very much in the same way as the holy stone on a ship's deck.

A red and polished face is a proof that the holystone (or soapstone) has been well and truly laid. There need not be much cleanliness about this method, and perhaps our large consumption of soap may be due to a wasteful use of it. It is possible, moreover, that the soap bill is not a true test.

It is difficult to keep away from the international aspect. As to Germany that great country is well up in the list. So is Spain. Not so Italy or France. Holland is quite high; Sweden quite low. Cold or warm climate seems to have little to do with the matter. The Brahmin's morning ablutions are a religious ceremony, and hygienically thorough.

Tradition often carries far. Pilny, who wrote the first of all encyclopaedias, said that the German soap was better than the Gallic. Both Greeks and Romans "washed often."

Dr. Ellis argues that Christianity for a time killed the bath, the early fathers being by profession a living contradiction of pagan luxury. This reached an extreme in one aspect of saintliness.

"The cleanliness of the body was regarded as a pollution of the soul," says Lecky. St. Athanasius relates with enthusiasm how St. Anthony had never, to extreme old age, been guilty of washing his feet.

A famous virgin, though bodily sickness was a consequence of her habits, resolutely refused on religious principles to wash any part of her body except her fingers.

Westerners, the philosopher of human habits, says that man, like many other animals, is naturally endowed with a certain tendency to cleanliness.

He also says that man is naturally inclined to idleness, which explains the stories of tramps who on being bathed at the workhouse shed layers of what

BROWN EXPECTS TO SELL SOME OF HIS STARS FEDERALS MAY COME ON TOUR TO COAST

Third Major League Issues Defi to Organized Baseball Will Hold Own World Series Montreal Team May Be Sold

Bob Brown is one baseball manager who never worries over the hold-outs. The Vancouver manager handles his club on the principles of a big business and one of his mottoes is: "There is always someone to fill the bill." Brown is having a time getting Pug Bennett and Al Heister to sign up at the terms offered, yet he threatens to go through the whole season before he offered either of the pair a fresh contract.

"If I can't develop a youngster to take the place of any veteran who tries to hold out on me," says Brown, "why then I'm ready to quit baseball. Once the players get the impression that they can run a ball club it is best for the club-owner to shut up his ball park."

The Vancouver club-owner states that he is thoroughly in accord with Branch Rickey's declaration that he never tolerates the indoor sport among his athletes. Brown will not even allow the players to congregate in their rooms at the hotel for a game and his handling of the team shows that he is right. The Beavers are never a dazzling aggregation, but they play steady baseball, though apparently outclassed on paper by their opponents.

Vancouver brought out a number of youngsters this season so Ruby Robert is figuring on selling four or five of the newcomers. He praises Harstad to the skies, while Reuther is another whom he thinks highly of. Brown spent nearly a thousand dollars bringing his regulars and hopefuls to the mainland City this year, but he figures that if he can pick two or three really good ones out of the lot he will have been amply repaid.

The Federal league is thinking of taking over the Atlantic league as a farm, according to a rumor going the rounds. Whether or not the proposition goes through remains to be seen. In the event of the Federal's challenge being refused, President Gilmore will arrange a series for the world championship which will be participated in by Federal league teams only. A team made up of players from seven teams that fall to win the Federal league pennant will meet the pennant winner in a series of seven games.

The challenging team will be made up of twenty-one players, three from each team, who will be chosen on their records both for playing ability and equipment.

It is probable that the seven games will be played in the principal cities of the country and it is possible that the winner will then go on a tour of the United States, traveling straight through to the Pacific coast.

Owner Rourke, of the Omaha Western league, concluded a deal with the Cleveland Americans whereby Catcher Sheatka, of Omaha, goes to Cleveland. Rourke gets four players from Cleveland, Pitcher Styles, Catcher Kruger, Shortstop Dunlop and another not yet named.

CLOTHIERS KEEP ON WINNING BALL GAMES

Manager Rube McQueen is looking for the team that will give his Clothiers a stiff workout. On Thursday evening his proteges easily defeated the B. C. electric nine, hitting Pitchers Holmes and Reese to all corners of the lot and winning 7 to 2. The victory was a gathering. George Straith kept the Electricians well in hand and deserved a shutout. McQueen's one-handed catch in centre field and Straith's hitting featured the game.

Bapcos practically won the Commercial league pennant last evening at the Royal Athletic park when they defeated the United Printers 7 to 2. The Bapcos now have a lead on the Outlaws, but the latter can tie by winning their remaining games.

The following were the batteries: Bapcos—Surplus and Robertson. Printers—Townsend and Watson.

WANTS ENTRIES.

Vancouver, July 11.—H. Ronald Kenyon, president of the Vancouver A.S.C., will go to Victoria on Monday to promote interest in the championship gala at English Bay on August 1. Championships of British Columbia will be decided in 220 yards junior, 220 senior, 440 senior and 440 ladies. Among officials appointed by the executive last night are C. E. Hopper and P. R. Porfret, Victoria, judges; and W. Long, Victoria; R. E. Ely, Victoria, and Donald Lowe, Port Alberni, timekeepers.

REMARKED ON THE SIDE

Was Hard-Fought Series.

Brampton's failure to capture the Mann cup after one of the hardest series ever played for the famous trophy was one of the biggest features of the past week. The eastern challengers had the first game by the odd goal in nine, but the V. A. C. changed its team about for the final and managed to score an easy win over the eastern champions, the score for the series being ten to seven. It now looks as if the cup is here for at least another year. The Brampton men are admittedly the best in the east as an amateur aggregation, and that they will again win the C. L. A. championship is conceded by the eastern authorities.

Will Benefit by Experience.

Coach Jack Carmichael, of the Brampton club, stated after the match that his team had benefited greatly by its experience in these matches and would come west again with an even better chance of winning the cup. The Brampton club will play a number of exhibition matches en route east and is booked to play a league match at Brampton on July 27. There is a strong possibility that the Westminster amateur twelve will capture the coast championship along with the Mann cup this year. The junior Salmon Bellies have shown a world of speed of late, and if they can win another game away from home will take the title.

Jones About Ready to Come Back.

There is still talk of Con Jones breaking back into the lacrosse game, but he says that the other clubs will have to stop playing first. Nationals, probable winners of the Big Four, and the Rosedale twelve, coming champions of the N. L. U., are expected to come after the cup, so that the Westminster team will have at least to keep in practice if it is to hold the trophy.

Playing Old Cards.

Hal Chase was welcomed back by V. B. B. with open arms the other time he deserted. So was Earl Hamilton, of the St. Louis pitcher, when he took $5,000 of the Federal league's money, and jumped to Kansas City. The good Mr. Baker was very glad to bid welcome to Bill Kilmer upon his return. Then, there were additional like cases. A week ago Ban Johnson, stated V. B. B. would never allow a contract jumper to return. Still, Wednesday of this week Herr August Herrmann wrote Marston, pleading with him to rejoin the Reds. It is such things that have the players giggling and figuring upon taking advantage of the ten-day clause and going where the bids are the largest, knowing that if they should make what proved a foolish leap V. B. B. will re-engage them.

COWICHAN CRICKETER REGISTERS A CENTURY

Splendid batting featured Thursday's game between the Cowichan eleven and the Civil Aid Force stationed at Nanaimo. The former club won easily, compiling 34 runs in its first inning, of which W. A. McAdam's 16, not out, was the lead line. E. J. McGuire batted for 89, until he was cleverly caught by Paton. E. C. Brooke-Smith and J. J. Murphy hit 46 and 42 respectively. Barrington-Foote, with 65, led the Civil Aid Force. Collett and Erickson led the Men's Open club with the bat 22 and 20 respectively. The averages follow:

London, July 11.—Yorkshire beat Northamptonshire yesterday by an innings and 8 runs. Kent beat Somerset by 5 wickets.

LACROSSE OPENING.

On Monday evening the opening match in the City Lacrosse league will be played at Macaulay Point, when the Victoria West and Sidney teams will clash. The game will start at 6.30 and the Sidney team will line up as follows: Simpson, Macrae, Pottinger, Baines, F. Humber, McGregor, Norton, P. Humber, Coffey, Sid. Humber and Belford.

VICTORIA OARSMEN MADE FINE SHOWING

Counted on to Repeat in Senior Events This Afternoon Complete Results

According to a night lettergram from Blaney, Scott, Victoria's four-oared crew which yesterday captured the junior four-oared race at the N. P. A. A. O. regatta, was also confident of winning the senior championship at Portland this afternoon. The V.A.A.A. quartette won the race easily yesterday, being five lengths in front of Vancouver and the men were yesterday looked upon as the crew to beat for the senior honors. The Victoria oarsmen are second in the point aggregate for the championship trophy, Portland leading with six points, while Victoria has four. M. Bendrodt, of the V.A.A.A. sculls, and the junior doubles were third in the junior doubles.

Coming with the announcement that Victoria has been awarded the N. P. A. A. O. regatta for next year, the victory of the Victoria oarsmen aroused great enthusiasm at the local club level. The senior events were set for today. The senior events which Victoria would make as good a showing in these events. The Victoria oarsmen will go to Nelson next week, where Kennedy will row Everett Butler, the former Canadian sculling champion.

Portland won the junior singles and doubles, and Victoria was victorious in the junior four-oared race yesterday at Portland in the twenty-third annual regatta of the North Pacific Association of Amateur Oarsmen. The Willamette river course was in ideal condition.

Summary.

The singles—D. G. Cooper, Portland, 1; M. Bendrodt, Victoria, B. C., 2; A. V. Wood, Vancouver, B. C., 3. Time, 10:32.50 and 11:16.50.
Junior doubles—G. L. Wyld and Cooper, Portland, 1; R. P. Baker and I. Davis, Vancouver, 2; N. N. Wootan and M. A. Kent, Victoria, B. C., 3. Time, 9:22.25; 9:25.35 and 9:41.35.
Junior fours—Victoria, B. C., 1; Vancouver, 2; Portland, 3. Time, 8:52.45; 9:08.45 and 9:13.

TORONTO GOLFERS ESTABLISH RECORD

Toronto, July 11.—What is considered to be a world's record in number of holes, and completed rounds, played in one day, a figure which will probably stand for some time, was accomplished by Harold E. Beatty and Edward Faulds, two of Rosedale's enthusiastic golf players.

The task set by these players was to "beat" the record of "Lowerson" of 6 rounds, 108 holes, over the old Ottawa course, which has stood for years as a world's record.

They were able to accomplish this feat and add 18 holes to it. Starting at 4.15 a. m., and finishing at 8.15 p. m., they were able to do the seven full rounds, covering an estimated distance of 28 miles.

The first, second, and third rounds were completed in a gale of wind; the last round was played in a deluge of rain.

The best single hole performance was a 3 at the punch bowl by Beatty, and a 4 by Faulds at the twelfth, after driving into the river, which was a remarkable recovery.

RESOLUTE LOOKS FAST.

Newport, R. I., July 11.—In a typical Sandy Hook racing wind, a long roll and faint airs, the Resolute so out-sailed her rivals yesterday that she led the Vanitie three miles and the Defiance four and a half miles at the finish of their thirty-mile contest. The Defiance was so far behind that she stopped racing as the Vanitie crossed the line. The Resolute's margin in closed time over the Vanitie was 31 minutes and 21 seconds, which her time allowance increased to 35 minutes and 7 seconds in corrected time.

AMERICANS WIN.

Copenhagen, July 11.—The American athletes won in several finals in the games at the Stadium last night against representatives of Denmark, Germany, Sweden and Finland. Homer Baker, New York Athletic club, won the 400 metres race in 52.3-10 seconds. W. M. Oler covered the 110 metres hurdle in 16.2-5 seconds. J. C. Paterson, University of Pennsylvania, won the 200 metres in 22.2-5 seconds, and the 100 metres in 11.1-10 seconds. Oler won the high jump with 5 feet 11.1 inches. The one-mile relay race, teams of five men, was won by the Americans in 4 minutes 35 seconds.

DRISCOLL WAS HIT HARD BY SEATTLE

Victoria Shut Out in Yesterday's Game; Spokane Now in Second Place

Seattle, July 11.—Babe Driscoll had nothing but his glove yesterday afternoon and the Seattle team hit out eight runs off his delivery. Victoria could not get a runner across the plate, the Bees being treated to a shut-out. Charlie Fullerton was on the mound for the Seattle club and he was very stingy with his base hits, holding the Bees to three dinky singles by Lamb, Hoffman and Driscoll. He retired nine of the invaders via the strikeout route. The result was never in doubt after the first session, when the Giants hammered in a couple of runs. Seattle played a superb game in the field, but one put-out being credited to the outfield, Victoria tried, without having six put-outs to his credit in left field.

Cadman's homer, the first in the Seattle park this season, was the batting feature of the day, though Killlay and Perrine also produced triples. Victoria had ten runners stranded on the sacks. Fullerton issuing five passes, while Tealey Raymond's error paved the way to a couple more getting on. The needed hit was not forthcoming, however, in the pinch.

Bobby Steele was chosen to work today, with Narveson and Pope or McHenry for Sunday's two games. Victoria needs two of the remaining three games to get an even break on the week's series.

Vancouver, July 11.—Portland defeated Victoria yesterday in a thrilling game. The home team was shut out, and the visitors were batted out of the box, but their successors were steady. Powell's spectacular catch of Michael's long fly in the ninth was the only fielding feature.

Spokane, Wash., July 11.—The Indians pounded Baker for 16 hits yesterday, and won 10-3. Stanley retired in the sixth because of a sore arm, and was succeeded by Hughes.

COMING DOG SHOW AROUSSES INTEREST

Cash Prizes Will Be Offered in Addition to Silverware

The interest of dog owners in Victoria is now centred on the approaching show of the City Kennel club, which will be run in conjunction with the Dominion exhibition. The executive of the club hopes that its show will be worthy of the event with which it will be associated, and given a strong local backing, there is every reason to believe this will be so.

Considering the large number of dog owners in the city and district, it is surprising how few have sufficient interest in their dogs to enter them in a show. At the forthcoming event a special inducement will be offered in the form of cash prizes in addition to the goodly array of trophies which is anticipated will be secured. Every attention will be given to the comfort of the dogs, and to this end a large open-air exercising ground has been provided. Hence owners may rest assured that their dogs will suffer no inconvenience from confinement at the show.

Every arrangement with the B. C. Agricultural association, visitors to the dog show building will not be charged for admission. This

AUSTRALIANS SAIL READY FOR SERIES

English Quartette Meets France at Wimbledon Today; Davis Cup Prospects

New York, July 11.—The arrival of the Australian Davis cup team in this country during next week is expected to give added impetus to both the international tennis matches and the sport in general. The team, consisting of Brook, Dunlop, Doud and Wilding, is one of exceptional strength and is considered to have an excellent chance of ultimately winning the trophy emblematic of the world's team championship in tennis.

The quartette sailed to-day and should arrive in New York on Friday or Saturday. They will go directly to the West Side club quarters at Forest Hills, L. I., for practice, moving on to Chicago at the end of the week for the first round against the Canadian team. These matches are scheduled for July 23, 24 and 25. Upon the completion of this match the Australasian doubles pair, Wilding and Brook, will enter in the western championship in order to qualify for the national championship challenge round at Newport late in August.

While the Canadian team will consist of four players this year, including two former internationalists, it is considered unlikely that the combination can check the progress of the Australasians toward the cup finals. The Maple Leaf representatives include R. B. Powell and B. P. Schwengers, both of Victoria, who played in the 1913 cup round, B. C. Mayers, of Winnipeg, and H. Sherwell, of Toronto. Neither individually or as a team does the Canadian four rank with the Antipodeans and for this reason interest turns toward the English team which is at present playing through the lower half of the draw on home courts.

Having successfully passed the Belgium team at Folkestone last week the English players are to-day crossing racquets with the French combination on the championship courts at Wimbledon. As composed for these preliminary ties the team is considered strong enough to win its way to the final round against the Australasians at Boston, August 6, 7 and 8, but it is believed that England will select other players for the American invasion, since a spring tournament play abroad has shown that Kingscott, Parker, Mayorgordato and Barrett do not as a combination class with the Australasians.

Germany has defaulted, not being able to get a team together to send over. The British Isles should win from France, although the latter team is a strong one. The chances are very strongly in favor of the British Isles and Australia meeting in the final to decide which country shall have the honor to play for the cup with the United States.

Doust, the Australian selected as one of the Australian team, thinks that Wilding should win both his matches and that Brooks may lose both his. One idea is that Park will defeat Wilding, particularly if it is a hot day. Park may win his single also from Brooks, this despite the fact that Park is not playing his game at present. Wilding will win his other match, and presuming that Kingscott is the other chosen to play in the singles with Park, Brooks should win. This would leave the issue to the doubles. Brooks is captain of the team, and one can expect to see Dunlop and Doust or Wilding and Doust play together. Marrett and Mayorgordato make a very strong team.

YOUTHFUL MANAGER

Herzog, the youthful pilot of the Cincinnati Flying Dutchman, known in history as the 29th birthday on July 9. Forty-five years ago the Cincinnati Red Stockings turned professional, and the players were the first in baseball history to receive regular salaries. In 1889 the Reds toured America from the Atlantic to the Pacific, without once tasting defeat. Yet in 1876, when Cincinnati became one of the charter members of the National League, the club achieved the cellar championship. In 1878 Cincinnati finished second, which is the nearest the southern Ohio metropolis has ever come to winning.

Charles Lincoln Herzog, hails from Baltimore, where he was born July 9, 1885. He played shortstop with the University of Maryland in 1904 and 1905, and broke into league baseball with York and Reading, Pa., in the Tri-State, in 1907. The following year he landed with the Giants, playing second base and outfield. In 1910 he was swapped to Boston, where he was tried out on third and at short. In the middle of the 1911 season Boston traded him back to Gotham, and in 1913 he was the bright particular star of the world's series between the Giants and Red Sox. As pilot of the Gerns, Charley has succeeded to Joe Birmingham's title of "Boy Manager," and he heads an amazing team that is about the youngest in captivity. In winter, Buck farms in Maryland.

LEDoux WINS A BOUT.

Paris, July 11.—Charles Ledoux, bantamweight champion of France, last night defeated Eugene Criqui, also of France, in the twelfth round of a twenty-round match. Criqui refused to respond to the call of time.

VICTORIA CLUB FINALS CONTESTED TO-DAY

Miss Lawson defeated Mrs. Bone in the finals of the ladies' singles at the Victoria Tennis club's courts yesterday afternoon, while Harold Hudson, the junior champion, went down before the excellent tennis of V. C. Martin in straight sets. Bone and Brown won another match from H. Hudson and Grant. The scores:

Ladies' Singles.
Miss Lawson (15-3) beat Mrs. Bone (plus 15), 6-4, 4-6, 6-4.
Men's Singles.
V. C. Martin (plus 15-3) defeated H. Hudson (15), 6-4, 6-2.

Men's Doubles.
Brown and Bone (plus 15) defeated H. Hudson and Grant (15), 6-3, 6-4.
The remainder of the finals are being played on the Victoria courts this afternoon, B. P. Schwengers and R. B. Powell also giving an exhibition.

New York, July 11.—Four of the tennis players engaged on the turf of the Country club of Westchester in test matches for the selection of the Davis cup team, reached the semi-final round yesterday.

Second round: George M. Church defeated N. W. Niles, 3-6, 9-7, 6-3. R. L. Murray defeated W. W. Johnson 6-4, 4-8, 7-5.

Third round: H. H. Hackett defeated G. P. Gardner, 6-3, 1-4, 6-4. N. Williams defeated G. M. Church, 6-1, 6-1. William M. Johnston defeated R. L. Murray, 7-5, 11-9. Karl H. Behr defeated E. P. Larned, 6-1, 6-2.

SPORTING GOSSIP OF THE DAY

Billy Weeks and Frank Barrieau fight this month at Fernie.

Seattle has a good squad of pitchers in Kelly, Gipe, Dell, Bonner and Fullerton.

Everard Butler, the Toronto single sculler, is on his way west to compete in the big regatta to be held in Nelson during the week of July 20.

July 16 is the date set for the championship contest in London between Gunboat Smith and Georges Carpentier.

The loss of McHenry and Steele would about ruin Victoria's chances.

Martin, the Victoria C. C. cricketer, is certainly a consistent batter.

Jimmie Duffey will not get after Welsh for a title bout.

Bob Dibble has no excuses to make for his failure to beat the Italian winner of the Diamond Sculls.

Winnipeg Eight and Dibble lost in their semi-finals to the ultimate winners.

FOR CRICKETERS.

Here are a few things that cricketers should observe:

Never play except dressed in white. This will prevent confusion to the bowler and improve appearance of team on field.

Courtesy on and off the field is indicative of good cricket.

Be on time and start the game as scheduled.

Do not loiter when going to bat. As soon as a player is given out the next player should be ready to start for the crease.

If any argument should arise leave the dispute to the two captains. They will look after the welfare of their respective teams.

Above all and beyond all "Play the Game." Cricket is written large in the history of the British empire as a gentleman's game.

ENGLAND WINS FIRST.

Wimbledon, Eng., July 11.—England won the first singles match from France in the round started to-day in the competition for the Davis cup, T. M. Mayorgordato beating Max Gernot by 6-4, 7-5, 9-7.

CUP STAYS IN CANADA.

Pictou, July 11.—Outside Prinyer's Cove the Nirwana won from the Neagha in the deciding race of three for the George cup, and so again retains the trophy. The American boat lost by about five minutes.

BERNHARDT V. ROSTAND.

M. Edmond Rostand, the famous French dramatist, says in a telegram to the lawyer of Mme. Sarah Bernhardt, who is bringing an action to prevent the cinematograph reproduction of M. Rostand's play "L'Aiglon," of which she holds the acting rights:—
"I would rather cut off my hand than appoint a lawyer against Mme. Sarah Bernhardt. I abandon to her the whole of my rights for these cinematograph performances which distress her, and I kiss with respect and gratitude her fingers, between which a writ retains for me the grace of a lily."

Mr. Harold Hilton, the well-known goffer, tells a story of a Scotch caddie who always wore a "deerstalker" cap with the flap tied tightly down over his ears. One day somebody noticed that the flaps were up, and he naturally asked the reason for the change. "I henna had them down since ma accident," replied the caddie. "Accident?" explained the goffer. "What accident?" I haven't heard about it!" "Ah, well," the caddie explained, "ye see, a gentleman offered me a drink out o' his whisky-flask, an' I didn't hear him!"

London Letter

The Irish Parliament.

BY ARTHUR SCAIFFE, J. P.

London, June 27.—Now that the amending (or ending) bill is awaiting battle, murder and sudden death in the House of Lords, it may be well to give our readers a brief synopsis of the Home Rule Bill and remind them of the precise nature of the powers which will be conferred upon the Irish parliament when it comes into existence. The bill provides for the establishment of an Irish parliament consisting of the king, a senate and a House of Commons, which shall have power to make laws for the peace, order and good government of Ireland. The supreme power and authority of the parliament of the United Kingdom will remain unaffected in respect to all persons, matters and things in Ireland. The Imperial parliament can at any time nullify or amend an act of the Irish legislature.

Religious equality is secured, as the Irish parliament cannot make a law, either directly or indirectly, to establish any religion or prohibit or restrict the free exercise thereof. Neither can it make any religious belief or religious ceremony a condition of the validity of any marriage. In regard to powers of taxation protection is prohibited. The lord-lieutenant of Ireland will give or withhold his assent to Irish bills, subject to the advice of his majesty's ministers in London.

The composition of the Irish houses of parliament will be as follows: Senate, 40 members; House of Commons, 164 members. A peer may be a member of either house of the Irish parliament, and an Irish minister can speak in either house, but can only vote in that to which he belongs. If the two Irish houses disagree a joint sitting will be held, the vote of the majority deciding the issue. The senators will in the first instance be nominated by the Imperial government, each senator holding office for five years. Afterwards they will be elected by the four provinces as separate constituencies, the term of office being still five years, and unaffected by a dissolution. The senatorial representation of the provinces will be as follows: Ulster, 14; Leinster, 11; Munster, 9; Connaught, 6; total, 40.

For election to the Irish House of Commons the present parliamentary constituencies will be used subject to the merging of the boroughs of Galway, Killybeg and Newry in their respective counties. The borough and county representations will be as follows: Boroughs—Dublin, 11; Belfast, 11; Londonderry, 2; Cork, 4; Limerick, 2; Waterford, 1; total, 34. Counties—Ulster, 43; Leinster, 30; Munster, 20; Connaught, 25; total, 128. Dublin University, 2. Grand total, 164.

In any constituency returning three or more members the election will be held on the principle of proportional representation, each elector having one transferable vote. These constituencies are: Dublin, 3 divisions, 9 members; Belfast, 3 divisions, 12 members; Cork, 1 division, 4 members; Dublin County, 2 divisions, 6 members. On the basis of present Unionist representation of Ulster that party would be represented in the Irish parliament by 35 members. The legislative powers of the Irish parliament are strictly limited to matters exclusively relating to Ireland, with reservations even in this respect. No question affecting the following matters can be legislated upon: The crown, succession to the crown, or a regency; the making of peace or war or relations of the Imperial government with foreign states, the navy and the army, dignities or titles of honor, treason, treason-felony or naturalization, trade with any place out of Ireland or the granting of bounties on the export of goods, any postal services and the rates of charge therefor (except purely Irish), coinage, trade marks, copyright or patent rights.

In addition to these specific limitations there are the "reserved matters" which cannot be legislated upon until they are transferred to the Irish government by the Imperial parliament. These are: land purchase, old age pensions, national insurance and labor exchanges; the collection of post office savings banks, trustee savings banks and friendly societies; public loans made in Ireland before the passing of the act. The bill provides that the control of the Royal Irish Constabulary shall be transferred to the Irish government at the expiration of six years, after the measure comes into operation.

The other "reserved services" (except land purchase) will be transferred to the charge of the Irish government if a resolution in favor of the transfer is passed by both houses of the Irish parliament. In respect to the post office savings banks, trustee savings banks and friendly societies, the resolution cannot operate for ten years after the act comes into force. A year's interval after the passing of the resolution is required in the other cases. Land purchase is not included in the "reserved services" that may be transferred. Ministers of the Irish parliament will form an "executive committee" for the purpose of advising the lord-lieutenant in relation to Irish services. For carrying out these services there will be an Irish exchequer and an Irish consolidated fund. For the adjustment of the financial relations between the two countries a joint exchequer board is to be set up, consisting of two members appointed by the Imperial treasury and two members by the Irish treasury, with a chairman appointed by the king.

The Irish parliament will have power, with certain limitations, to vary (either by way of additions, reduction or discontinuance) any Imperial tax so far as respects the levy of that tax in Ireland, and to impose in Ireland any independent tax so long as, in the opinion of the joint exchequer board, it is not substantially the same in character as an Imperial tax. In regard to taxation there are limitations of power, the following being the most important: The Irish parliament may not impose a customs duty on anything not subject to a duty under the Imperial parliament, and may only vary a customs or excise duty by way of addition. The proceeds of all taxes levied in Ireland, whether under the authority of the parliament of the United Kingdom or that of Ireland, will be collected by Imperial officers and paid into the exchequer of the United Kingdom. Out of the Imperial Consolidated fund there will be paid annually to the Irish exchequer the following amounts: The "transferred sum" being the net cost at the time of the passing of the act to the exchequer of the United Kingdom of the Irish services; a sum of £500,000, diminishing in each year after the third year of payment by the sum of £50,000, until it is reduced to £200,000; a sum equal to the proceeds of any Irish taxes imposed by the Irish parliament.

How the financial provisions will work out is shown by the appended tables. Had the Home Rule bill been in operation the budget of the Irish government for 1913-14 (not counting possible new Irish taxation) would be as follows:

Revenue.
Transferred sum £5,934,500
Post office 1,370,000
Irish fee stamps 82,000
..... £7,386,500

Expenditure.
Cost of transferred services (including post office) £6,886,500
Surplus (Imperial grant for first three years) 500,000
..... £7,386,500

The Imperial government's receipts and expenditure on the Irish account would for the last financial year balance in this way:

Revenue.
Irish revenue (excluding post office and fee stamps) £9,423,500
Deficit 2,206,500
..... £11,630,000

Expenditure.
Transferred sum £5,934,500
Cost of reserved services 5,695,500
..... £11,630,000

The 1914-15 budget would somewhat alter these figures in the direction of raising the deficit, owing to increased grants.

Representation at Westminster.

The Irish representation at Westminster, 103 under the Act of Union, is to be reduced by more than one half. Unless and until the parliament of the United Kingdom otherwise determine the following provision will prevail: After the day of the first meeting of the Irish parliament the number of members to be returned by constituencies in Ireland to serve in the parliament of the United Kingdom will be forty-two, no university returning a member. The constituencies returning these members are thus divided: Boroughs—Dublin, 3; Belfast, 4; Cork, 1; counties—Ulster, 11; Leinster, 8; Munster, 9; Connaught, 6; total, 42.

Special provision is made for the representation of Ireland in the Imperial parliament for the revision of the financial relations between the two countries after the deficit has disappeared for three successive years. For this purpose members of the Irish house of commons will be summoned to Westminster on the basis of population compared with the British representation, and while the revision is under consideration they will be deemed members of the Imperial parliament.

The act is to come into operation on the first Tuesday in the eighth month after the month in which it is passed, but by order in council the time may be extended.

In view of the amending bill, which will give each county in Ulster, Belfast and Derry city ranking as separate counties, the option of exclusion for six years on a vote, it is of interest to show how the religious denominations are distributed. For this purpose the province may be divided thus:

I. Protestant.
Non-Catholic. Catholic. Maj.
Antrim 360,154 118,449 241,705
Armagh 65,478 54,147 11,331
Down 225,943 79,946 145,997
Londonderry 76,186 64,436 11,750
..... 727,460 315,578 411,882

II. Catholic.
Non-Catholic. Catholic. Maj.
Cavan 124,186 15,882 108,304
Donegal 122,943 35,477 87,466
Fermanagh 34,749 27,062 7,687
Monaghan 53,341 18,064 35,277
Tyrone 75,565 33,062 42,503
..... 374,166 160,578 213,578

The proportion of non-Catholics to Catholics in Ulster is as 25.3 to 74.7 per cent. In the whole of Ireland the proportion of Catholics to non-Catholics is 73.9 to 26.1 per cent.

PHIL MAY AND THE HAWKER.

Mr. Andrew de Tervant sends to "Notes and Queries" some Phil May incidents of which he was a witness. One winter night an aged hawker entered the bar of the "Old Bell" tavern, Fleet street, and offered the customers sets of three studs for one penny. Phil May said to him, "You are just the man I want." He took only one stud, and gave the hawker a five-shilling piece. The barmaid said to Phil May, "I believe, Phil, you would give your coat to the first beggar who asked for it." "Well, miss," replied the artist, "there would be no harm in that. St. Martin gave his coat to a beggar, and he was a better man than Phil May. I am only a wicked sinner!" Everyone in the bar laughed, says Mr. Tervant, but Phil was extremely solemn.

"Generally run down? Want a tonic?" said a chemist on being consulted by a customer. "I've the very thing for you—Binson's Beattal. Three times a day, and in two days you'll feel like another man. Two-and-a-penny a bottle." "Oh, no, no!" said the customer energetically. "But it is the very thing for you. All the doctors are recommending it. We can't get it fast enough for our customers." "I believe you, but I would prefer something else." "Nonsense! I tell you the Beattal will do you more good in one day than anything else in a month. It cures everything. What's your objection?" "Only that I'm Binson!"

THE GREAT MASTERS

The motor car could have gotten along without DUNLOP TRACTION TREAD—but not so well.

IF DUNLOP TRACTION TREADS had not come into being, motorists would still be looking for protection from skidding; a tire that would never rim-cut; and that would adapt itself to every car, every load, because it had sixty-six cubic inches greater air capacity.

In the generality of causes, DUNLOP TRACTION TREAD has sold more cars than any other single source. Tires make or mar the pleasure of driving. A standardized safety-ensuring tire like DUNLOP TRACTION TREAD means auto prospects can be made to forget their anticipated fears about skidding, punctures, rim-cutting, and go ahead and buy the car.

The Extra Millions Spent on Goodyear Tires

Let No Man Charge You Higher Prices
For Tires Not Made Like These

For many years we have had scores of experts working to better No-Rim-Cut tires. They are in our Department of Research and Experiment, both at our Akron and Bowmanville factories.

Their efforts have cost us, in your behalf, $100,000 yearly.

Every No-Rim-Cut tire gets our extra "On-Air" cure. This is done to save the countless blow-outs due to wrinkled fabric. It is done by no other tire maker.

This single extra process adds tremendously to our cost.

We create in each tire, during vulcanization, hundreds of large rubber rivets. This is done to combat tread separation—to reduce the risk 60 per cent.

The simple rights to this method cost Goodyear $50,000.

Another costly, exclusive feature makes rim-cutting impossible. No other satisfactory way is known.

And these tires alone have our All-Weather tread. That's a tough, double-thick anti-skid. It rides as smooth as a plain tread, yet it grasps wet roads with countless deep and sharp-edged grips.

These efforts and features have cost Goodyear millions of dollars. They have saved tire users tens of millions, perhaps. And not one of these four—the greatest features in tire making—is found in any other tire.

THE GOODYEAR TIRE & RUBBER CO. OF CANADA, LIMITED
Head Office, Toronto Factory, Bowmanville, Ont.

VICTORIA BRANCH—751 FORT STREET

Note the Result

Goodyear tires have come to outsell any other tire in the world. And this year—after millions of these tires have been tested—their sales jump 55 per cent. Never before have so many men discarded other tires for Goodyears.

Sold at Prices Others Cannot Meet

But these costly tires are this year selling below 18 other makes. Many tires cost one-fourth to one-half more.

Not an extra-price tire excels the Goodyear in any way whatever. Not one embodies any of our four exclusive features. Not one has attained, in the test of time, such prestige and such sale.

Our lower prices are due to increased output. They are due to efficiency, to modern equipment. The same modern methods and equipment are employed at our Bowmanville factory as at Akron.

Every dollar of higher price means extra cost per mile.

Don't pay it. You will get in Goodyears all the value that anyone can give you. And any dealer will supply them if you say you want Goodyear tires.

PROTEST WILL FAIL WHILE PARIS RULES

Federated Women's Clubs Declared at Chicago Against Modern Styles

New York, July 4.—A great deal of talk has been occasioned by the protest against the modern styles made by the women at the gathering of the General Federation of Women's Clubs in Chicago recently. The resolution stated that the clothes worn were extreme, immodest and lacking in beauty. This was signed by 40,000 women. A deputation of women was appointed in each district to interview the manufacturers and dressmakers and request them to design and make simpler and more modest dresses.

This is a heroic measure on the part of the American women, and one that is hardly apt to meet with success as long as Paris is the recognized source from which the styles of the day originate. This distinction is held by the Parisians because after all is said and done they have virile ideas upon the subject of dress and are able to carry them out to artistic advantage. Until it is decided that some other place shall be the arbiter of what women shall, and shall not wear, this protest will have but little influence.

With the vogue for the basque and polonaise have come many styles which have their origin in these but are modified to suit the women to whom the mentioned styles are not becoming.

A Waist Showing the New Armhole and Skirt With Double Flounces.

These last are moyer age in type, being long of waist and loosely belted in at the waist with belt or sash. One stunning dress of this variety is of white silk with a chiffon overwaist which hangs straight from the shoulders to the depth of a long tunic, held in by a sash which runs through slits made in the chiffon. This is a style which is easily applied to cotton materials, such as crepe, batiste and others.

The simple but dainty designs called the polka dot and the ring have for a long period been unnoticed or, at least, have not been noticeably smart. But this summer they are to be seen in foulards, in wash silks, in cotton crepes and, of course, percale and calicoes. In the illustration is a simple and attractive dress made of percale with a blue ring strewn across its surface. The waist shows the new tendency of the armhole which is growing smaller and the skirt has two circular flounces. Crisp white collar and cuffs and crushed edgeline are the finishing touch. This is a dress which can easily serve as the model by which to plan a dress. With waist and skirt of striped material and flounces of plain it would be unusual in its attraction. Another way of finishing the dress would be to bind the ruffle of the sleeve, the collar and the flounces with a color matching the figure in the percale.

Never was a style revived in greater completeness than the basque. In the tightness of the armhole and the buttons down the front, and the points at the waist this modern basque is an exact replica of its ancestor. The plain fitting long tunic skirt is a conservative model of its type and one which the woman of full figure can easily wear. The armhole of the basque waist is snug and looks almost queer, after the looseness of the kimono blouse which was worn so long and which gave so much freedom that it almost made one wonder at times if there was an armhole at all. Waists of different styles are already showing that this has an influence upon them, and are ap-ing with smaller armholes. A strong tendency exists towards embellishing seams in some way. For instance, sleeves are put in with a cording around the armhole or narrow lace or beading is used. This is a very pretty way of making a simple waist attractive.

From all sides rumors are heard of wider skirts and yet when the models are examined it is found the largeness consists in a large quantity of material in draperies, in flounces or tunics, while the underskirt or foundation remains as narrow or narrower than ever. The tendency of these tunics is to widen out, measuring about 2 1/2 to 3 yards in width, with the fullness gathered in at the waist. This style is practical to develop in sheer and summery materials, and later possibly for the development of the heavier fabrics. The tremendous popularity of lace is evidenced in the wraps and gowns displayed in these materials for mid-summer. Long tunics of lace are worn over undershirts of satin, taffeta and chiffon. Coats and capes of lace have superseded those of chiffon and taffeta. Skirts are made with ruffles of lace from hip to hem. If one is fortunate enough to possess old lace it may be used to the greatest advantage this season. Among the most popular of the laces are, first and foremost, Chantilly, then maline, shadow and filet lace. The old Spanish patterns are being revived in borders on net foundations. The great novelty of the season's laces are the metal laces. Gold and silver laces in dainty and quaint designs com-

Y. W. C. A. BOARD MEETS

Reports Show Activity in All Departments; Convenors of Working Committees Appointed.

At the monthly board meeting of the Y.W.C.A. held yesterday afternoon at the association rooms, Mrs. Frank Adams in the chair, the usual reports were read, showing that during the month of June 5, 760 meals had been served, and that 150 transient residents had registered during that period. There were 30 permanent boarders in the building, and 32 new members had joined the association since the last report was read. The employment bureau reported 85 applications for help had been received; that 56 people had sought employment; and that 38 positions had been filled.

The travelers' aid report showed that 160 boats and 20 trains had been met, and assistance given to 48 girls and women. One special case was referred to, this being of a girl traveling by herself, who, on being taken to the association, was spoken to in ten different languages before it was found possible to converse with her, her questioners eventually discovering her identity and sending her safely to her friends.

Committees for the year were appointed, the convenors being as follows: Religious work, Mrs. Gillespie; finance, Mrs. Gould; membership, Mrs. Beckwith; employment, Mrs. Hasell; immigration, Miss Bradshaw and Miss Crease; social, Mrs. Collis; travelers' aid, Mrs. Gilbert; summer home, Mrs. Nivins; boarding home, Mrs. Forman; and educational, Mrs. Seales. Some discussion took place in connection with the sale of work to be held in November, the sale held last autumn having proved so successful.

FORCED TO SELECT

THREE NEW STREETS

Owners Prefer Bitulithic Material for Oak Bay Avenue;
No Paving on Fairfield

Finding that the owners on Fairfield road are opposed to having the street paved, and that the owners on Oak Bay avenue prefer a bitulithic paving on a concrete base, the streets committee of the city council yesterday afternoon decided to proceed with paving a portion of Pandora avenue extension, and with part of Haultain street, in order to furnish the necessary yardage for the Canadian Mineral Rubber company.

This decision was not reached till the subject had been discussed for over an hour and a half. Deputations from both Fairfield road and Oak Bay avenue were heard at length, and engineer's reports on each street were read to the meeting.

In submitting a schedule of streets which might be paved if the plan to have these trunk streets left through, Mr. Rust stated: "The total yardage amounts approximately to $2,542, and the money required from the sale of the first local improvement bonds to complete the by-laws and pay any outside accounts from July 8 is estimated at $236,145, less $66,085 or $170,060 on streets completed, partially completed, streets under construction and streets not commenced."

These lists formed schedule 1. In schedule 2 the engineer gave a list of streets which could be carried out in place of Fairfield road, under the headings of streets recommended, other streets and alternatives.

"The sum of $380,000 is available to be spent on construction work from July 6, leaving $210,000 for paving streets shown on the latter list."

He asked therefore for a direction as to whether the committee recommended to have this additional work awarded to the Mineral Rubber company or to wait till the city paving plant is erected.

Considerable objection to the improvement of Oak Bay avenue came from Mr. Anderson, but his view did not meet with the opinion of the majority of the owners present, among whom was Senator Riley. The opposition of the B. C. Electric railway against tearing up the present tracks, which were laid on a substantial base some six years ago, was reported by Mr. Rust, and it was explained that there would be a difference of $27,000 between paving the street without the area between the tracks, and paving the whole thoroughfare from curb to curb.

The estimate for paving with heavy asphalt is $81,000, and for bitulithic on a concrete base $86,000.

Eventually a resolution was moved by Percy Wollaston, and carried, that the owners endorsed the proposal to pave Oak Bay avenue with a bitulithic surface. It was decided to sign a petition and have it presented to the city council at an early date. There has already been a petition to this end, but it did not expressly state that the permanent base should be employed.

The owners on Fairfield road who attended listened to detailed estimates of the paving of that road. It developed that the total cost, including expenditures, will be about $80 per front foot on a fifty foot lot for a permanent paving. Several of the owners, including William Baylie, A. J. Woodward and G. J. Bagshaw, objected to various phases of the proposal, although Mr. Baylie was more friendly to the scheme than he has been a week previous, being in possession now of all the information.

Mr. Rust advised against permitting a macadam pavement to be laid, saying "It is a very dirty road in wet weather, very dusty in dry weather unless oiled, and of all classes of road-way it is most difficult to maintain."

The payments for macadam he advised should not be extended beyond a life of five years, which was the probable lifetime of macadam.

The deputation retired to the committee room, and on returning stated that the members had agreed not to proceed with the paving during the present year, but would ask only for a cement sidewalk.

The petition against the work having already been carried through the city council, nothing further remained than to inform the deputation that its members must sign a new petition for the sidewalk work, which is a separate item from the widening. This widening scheme will be proceeded with in spite of the turning down of the proposal to pave the street.

The city council having by these decisions lost two important streets which would have given the necessary yardage to the Canadian Mineral Rubber company, it became necessary to deal with the situation so created.

No objection was raised against paving a small section of Dallas road, near the outer wharf, which has never been carried out. The cost will be about $8,000. It was proposed to take the whole section of Pandora avenue extension from Cook street, where the present proposal ends, to Oak Bay Junction. However the claims of Haultain street were strongly urged, and eventually a compromise was reached that the portion of Pandora avenue from Fernwood road should be paved, and also Haultain street from Fernwood road to Third street. It is thought that the B. C. Electric railway may wish to use the street. A proposal was before the council last year to use Haultain street for the Shelbourne street extension of the line, but the aldermen yesterday said they would proceed with the work at the earliest possible date. Particular objection was taken last year to the use of Haultain street for car tracks because the northeast trunk sewer is laid along it, and it is expected that it will be very difficult to execute repairs if car tracks are placed on the street.

These three streets will provide the 22,000 yards required to keep the Canadian Mineral Rubber company active till the completion of its contract.

AT PANTAGES.

For the headline feature of the new bill at Pantages, opening with the matinee Monday, Manager Rice will bring on the Imperial Opera company of seventeen people, direct from the Palace theatre in New York. Their offering will consist of selections from "Carmen," "Trovatore," "Rigoletto" and "Cavalleria Rusticana."

The added attraction of the week will be the ever-popular Maudie DeLong, the eccentric character comedienne, who has made a big hit all over the circuit.

The programme will also be notable for the appearance of Godfrey and Henderson, in their bright conception of something new in a patterlogue. Their offering is called "Aboard for Abroad."

Amedeo plays the accordion so well that he is drawing a big salary for it. Jack and Jessie Gibson, on their unicycles, are very amusing.

The Pantagescope will offer a good comedy.

This bill is the biggest and most expensive on the Pantages circuit. Intending patrons would do well to book their seats in advance as the demand will be heavy during the week. The box office is open at 1.30 p.m.

In Lord Mersey's early days at the bar there was one judge who was notoriously unpunctual. One morning young Mr. Bigham had charge of two cases, one of which was to be taken by this judge. As usual, his lordship was late, and after waiting twenty-five minutes Mr. Bigham hurried off to the other court to see how his other case was proceeding. When he returned the unpunctual judge had arrived. "I've waited five minutes for you, Mr. Bigham," he rapped out crossly. "And I waited just five times as long for you, my lord!" retorted Mr. Bigham boldly. It is rather a serious business for a lawyer to "back-answer" a judge, but his lordship took the reprover in silence and the case proceeded.

The Revenue Consolidation by-law received the consideration of the city council yesterday afternoon. Several changes were made by the aldermen, and some existing legislation was confirmed. The final reading will be given to the by-law on Monday evening.

City Treasurer Smith stated that the original by-law had been passed in 1900. Sixteen amendments to it had been adopted in the intervening fourteen years. He then explained the details of the measure.

After debating the intricacies of the billiard-room business, the aldermen decided to raise the fee to be paid every six months for billiard and pool tables from $1 to $2 per table.

When the question of a double tax for hired vehicles—a tax on the licensed driver and a tax on the vehicle—was being considered, Mayor Stewart stated that the committee which had been handling this matter had reached a proposal satisfactory to the drivers. This proposal would consolidate the two by-laws.

Though some towns in British Columbia charge auctioneer fees as high as $100, it was decided to respect the existing by-law and refrain from interfering with the auctioneer's license, which is now $10 every six months.

City Treasurer Smith stated that for licensing purposes theatres were at present divided into three classes—those seating more than 975 people, those seating between 400 and 975 people and those seating fewer than 400. The statute, however, provided only for two classes.

City Solicitor Robertson was called in and stated that legally only two classes could be established—those seating more than 975 and those seating less than 975. On Ald. Todd's suggestion the council decided to fix a fee of $300 for theatres seating more than 975 and a fee of $150 for theatres seating fewer than 975.

The council also decided to fix the fee for transient real estate men and brokers at $100.

Lord Lonsdale, the leading spirit of the great horse show, has, of course, traveled very extensively; and he can tell some rather staggering travel tales. At a dinner once he related how he had come across a petrified forest some-where in Africa, and found in it a number of petrified lions and elephants. There was an admiring "Oh, oh!" from the company, and at once an American colonel rose to uphold the reputation of his countrymen for the telling of tall stories. "Texas has also its petrified forests," he said calmly, "but though they contain no petrified lions they are remarkable for having petrified birds flying over them." "But such a thing is absolutely contrary to the laws of gravity!" Lord Lonsdale exclaimed. "If the birds were petrified the laws of gravity would make them fall to the ground." "Not at all," replied the American blandly; "the laws of gravity also are petrified!"

The brave ship was wallowing in the waves that threatened to engulf her at any moment. Hastily the captain ordered a box of rockets and flares to be brought to the rail, and with his own hand ignited a number of them, in the hope that they would be seen and the passengers and crew rescued. Amid the rockets' red glare a tall, thin, austere cleric found his way with difficulty to the rail and spoke to the captain: "Captain," said he, "I protest. We are now facing death. This is no time for a fireworks display!"

G. T. Stockton, of London, Ont., is among the guests now at the Empress hotel.

G. J. McHenry is staying at the Strathcona hotel while here from Vancouver.

R. Scarbrough and Mrs. Scarbrough, of Westholme, are guests at the Dominion hotel.

A. W. Cruise, of Vancouver, is staying at the Empress hotel during a visit to the capital.

E. J. Banford, of Salt Spring Island, is in the city. He is a guest at the Dominion hotel.

J. B. West is in the city on a visit from Saskatoon. He is staying at the Dominion hotel.

Mrs. S. J. McMeer is visiting the city from Montana. She is a guest at the Strathcona hotel.

W. R. Cullin is a Calgary visitor in the capital. He is registered at the Strathcona hotel.

Mrs. F. Hagenbuch has arrived in the city from Calgary, and is stopping at the Empress hotel.

S. B. Howard, who arrived in Victoria from New York City this morning, is stopping at the Empress hotel.

Professor Andre Siegfried, of Paris, who is gathering matter for the third edition of his book, "Le Canada," left last night for Vancouver.

J. T. Fife has just returned from a fishing trip to the west coast of the island. He reports excellent trout catches in the neighborhood of Clousoe.

Rev. Dr. Cameron will leave next week for Seattle, where he will join his son, Moncreff Cameron, in a camping and fishing trip in the Cascade mountains.

Alfred Croaker and his daughters, of Vancouver, are staying for a few days at 8 Alma Place, Michigan street, Victoria, before proceeding on a long tour, which will embrace Australia and England.

A well-known newspaper woman in the person of Mrs. Kate Massiah, of Lachute, Que., is the guest of Mrs. Henry Lawson, 212 Cook street. Mrs. Massiah is a contributor to Montreal and Ottawa newspapers.

Duncan Campbell Scott, deputy superintendent-general of Indian affairs, had an interview yesterday with W. E. Ditchburn, inspector of Indian agencies for British Columbia, later leaving for the north.

A. B. Fraser left last evening for Nelson accompanied by his sister, Miss Amy C. Fraser, and his niece, Miss Madge Godfrey, who is returning to her home after a twelve months' visit in Victoria.

Among the recently-registered Victoria people at the Sol Duc hotel are Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Haver, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Mallett, Mrs. McNaught, Mrs. McGraw and Mr. Dickson and family.

Dr. Alfred Thompson, Dawson, member of parliament for the Yukon, who is on his way home from attending the session, made a short call on the premier yesterday afternoon. He came specially for that purpose.

P. H. Shepherd, M. P., came down from Nanaimo yesterday afternoon to meet some of his constituents at this end of his riding who desired to see him in relation to public works they require. Mr. Shepherd states that the plans for the Esquimalt drydock have been forwarded by the Ottawa government to the admiralty for its approval.

Dr. Fred F. Doepf and Mrs. Doepf, Carlsbad, N. M., are visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Cameron. Dr. Doepf is representative of his district in the senate of New Mexico and is a member of the state medical board. When Mr. and Mrs. Cameron lived in that part of the country they were neighbors of Dr. and Mrs. Doepf. Dr. Doepf is one of the shareholders in the Cameron Lumber company, and while here on a holiday is taking advantage of the opportunity to inspect the company's plant.

Colonel Roy and the officers of the permanent force at Work Point barracks were hosts at a garden party held yesterday afternoon at the barracks, among the guests being His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Paterson, Sir Richard McBride and other members of the cabinet and their wives. About 300 people were present, during the afternoon tea being served in marquees erected on the lawn in front of the officers' mess. A number of the guests played tennis, and a cricket match, ladies v. gentlemen, was played, Mrs. R. H. Pooley acting as captain for the former, and Captain Foulkes for the men, who played left-handed. The occasion was much enjoyed by all present, and throughout the afternoon the Seaford Cadet pipers furnished musical numbers which were much appreciated.

SAANICH ASSESSMENT.

To the Editor: I was pleased to note in your paper that it is the intention of Saanich council to reduce the tax rate by one mill this year, the explanation being that by equalizing the assessment they are in a position to reduce the rate. In the equalization of the assessment they have increased the assessment for 1914 by over $3,000,000, and this increase has been made in one of the worst years since the municipality was instituted. It would have been just as easy to equalize the assessment and still left it at $17,000,000, as there must have been a considerable number of cases where there was a reduction in the market value since last year. One thing I am certain of, and that is that the present market value of the land contained in Saanich is not $20,000,000. The reason as far as I can see for the increase this year is simply an endeavor to increase the borrowing powers of Saanich, and as such it is not an honest increase in value. Why I am quite willing to sell my property to the municipality for a smaller sum than I am assessed.

It is now over six months since the present council was elected and the principle of returning a full ticket to the council has not proved a success. At the present time there are hundreds of working men in Saanich practically on the verge of starvation and not a spade has yet been turned

In connection with installation of water and sewers. It will be months yet before the council will be in a position to begin outside operations.

I think the time has now arrived for a division of Saanich into several municipalities. We have the example of Oak Bay and Esquimalt, two thriving municipalities. If those parts of Saanich adjacent to the city had been one municipality we would have had a start already made with the installation of water, etc. We would not have had to consider the farming districts at all, and if left to manage themselves I am sure it will work out to better advantage for them. The interests of the farming districts and the districts close to Victoria are vastly different and I see no reason why the development of the last mentioned districts should be hindered by the farming districts.

I am well aware that the act relating to the formation of municipalities would have to be amended, that is so far as the number of acres constituting a municipality is concerned, but I have no doubt that if the question of forming a separate municipality received strong support it would not be a difficult matter to have the act amended.

We have in each ward an assessment of roughly $3,000,000, and if two or three wards were formed into another municipality a ten mill rate would raise from $60,000 to $90,000. This sum would be sufficient to carry on the general business of the municipality.

I would suggest that public meetings be held in say Wards 1, 2 and 7, or, better still, that the ward associations should arrange meetings in each of those wards. This is a matter which should receive the attention of all taxpayers, whether in favor of the present council or not.

SEPARATE MUNICIPALITY.

Mt. Tolmie, July 21.

It was the hour of the spelling lesson, and the teacher was pronouncing the words while the small persons in front of her laboriously wrote them down. According to the usual custom she called for volunteers to define each word as it was written down. "Lunch," she said. "Now, who can tell me what 'Lunch' means?" There was a long period of silence, then a hand went up. "Well, Johnny, you may tell us what lunch is." "A lunch," said Johnny, "is what you have for dinner when your father is away."

At the conclusion of his address, a hearty vote of thanks was extended to Councillor Williams, not only for his address, but also for the efforts he has been using in the council in behalf of Ward III.

It was pointed out that the scheme, as devised, would supply all of Wards 2 and 7 and parts of Wards 4 and 1. The ratepayers present felt that after the wards provided for had received their water, they would not be prepared to listen to the request of Ward III for similar provision, and the present was considered the opportune time to press the needs of Ward III forward.

In the end a committee was named to wait upon the council at its next meeting to enter a protest against the omission of the ward from the plans, and failing to get consideration for it, to take up the question of seceding from the municipality.

The members of this committee are Messrs. A. H. Pooley, C. B. Schweagers, Hobbs, Butler and Winslow.

RATEPAYERS PROTEST

Ward III, Saanich, Objects to Being Responsible for Cost of Water Scheme Unless It Benefits.

Ratepayers of Ward III, Saanich, met in Cadboro Bay schoolhouse last evening to discuss the water and paving schemes, with Mr. Hobbs in the chair.

Objection was voiced to the ratepayers of that ward being made responsible for their share of the cost of these undertakings when they are not going to benefit by them, so far as the present plans go. Secession was talked of by some of the speakers if the ward is not included in the scheme, it being argued that as a suburban ward it was most important that it should have a water supply.

Councillor Williams, who attended, addressed the ratepayers, explaining the scope and details of the proposed system. There were difficulties to be met in such a large undertaking, but Ward III should have attention. Small systems could be created under the local improvement scheme but legislation was lacking for the provision of a system for a large area, such as the municipality. The ratepayers of the ward had a right to ask that water be provided.

At the conclusion of his address, a hearty vote of thanks was extended to Councillor Williams, not only for his address, but also for the efforts he has been using in the council in behalf of Ward III.

It was pointed out that the scheme, as devised, would supply all of Wards 2 and 7 and parts of Wards 4 and 1. SMOKE BELLEW

By Jack London

10.—A FLUTTER IN EGGS

It was in the A. C. Company's big store at Dawson that Lucille Arral beckoned Smoke Bellew over to the dry goods counter.

Smoke obeyed her with alacrity. The man did not exist in Dawson who would not have been flattered by the notice of Lucille Arral, the singing soubrette of the tiny stock company that performed nightly at the Palace Opera House.

"Things are dead," she complained, with pretty petulance. "There hasn't been a stampede for a week. There's no dust in circulation. There's always standing room now at the Opera House. And there hasn't been a mail from the Outside for two whole weeks. In short, this burg has crawled into its cave and gone to sleep. We've got to do something. It needs living—and you and I can do it. I've broken with Wild Water, you know."

Smoke caught two almost simultaneous visions. One was of Joy Gastell, the other was of himself, in the midst of a bleak snow-stretch, under a cold arctic moon, being pot-shot with accuracy and despatch by the afore-said Wild Water. Smoke's reluctance at raising excitement with the aid of Lucille Arral was too potent for her to miss.

"I'm not thinking what you are thinking at all, thank you, she chided, with a laugh and a pout. "Take it from me, Mr. Smoke Bellew, I'm not going to make love to you, and if you dare to make love to me, Wild Water will take care of your case. You know him. Besides, I-I haven't really broken with him. Wild Water thinks I've broken with him, don't you see?"

"Well, have you, or haven't you?" "I haven't," she said. "But it's between you and me in confidence."

"Where do I come in, stalking horse or fall-guy?"

"Neither. You make a pot of money, we put across the laugh on Wild Water and cheer Dawson up, and, best of all and the reason for it all, he gets disciplined. He needs it. He's well, the best way to put it, is, he's too turbulent. He broke out last night again. Sowed the floor of the M. & M. with gold-rust. All of a thousand dollars. You've heard of it, of course."

"Yes; this morning. But still I don't get you."

"Listen. He was too turbulent. I broke our engagement, and he's going around making a noise like a broken heart. Now we come to it. I like eggs."

"But what have eggs and appetite got to do with it?" Smoke demanded. "Everything. I like eggs. There's only a limited supply of eggs in Dawson."

"Sure. Slavovitch's restaurant has most of them. Ham and one egg, three dollars. Ham and two eggs, five dollars. That means two dollars an egg, retail."

"He likes eggs, too," she continued. "But that's not the point. I like them. I have breakfast every morning at 11 o'clock at Slavovitch's. I invariably eat two eggs. She paused impressively. "Suppose, just suppose, somebody corners eggs."

She waited and Smoke regarded her with admiring eyes, while in his heart he backed with approval Wild Water's choice of her.

"You're not following," she said. "Go on," he replied. "I give up. What's the answer?"

"Stupid! You know Wild Water. When he sees I'm languishing for eggs, and I know his mind like a book, and I know how to languish, what will he do? Why, he'll just start stampeding for the man that's got the corner in eggs. He'll buy the corner, no matter what it costs."

"Picture: I come into Slavovitch's at 11 o'clock. Wild Water will be at the next table. He'll make it his business to be there. "Two eggs, sirred," I'll say to the waiter. "They ain't no more eggs." Then up speaks Wild Water, in that big bear voice of his, "Waiter, six eggs, soft boiled." And the waiter says, "Yes, sir," and the eggs are brought. Picture: Wild Water looks sideways at me, and I look like a particularly indignant icicle and summon the waiter. "Sorry, Miss Arral," he says. "They ain't no more eggs." You see, Miss, he owns 'em. Picture: Wild Water, triumphant, doing his best to look unconscious while he eats his six eggs.

"Another picture: Slavovitch himself bringing two shirred eggs to me and saying, 'Compliments of Mr. Wild Water, Miss.' What can I do? What can I possibly do but smile at Wild Water, and then we make up of course, and he'll consider it cheap if he has been compelled to pay ten dollars for each and every egg in the corner."

"Go on, go on," Smoke urged. "At what station do I cling onto the choo-choo cars, or at what water-tank do I get thrown off?"

"Ninny! You make that corner in eggs. You start in immediately, to-day. You can buy every egg in Dawson for three dollars and sell out to Wild Water at almost any advance. And then, afterward, we'll let the inside history come out. The laugh will be on Wild Water. His turbulence will be some subdued. You and I share the glory of it. You make a pile of money. And Dawson wakes up with a grand ha! ha!"

high livin', you go an' buy your own eggs."

"I am going to buy, but I want you to help me to buy. You go right straight to Slavovitch's. Pay as high as three dollars, but buy all he's got. "Three dollars!" Smoke groaned. "An' I heard tell only yesterday that he's got all of seven hundred in stock! Twenty-one hundred dollars for hen-fruits! Say, Smoke, I'd sure do anything for you. If you had a cold in the head an' was layin' with both arms broke, I'd set by your bedside, day an' night, an' wipe your nose for you. But I'll be everlastin' damned if I'll squander twenty-one hundred good iron dollars on hen-fruits for you or any other two-legged man."

"They're not your dollars, but mine, Smoke. It's a deal I have on. What's after is to corner every blessed egg in Dawson. In the Klondike, on the Yukon. You've got to help me out. I haven't the time to tell you of the inwardness of the deal. I will afterward, and let you go half on it if you want to. But the thing right now is to get the eggs. Now you hustle up to Slavovitch's and buy all he's got. And then keep on; nose out every egg in Dawson and buy it. Understand? Buy it!"

Never was a market cornered more quickly. In three days every known egg in Dawson, with the exception of several dozen, were in the hands of Smoke and Shorty.

The several dozen not yet gathered in were in the hands of two persons. One, with whom Shorty was dealing, was an Indian woman who lived in a cabin on the hill back of the hospital.

"I'll get her to-day," Shorty announced next morning. "I'll be back in a jiffy, if I don't bust myself a-shovin' dust at her."

In the afternoon, when Smoke returned to the cabin, he found Shorty. "What luck?" Shorty asked, carefully, after several minutes had passed.

"Nothing doing," Smoke answered. "How did you get on with the squaw?" Shorty cocked his head triumphantly toward a tin pall of eggs on the table. "Seven dollars a clatter, though," he confessed.

"I offered ten dollars finally," Smoke said, "and then the fellow told me he'd already sold his eggs. Now that looks bad, Shorty. Somebody else is in the market. Those twenty-eight eggs are liable to cause us trouble. You see, the success of the corner consists in holding every last—"

He broke off to stare at his partner. A pronounced change was coming over Shorty—one of agitation marked by extreme deliberation. "Do you mind kindly just repeating over how many eggs you said the man didn't sell to you?" he asked.

"Twenty-eight."

"Hum," Shorty commenced to himself. "They're just exactly, precisely, nor nothing more or anything less'n twenty-eight eggs in that tin pall sittin' on the table, an' they cost every dangled last one of 'em, just exactly seven great big round iron dollars a throw. If you stand in cryin' need of any further items of information, I'm willin' and free to impart."

"Go on," Smoke requested.

"Well, that keezer you was dickerin' with is a big buck Indian. Am I right?" Smoke nodded, and continued to nod to each question.

"He's got one cheek half gone where a bald-face grizzly swatted him. Am I right? He's a dog-trader—right, eh? His name is Scar-Face Jim. That's so, ain't it? D'ye get my drift?"

"You mean we've been bidding—"

"Against each other. Sure thing. That squaw's his wife, an' they keep house on the hill back of the hospital. I could 'a' got them eggs for two a throw if you hadn't butted in. "And so could I," Smoke laughed, "if you'd kept out. But it doesn't amount to anything. We know that we've got the corner. That's the big thing. "Shorty spent the next hour wrestling with a stub of a pencil on the margin of a three-year-old newspaper.

"There she stands," he said at last. "Lemme give you the totals. You an' me has right now in our possession exactly nine hundred an' seventy-three eggs. They cost us exactly two thousand six hundred an' sixty dollars. If we stick up Wild Water for ten dollars a egg we stand to win, clean net an' all to the good, just exactly six thousand nine hundred and seventy dollars."

At eleven that night Smoke was routed from sound sleep by Shorty.

"I just seen Slavovitch. He says to me: 'Shorty, want to speak to you about them eggs. I've kept it quiet. Nobody knows I sold 'em to you. But if you're speculatin', I can put you wise to a good thing.' An' he did, too, Smoke."

"Well, maybe it sounds incredible, but that good thing was Wild Water. Charley. He's lookin' to buy eggs. He goes around to Slavovitch an' offers him five dollars an egg, an' before he quits he's offerin' eight. An' Slavovitch ain't got no eggs. Last thing Wild Water says to Slavovitch is that he'll beat the market, him if he ever finds out Slavovitch has eggs cached away somewhere. Slavovitch had to tell 'em he'd sold the eggs, but that the buyer was secret."

"Slavovitch says to let him say the word to Wild Water who's got the eggs. 'Shorty,' he says to me, 'Wild Water'll come a-runnin'. You can hold him up for eight dollars.' 'Eight dollars your granddaddy,' I says. 'He'll fall for ten before I'm done with him.' Anyway, I told Slavovitch I'd think it over and let him know in the mornin'. Of course we'll let 'em pass the word on to Wild Water. Am I right?"

"You certainly are, Shorty. First thing in the morning tip off Slavovitch. Have him tell Wild Water that you and I are partners in the deal."

In the morning Smoke chanced upon Lucille Arral again at the dry goods counter of the A. C. store.

"It's working," he jubilated. "It's working. Wild Water's been around to Slavovitch, trying to buy or bully eggs out of him. And by this time Slavovitch has told him that Shorty and I own the corner."

Lucille Arral's eyes sparkled with delight. "I'm going to breakfast right now," she cried. "And I'll ask the waiter for eggs, and be so plaintive when there aren't any as to melt a heart of stone. And you know Wild Water's heart is anything but stone. He'll buy the corner if it costs him one of his mibes. Hold out for a stiff figure. Nothing less than ten dollars will satisfy me, and if you sell for anything less, Smoke, I'll never forgive you."

That noon, up in their cabin, Shorty placed on the table a pot of beans, a pot of coffee, a smoking platter of moose-meat and bacon, a plate of stewed dried peaches, and called: "Grab's ready."

Smoke opened the door for a breath of frosty air, and saw something that made him close the door hurriedly and dash to the stove. The frying-pan, still hot from the moose-meat and bacon, he put back on the front lid. Into the frying-pan he put a generous dab of butter, then reached for an egg, which he broke and dropped spluttering into the pan. As he reached for a second egg, Shorty gained his side and clutched his arm in an excited grip.

"Hey! What you doin'?" he demanded. "Frying eggs," Smoke informed him, breaking the second one and throwing off Shorty's detaining hand. "Get out of the way, Shorty. Wild Water's coming up the hill, and he'll be here in five minutes."

Shorty sat down at the table. By the time the expected knock came at the door, Smoke was facing him across the table, and, before each, was a plate containing three hot fried eggs.

"Come in!" Smoke called.

Wild Water Charley, a strapping young giant, entered and shook hands. "Set down an' have a bite, Wild Water," Shorty invited. "Smoke, fry him some eggs. I'll bet he ain't scoffed at an egg in a coon's age."

Smoke broke three more eggs into the hot pan, and in several minutes placed them before his guest, who looked at them with so strange and strained an expression that Shorty confessed afterwards his fear that Wild Water would slip them into his pocket and carry them away.

"Say, them swells down in the States ain't got nothin' over us in the matter of eatin'," Shorty gloated. "Here's you an' me an' Smoke gettin' outside hard and fast corner, and when we sell out it's the whole corner or nothing."

"How many have you got, and how much do you want for them?"

"How many have we got, Shorty?" Smoke inquired.

Shorty cleared his throat and performed mental arithmetic aloud. "Lemme see. Nine hundred an' seventy-three minus nine, that leaves nine hundred an' sixty-two. An' the whole shootin'-match, at ten a throw, will tote up just about nine thousand six hundred an' twenty iron dollars. Of course, Wild Water, we're playin' fair, an' it's money back for bad ones, though they ain't none. That's one thing I never seen in the Klondike—a bad egg."

Wild Water shook his head sadly and helped himself to the beans. "That would be too expensive, Shorty. I only want a few. I'll give you ten dollars for a couple of dozen. I'll give you twenty—but I can't buy 'em all."

"All or none," was Smoke's ultimatum.

"Look here, you two," Wild Water said in a burst of confidence. "I'll be perfectly honest with you, an' don't let it go any further. You know Miss Arral an' I was engaged. Well, she's broken everything off. It's for her I want them eggs. I want to give them to her, on a platter, shirred—that's the way she likes 'em."

"Do you want 'em ninety-six hundred an' twenty dollars' worth?" Shorty queried.

"Aw, listen to reason," Wild Water pleaded. "I only want a couple of dozen. I'll give you twenty apiece for 'em. What do I want with all the rest of them eggs?"

"I should say Miss Arral's worth the price of the eggs," Smoke put in quietly.

Wild Water beamed in a still lower voice. "Shir 'em up and present 'em to Miss Arral there."

"I'll attend to it personally myself," Slavovitch assured him.

"An' don't forget—compliments of me," Wild Water concluded, relaxing his detaining clutch on the proprietor's shoulder.

Pretty Lucille Arral was gazing formally at the strip of breakfast bacon and the tin of mashed potatoes on her plate when Slavovitch placed before her two shirred eggs.

"Compliments of Mr. Wild Water," they at the next table heard him say.

Smoke acknowledged to himself that it was a fine bit of acting—the quick, joyous flash in the face of her, the impulsive turn of the head, the spontaneously fore-runner of a smile that was only checked by a superb self-control which resolutely drew her face back so that she could say something to the restaurant proprietor.

Smoke felt the kick of Wild Water's moccasined foot under the table. "Will she eat 'em?—that's the question—will she eat 'em?" the latter whispered agonizingly.

And with sidelong glances they saw Lucille Arral hesitate, almost push the dish from her, then surrender to its lure.

"I'll take them eggs," Wild Water said to Smoke. "The contract holds. Did you see her? Did you see her? She almost smiled. I know her. It's all fixed. Two more eggs to-morrow an' she'll forgive an' make up. If she wasn't here I'd shake hands, Smoke. I'm that grateful. You ain't a robber; you're a philanthropist."

Wild Water gasped. "You're already swift with business up here on the hill," he said, with a hint of a snarl.

"We're only accepting your own proposition," Smoke answered.

Smoke wrote the document, wherein Wild Water agreed to take every egg delivered to him at ten dollars per egg, provided that the two dozen advanced to him brought about a reconciliation with Lucille Arral.

Wild Water paused, with uplifted pen, as he was about to sign. "Hold on," he said. "When I buys eggs I buy good eggs. If I find one bad egg you've got to come back with the ten I paid for it."

"That's all right," Smoke placated. "It's only fair."

Smoke inserted the word "good" in the contract, and Wild Water sullenly signed, received the trial two dozen in a tin pall, pulled on his mittens, and opened the door.

"Good-by, you robbers," he growled back at them, and slammed the door.

"Worth it!" Wild Water stood up in the heat of his eloquence. "She's worth a million dollars. She's worth all the dust in Klondike. But that ain't no call for me to gamble ten thousand dollars on a breakfast for her. Now I've got a proposition. Lend me a couple of dozen of them eggs. I'll turn 'em over to Slavovitch. He'll feed 'em to her with my compliments. She ain't smiled to me for a hundred years. If them eggs get a smile for me, I'll take the whole boiling off your hands."

"Will you sign a contract to that effect?" Smoke said quickly; for he knew that Lucille Arral had agreed to smile.

Wild Water gasped. "You're already swift with business up here on the hill," he said, with a hint of a snarl.

Wild Water paused, with uplifted pen, as he was about to sign. "Hold on," he said. "When I buys eggs I buy good eggs. If I find one bad egg you've got to come back with the ten I paid for it."

"That's all right," Smoke placated. "It's only fair."

Smoke inserted the word "good" in the contract, and Wild Water sullenly signed, received the trial two dozen in a tin pall, pulled on his mittens, and opened the door.

"Good-by, you robbers," he growled back at them, and slammed the door.

"Worth it!" Wild Water stood up in the heat of his eloquence. "She's worth a million dollars. She's worth all the dust in Klondike. But that ain't no call for me to gamble ten thousand dollars on a breakfast for her. Now I've got a proposition. Lend me a couple of dozen of them eggs. I'll turn 'em over to Slavovitch. He'll feed 'em to her with my compliments. She ain't smiled to me for a hundred years. If them eggs get a smile for me, I'll take the whole boiling off your hands."

"Will you sign a contract to that effect?" Smoke said quickly; for he knew that Lucille Arral had agreed to smile.

Wild Water gasped. "You're already swift with business up here on the hill," he said, with a hint of a snarl.

"We're only accepting your own proposition," Smoke answered.

Smoke wrote the document, wherein Wild Water agreed to take every egg delivered to him at ten dollars per egg, provided that the two dozen advanced to him brought about a reconciliation with Lucille Arral.

ous fore-runner of a smile that was only checked by a superb self-control which resolutely drew her face back so that she could say something to the restaurant proprietor.

Smoke felt the kick of Wild Water's moccasined foot under the table. "Will she eat 'em?—that's the question—will she eat 'em?" the latter whispered agonizingly.

And with sidelong glances they saw Lucille Arral hesitate, almost push the dish from her, then surrender to its lure.

"I'll take them eggs," Wild Water said to Smoke. "The contract holds. Did you see her? Did you see her? She almost smiled. I know her. It's all fixed. Two more eggs to-morrow an' she'll forgive an' make up. If she wasn't here I'd shake hands, Smoke. I'm that grateful. You ain't a robber; you're a philanthropist."

"What a book it is! No other book in the world can fit itself to your needs, to your temptations, your cares and wants."—Robert J. Burdette.

FAITH AND FORGIVING.

By Dr. Candier, Bishop Methodist Episcopal Church, South.

There is a vital connection between faith and forgiveness. To have greatness of mind one must have greatness of heart. Bunyan rightly called his hero of faith, "Great Heart."

Joseph's brethren behaved most deplorably towards him when they sold him to the Ishmaelites; but how magnanimously he bore himself towards them when later he made himself known to them in Egypt! "Now therefore be not grieved, nor angry with yourselves, that ye sold me hither; for God did send me before you to preserve life."

These true and strong words are especially applicable to the Bible, which, by pre-eminence is called "The Book." Every student of life and literature, whatever his religious opinions may be, ought to be deeply interested in the Bible. It is a book of greater antiquity than any other; and it exercises a more potent influence on thought and life than any other book.

It commands the love and evokes the hostility of more people than any other volume in the world. It comes to us with the loftiest pretensions, and it demands for its message our absolute acceptance. It is the only unexhausted and inexhaustible book in the world.

As the intelligence of its readers enlarges, so does its significance enlarge and its beauty increase. In itself and in its history it is the mightiest force in literature.

"Its constructive ideas (the Bible's) are as far above those of the other books of religion as the heavens are above the earth."—Washington Gladden.

THE GOSPEL OF PROGRESS. By Archbishop John Ireland.

The divine purpose in the creation and the preservation of the universe is man. We become God-like in action when we work for man. God, indeed, must ever be the supreme end of our willing and our doing. Direct homage is due to the majesty of God, and this homage God demands from us.

But he demands that we serve our fellow-men, and the first commandment of the law makes religion to consist in the service of God and in the service of man. Christianity, the historic manifestation of the Eternal Mind, makes work for humanity a fundamental principle of religion. "Amen, amen, I say to you: as long as you did."

THE PURPOSE OF THE BIBLE. By William Fraser McDowell, Bishop Methodist Episcopal Church.

The Bible has sometimes been thought chiefly a text book of theology or of formal ethics, or an infallible account of the universe, or a repository of inspired information about all sorts of subjects. To be sure it does touch many subjects, but the chief subject is the redemption of human life from evil. It is not chiefly a history of creation, nor of the early nations, nor even of the Jews; it is chiefly a history of the divine movement for human redemption.

And its purpose is to reveal God as the Redeemer, or to record His working in the world for its redemption. Many things we may ask of the Bible, but we must ask that it shall guide us to God. And this it does. It fulfills its purpose. No one who sincerely tries fails to find in its pages the way to the Redeemer. The Bible does not pretend to be a text book on all conceivable subjects, but it is a text book on getting out of Egypt into Canaan, or out of bondage into freedom, or out of a wrong into a right life. It is rich in information and inspiration on many matters related to all this, but it is supreme in this matter of the redemption of human life from destruction.

Wendell Phillips was once asked to omit the last paragraph of one of his great anti-slavery speeches as a condition of having the speech published. The flaming orator replied: "I cannot do it. I wrote the whole speech just to say that." So the whole Bible was written to say that and the Son of Man is come to seek and to save that which is lost."

THE INFLUENCE OF THE BIBLE. By Robert Stuart MacArthur, D.D., LL.D., President Baptist World Alliance.

The influence of the Bible on literature is worthy of the most careful consideration. Solomon said, "Of making many books there is no end"; were he living now he would write that sentence in large capitals. As well might you submit to having every man you meet on crowded thoroughfares take you by the buttonhole as have every book published arrest your attention. There are, however, certain classics that every well-informed man should read. There are works of history, science, art, and fiction which all intelligent men must read. The books that are like "the tree of life which bare twelve manner of fruits, and yielded her fruit every month; and the leaves of the tree were for the healing of the nations," will survive.

There is in literature a law of "the survival of the fittest." The worst portions of Byron and Shelley practically will be unread as the years multiply; only their nobler parts will endure. A good book is a wonderful product of brain and heart. Milton uttered a great truth when he said, "Books are not absolutely dead things, but do contain a progeny of life in them; to be as active as that soul whose progeny they are; nay, they do preserve as in a vial the purest efficacy and extraction of that living intellect that bred them. A good book is the precious life-blood of a master-spirit, embalmed and treasured up on purpose to a life beyond life."

These true and strong words are especially applicable to the Bible, which, by pre-eminence is called "The Book." Every student of life and literature, whatever his religious opinions may be, ought to be deeply interested in the Bible. It is rich in information and inspiration on many matters related to all this, but it is supreme in this matter of the redemption of human life from destruction.

Wendell Phillips was once asked to omit the last paragraph of one of his great anti-slavery speeches as a condition of having the speech published. The flaming orator replied: "I cannot do it. I wrote the whole speech just to say that." So the whole Bible was written to say that and the Son of Man is come to seek and to save that which is lost."

THE INFLUENCE OF THE BIBLE. By Robert Stuart MacArthur, D.D., LL.D., President Baptist World Alliance.

The influence of the Bible on literature is worthy of the most careful consideration. Solomon said, "Of making many books there is no end"; were he living now he would write that sentence in large capitals. As well might you submit to having every man you meet on crowded thoroughfares take you by the buttonhole as have every book published arrest your attention. There are, however, certain classics that every well-informed man should read. There are works of history, science, art, and fiction which all intelligent men must read. The books that are like "the tree of life which bare twelve manner of fruits, and yielded her fruit every month; and the leaves of the tree were for the healing of the nations," will survive.

There is in literature a law of "the survival of the fittest." The worst portions of Byron and Shelley practically will be unread as the years multiply; only their nobler parts will endure. A good book is a wonderful product of brain and heart. Milton uttered a great truth when he said, "Books are not absolutely dead things, but do contain a progeny of life in them; to be as active as that soul whose progeny they are; nay, they do preserve as in a vial the purest efficacy and extraction of that living intellect that bred them. A good book is the precious life-blood of a master-spirit, embalmed and treasured up on purpose to a life beyond life."

These true and strong words are especially applicable to the Bible, which, by pre-eminence is called "The Book." Every student of life and literature, whatever his religious opinions may be, ought to be deeply interested in the Bible. It is a book of greater antiquity than any other; and it exercises a more potent influence on thought and life than any other book.

It commands the love and evokes the hostility of more people than any other volume in the world. It comes to us with the loftiest pretensions, and it demands for its message our absolute acceptance. It is the only unexhausted and inexhaustible book in the world.

As the intelligence of its readers enlarges, so does its significance enlarge and its beauty increase. In itself and in its history it is the mightiest force in literature.

"Its constructive ideas (the Bible's) are as far above those of the other books of religion as the heavens are above the earth."—Washington Gladden.

THE GOSPEL OF PROGRESS. By Archbishop John Ireland.

The divine purpose in the creation and the preservation of the universe is man. We become God-like in action when we work for man. God, indeed, must ever be the supreme end of our willing and our doing. Direct homage is due to the majesty of God, and this homage God demands from us.

But he demands that we serve our fellow-men, and the first commandment of the law makes religion to consist in the service of God and in the service of man. Christianity, the historic manifestation of the Eternal Mind, makes work for humanity a fundamental principle of religion. "Amen, amen, I say to you: as long as you did."

THE PURPOSE OF THE BIBLE. By William Fraser McDowell, Bishop Methodist Episcopal Church.

The Bible has sometimes been thought chiefly a text book of theology or of formal ethics, or an infallible account of the universe, or a repository of inspired information about all sorts of subjects. To be sure it does touch many subjects, but the chief subject is the redemption of human life from evil. It is not chiefly a history of creation, nor of the early nations, nor even of the Jews; it is chiefly a history of the divine movement for human redemption.

And its purpose is to reveal God as the Redeemer, or to record His working in the world for its redemption. Many things we may ask of the Bible, but we must ask that it shall guide us to God. And this it does. It fulfills its purpose. No one who sincerely tries fails to find in its pages the way to the Redeemer. The Bible does not pretend to be a text book on all conceivable subjects, but it is a text book on getting out of Egypt into Canaan, or out of bondage into freedom, or out of a wrong into a right life. It is rich in information and inspiration on many matters related to all this, but it is supreme in this matter of the redemption of human life from destruction.

Wendell Phillips was once asked to omit the last paragraph of one of his great anti-slavery speeches as a condition of having the speech published. The flaming orator replied: "I cannot do it. A Tale of the Charlottes

Forty Years Ago; An Unusual Record

Interesting Reminiscences Gleaned from Diaries of Late Thos. Russell, former city assessor.

Hardships of Travel in Earlier Days

While the late Thomas Russell was in the Queen Charlotte Islands during the winter of 1870-1, as superintendent of the Queen Charlotte Islands Coal Mining company, he came frequently into contact with the Indians, and in the diary which he kept during his stay on the islands he makes mention of them often.

Like all who had to do with the natives of this coast Mr. Russell found them far from being the angels that they were considered by maudlin friends of the class which belonged to the Aborigines Protection Society which had been expressing to Governor Douglas some years before this time their ideas of how the Indians in this part of the world should be treated. They were inveterate liars and thieves, boastful and braggarts, and without any sense of honor or principle. Occasionally he came across one of the chiefs who was somewhat better than the others, as when he chronicled on November 8, 1870, a visit from one of the Gold Harbor chiefs thus:

"Had a call from Capt. Scotchguy today. He arriving from Gold Harbor last night. He is chief of the Gold Harbor tribe. His papers give him a very good character, and I should say that he is deserving of it from his looks. He appears to be a good-natured happy soul, always laughing, and it is quite refreshing to meet an Indian of this description. He speaks Chinook very indifferently. When speaking of himself he always uses the first personal pronoun both in English and Chinook—nikka, me—and I presume he thinks he cannot express it too clearly, so gives it in both forms. I think he is about 35 and his present wife about 15. He has a grown-up family by his first wife, but no issue as yet by the second, who nevertheless has a half-breed baby about three months old." Later on in the diary Mr. Russell speaks of Scotchguy as talking away by the hour, but leaving him as wise as when he began. He jumbled up Haida, Chinook, and English in such a way that Mr. Russell often wondered if he knew himself what he was saying.

Several days after the first call Capt. Scotchguy invited Mr. Russell to attend a dance and feast which he was giving to his friends, and in describing this Mr. Russell wrote: "When I arrived I was shown to a seat next to mine host, which was not outside of the square with a stick in his hand; he was the conductor and beat time for them. The music to my mind only makes a din but the singing is very beautiful. The men and women kept such time that it was really worth hearing. The females were placed at the far end of the hut and hidden from view by a sheet being hung up in front of them."

"Shortly after I entered the dancers arrived at the door and gave a whoop. The band and singing began and the dancers entered, headed by a naked man and a boy. These two crawled round and round the fire and twisted their features into all kind of shapes. The others were dressed in all sorts of costume but all had feathers in their hair. This was kept up for ten minutes when the two nude gentlemen made their exit, to reappear in about five minutes dressed. The man wore a mask which stood about six inches above the head, with a cavity on top filled with small feathers so that every time he shook his head a quantity flew out and all over the hut. As soon as he reappeared the singing and band struck up again, and he took his place in the centre of the square and danced away until the perspiration rolled off him. There was another intermission of five minutes when dancing was resumed by another Indian and kept up for an hour. After this the boys formed themselves into a square and danced for half an hour. This completed the ball part of the entertainment and next came the feast.

"One peculiarity I observed in this was that neither the chief who was giving the feast, the members of his family, the women nor the young people partook of the muck-muck, only the chiefs, old men, band and dancers. The first course was boiled potatoes straight. Captain Gold, being the greatest chief present, was served first and with the greater quantity. His dish was a washbasin. The vessels chiefly used at this feast were hand basins and slop pails.

"After they had eaten a quantity of these potatoes a bucket of water was handed round and each took a drink. The potatoes remaining in the several vessels were removed to the respective huts of the guests, emptied out and the vessels brought back and placed ready for the second course, which consisted of biscuit and molasses. The biscuits were put in first and then a man came along with a tin and poured the molasses over them. I declined the molasses, preferring the biscuit straight, as the tin looked suspicious. The fragments of this course were treated the same as the first. A piece of tobacco, about two ounces, was handed to each, they filled their pipes, took a smoke and then their departure, without saying good night but like so many beasts that had turned out to feed and were now returning to their lair."

Mr. Russell had several calls from time to time from Captain Gold, one of the chiefs of the tribes of the Haida nation, living at Gold Harbor, and his "queen." He describes the chief as a great boor, eternally begging for something and blowing his own trumpet. Gold owned that he was the rightful owner of the land held by the Queen Charlotte Coal Mining company, that he was paid the least of all the chiefs and therefore that he still had a claim against the company. Several times Mr. Russell had refused to look at the papers which Gold offered him to read, and of which he had quite a collection from various people with whom he had come in contact.

Finally he asked the chief to let him see the papers. One of these was from Mr. Robinson, who settled the Indian claims for the company, and this clearly showed that Gold had no claim upon the lands whatever. Robinson based his assertion on the information he was given by the other chiefs and Mr. Russell took it that therefore it must be correct. He explained this to Gold and told him that the company had given him fifteen blankets as a cultus potlatch, because he was a minor chief. He asked if this was the tenor of the paper, and when told that it was he got quite furious, threatened to burn the paper, said the other Indians were all liars and no better than dogs, but that he was the same as a white man and would not lie or steal. Mr. Russell sums up his own view in few words: "In my opinion the Indians have no veracity, and as to thieving, a red-hot stove would not be too heavy for Captain Gold." I did not tell him this, however, but simply that if there was any mistake it did not rest with Mr. Robinson nor the company but with the Indians.

Gold had a very flattering letter from Mr. Trowne, who had been superintendent of works for the company when its building and works were first installed. Of this document Mr. Russell says: "Had been lord of the Highlands he could not have said more of him than he has done; quite a mistake, as it is apt to mislead the unsuspecting stranger. It appears from all I can learn from Captain Gold and the other Indians that Trowne told them that he was the owner of the mine, that he possessed a large stone house in Victoria, that his social standing was next to the governor of the colony and that his father was a large ship-owner, one of whose ships was to be sent here for coal and that it would carry hither a cargo of ikkas (goods) to be distributed amongst the Indians as a cultus potlatch, Gold to receive the largest quantity, and that the said ship would have four masts. I explained to him that Mr. Trowne was merely a servant of the company whilst he was here, and that he was not quite such a 'big bug' as he professed to be; also that I had no doubt when his father's ship with the four masts arrives they will get a big potlatch, but when she would come I could not tell. I assured him that the company had no intentions of giving a potlatch, and that Trowne had no authority to insinuate that it would do so. He asked me to give him a paper, which I did."

This paper, which doubtless Captain Gold treasured as a certificate of character—but not of the kind he would have cared for—is quoted by Mr. Russell in his diary. It bears on its face the stamp of truth, but it is to be feared that he was one of the very few who stated facts in such a document, and thus avoided misleading others. Through the record of his six months' stay in the island there are frequent instances of his finding that the "characters" given by white visitors to the place were not to be depended upon. What he had to say of Gold was as follows:

"The bearer, Captain Gold, a native of Gold Harbor and chief of a portion of that tribe, is a most unmitigated rascal. He is eternally on the 'make' and continually seeking to allure the unwary into the belief that he is a great chief and of a most kindly disposition.

"The King George men, as he terms the whites, he asserts are his friends, and that he will always guard them against danger from other Indians. The scoundrel does this in order to enlist the sympathies of those who do not know him and to bring out of them, who you read this among them, what he can. You may go to the devil for all he cares until his insatiable thirst for begging prompts him to return, when he will attempt to twist that cut-throat countenance of his into what he thinks the semblance of the very essence of purity, but ah, beware, for he is an oily dog."

"He takes a great pride in presenting his papers to all newcomers, and at such times puts on a most majestic air, and expects you to pull off your coat and give it to him for the good character he bears through the medium of these papers. Since it has been customary upon such occasions to acknowledge his good qualities by a potlatch give him a gild of tobacco. At the same time impress upon him very forcibly that you give it him not because he requires it but simply because he is such a good man (over the left)."

"In speaking to him of his worthy spouse you must be very careful not to hurt his feelings by calling her a kiootchan. It appears that someone has impressed him with the idea that he is a king, and of course as a necessary consequence his wife is a queen. You must therefore make mention of her as his wife or Queen Gold. I have unwittingly been very remiss. Amongst the captain's good qualities there is one which I have omitted, viz., that he is not by any means a thief. He only appropriates for his own use anything that he can lay his hands upon. He does this in a very delicate manner, always taking great care that he is not observed by other Indians."

"He will tell you that he is not the same as other Indians, that is to say, that he does not lie nor steal (what a liar), nor even proud about at night, but he boldly asserts that the other Indians are like dogs, continually prowling about at night to see what they can pick up."

This was given late in November, 1870, and about ten days later Mr. Russell was taking a Sunday evening walk around the Indian camp when a messenger came to tell him that Captain and Lady Skidegate had arrived from Skidegate Town and wanted to see him. Old Skidegate he always goes on well with when it came to talking, as the chief spoke Chinook pretty fluently. On getting the message he turned back to his house to receive his visitors, of whom he says:

"Captain Skidegate is a very cunning fellow, and requires to be watched very closely. Mrs. Skidegate appears very shy and bashful in the presence of strangers, and in fact it is hardly possible to get her to converse at all, but when no third party is present she can talk enough for half a dozen, and an 'artful dodger' she is. But I know enough of the Indian character not to be caught napping. The captain showed me a letter to-night which was addressed to Richard Edwards, Esq., of Henry Charter and dated July 9, 1870. The substance of the letter was that Charter had sent to Edwards by Captain Gold eight pounds of tobacco and ten pounds of pork. I asked him why he had suppressed the letter so long and how it came into his possession. He said it was left at Skidegate Town for him and was not delivered to him by Charter. Mrs. Skidegate told him that Charter had frequently told her that he intended giving Skidegate a paper of recommendation before leaving, and thinking this letter was such a paper they did not think it worth showing to me but they had shown it at Gumsheewa (Gumsheewa) and there learnt that it referred to Captain Gold."

"I called in Beardsall (one of my men) to see if he could give me any information with regard to the matter. He told me that Charter was one of the men who had gone down to Victoria last July. Being short of provisions here he and the other two engaged Captain Gold to take them to Gumsheewa for provisions and on their return they learnt at Skidegate that the Otter had come for them, so they awaited her return at Skidegate. Charter had then sent Captain Gold on and given him these articles for Edwards, which Gold willingly had forgotten to hand over. My opinion is that Gold and Skidegate divided the stuff between them and suppressed the letter."

"Skidegate was very anxious to get the letter back from me but I told him that it did not belong to him, and as Edwards had worked here for the company it was my duty to forward it to him. He did not seem to mind this very much, and begged that I would not mention the matter to Captain Gold. I told him I would not but what Edwards might do in the matter I could not say."

How English Beauties Keep Faces Youthful

Christian Miller, F. C. I., noted English health expert, attributes the early aging of American women mainly to the "national nervousness." The women of England, she says, can teach us the inestimable lesson of repose.

Another valuable lesson to be learned from the English woman is that she does not go to extremes for cosmetics; the continual use of which must ruin any complexion. The beauty devotees of King George's realm have the mercurized wash, a more wholesome method of keeping the face girlish-looking and healthy. Ordinary mercurized wash, used like rejuvenator, gives the worst complexion. Women here may easily acquire the habit; this was being obtainable at drug stores generally in the United States and Canada. It is applied at night and washed off in the morning. One ounce is sufficient to completely renovate a bad complexion. It has a peculiar action in keeping the face free from the particles of dead and devitalized skin which are constantly appearing.

The chairman (finishing up eulogistic speech): "Our dear old friend here has lived amongst us now, and he says, hopes to live amongst us for many years to come. Gentlemen, I can only add that we are looking forward to burying him here."

Bringing a Dead Man Into Court

To Testify That He Was Not Shot

By A. A. FREEMAN

There is no profession that combines in its experience more of the comic and the melodramatic than that of the law. My story belongs to the latter class.

On the expiration of my term of office as an associate justice of the supreme court of New Mexico, I opened a law office in the city of Socorro, in that territory. I associated with me a young man just admitted to the bar, Mr. Eliseo Baca, who, as he understood and spoke the Spanish and English languages, was a very efficient associate.

Among the first cases brought to us was that of Maximiliano Griego, indicted for the alleged murder of Juan Prieto. The murder was alleged to have been committed in 1886, nine years prior to the finding of the indictment. It wanted but one year to have been barred by the statute of limitation. No reason appeared why the defendant had not been indicted before this time, as he was resident citizen of the county, continuing to reside there from the date of the alleged murder down to the date of his indictment nine years afterwards. The case as developed by the witnesses for the territory was as follows:

In the month of January, 1886, there came to the village of San Pedro, in the county of Socorro, a wandering Mexican minstrel. It was a feast day in San Pedro, held in commemoration of their patron, Saint Peter. It may be said in limbo that there are probably more feast days or festivals in New Mexico than in any other state of the union, that country having been originally explored and settled by the enterprise of Catholic priests. The names of rivers, towns and mountains all bear testimony to the pious endeavors of those devoted men to consecrate the country to the church. Those old Spanish Catholic pioneers were not only religious but poetic. The town of Socorro, the scene of the story I am about to relate, lies at the foot of Socorro mountain, so called for the reason that at a very remote period a number of Spanish settlers, leaving the plains or "vegas," had fled to this mountain as a refuge from a band of murderous Apaches. Hence the mountain was called "Socorro" because it had afforded "succor" to the fugitives.

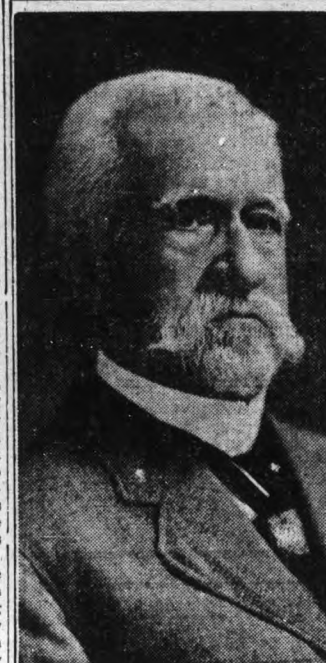

Across a beautiful intervening valley rises the Magdalena mountain, so called because on its precipitous eastern slope there appears the outlines of a woman's face. As the sacred Spanish pioneers looked across the valley and saw gleaming in the morning sun this woman's face, they exclaimed: "It is Mary of Magdalena." Hence the mountain retains the name "Magdalena." I may be permitted to say that while I have made innuendoes to do so, I have never been able to discern those holy features, probably because I did not look with an eye of perfect faith. I have no doubt, however, that the face is there, for I cannot imagine any motive for creating such an imaginary face.

Then we have Las Cruces (The Crosses), San Juan (St. John), Santa Fe (The Holy Faith), San Pedro (St. Peter), etc. New Mexico was originally the home of the saints; it has greatly improved, however, within the last half century. But their nomenclature was not confined to the sacred; they were poetic as well. Names given to places and things were meant to be descriptive. The Rio Bonito (Beautiful River) and the Rio Ruidoso (Noisy River) unite and form the Rio Honda, the deep river. San Pedro, at the date of the transaction of which I am about to relate, was a typical Mexican village. There was neither a brick, stone nor wooden structure in the village. The dwellings consisted of huts constructed of "adobe" (sun-dried blocks of clay), one story in height, and covered by means of joists covered over with brush, on top of which lay a coat of dirt eighteen or twenty inches thick. There were no streets, unless ordinary dirt roads winding in and out leading from one point to another may be called streets. In constructing their houses no regard was paid to the points of the compass. The floors were of dirt—the native clay. These floors were kept nicely swept and to a large extent were covered with home-made rugs or blankets. The walls were white-washed and adorned with pictures of Mary and the Child, the crucifixion and with family portraits. Everything you find in these Mexican homes of the poorer classes indicates cleanliness and righteousness. There is no better housekeeper than the Mexican housewife. It was a feast day in San Pedro, and the whole neighborhood was there. Songs, dances, games, music and wine were the order of the day, and the night.

An important personage was the wandering minstrel of whom I have spoken. The probabilities are that he made himself too important, for early next morning he was found dead on the neighboring bank of the Rio Grande, several wounds having been inflicted on sundry portions of the body, one being on the rear part of the head. A coroner's jury reported that the deceased had come to his death by violence inflicted by some person or persons unknown to the jury; and thus the matter was allowed to rest for nine years.

The Trial. Omitting the details of the trial, which consumed twenty-seven days, the most interesting feature as indicated by the heading of this paper, came about as follows:

The principal witness for the territory, the "star" witness, testified that he resided at San Pedro at the date of the homicide; that he was at home on the day of the festival and the night which followed; that he saw the deceased on that occasion; that very late at night, or probably after midnight, the deceased asked the witness to accompany him in procuring some wine; that he went with deceased to the store where wine was kept and procured the wine for him. Witness then returned to his own home, and in a short while, on going out of his house, he saw deceased sitting in the house of defendant, about midway on the floor; that deceased appeared to be stupid with drink, and sat with his head bent forward supported by his hands, his elbows resting on his knees; that while in this position he saw defendant go around deceased, and approaching him from the rear, place a pistol close to his head and fire, the light in defendant's room being instantly extinguished as the result of the explosion of the pistol. Defendant's house was just across the street or road from that of witness. Witness immediately returned into his own house, and shortly thereafter saw a number of persons enter defendant's house and very soon emerge therefrom bearing somebody wrapped in a white cloth and having the appearance of being about the size and shape of a man.

Two other witnesses testified that on the night in question they saw four or five persons going in the direction of the river which ran close by, bearing something which resembled in size and shape a man; as the object was wrapped they could not identify it as the body of a man. The wife of the star witness testified that on the morning after the homicide, or after the "plastering" her floor, i.e., spreading a thin coat of clay over it, presumably to efface blood stains.

The testimony for the defendant was given by himself, his wife, and two of his neighbors. They testified that they all occupied the same room as a bedroom during the night and that defendant did not leave the room after going to bed at 11 p.m., that the deceased was not in defendant's house during that time, and that there was no shooting in defendant's house that night.

This made a complete issue between the principal witness for the territory on the one side and on the other the defendant, his wife and two friends.

I next introduced three members of the coroner's jury, which was composed of five members; the defendant being one of them. Two of these testified positively that they had examined the wounds of the deceased and that the wound made on the back of the head was not a gunshot wound, but an abrasion that did not penetrate the skull. The defendant, much to my surprise and disgust, was not very positive, but gave it as his best judgment that the wound was not a gunshot. The territory introduced the other two members of the jury, who testified that the skull was penetrated, apparently by a shot.

This being the state of the testimony, the case of our client looked almost hopeless; and I suggested to him the propriety of exhuming the head of the deceased to ascertain if he had been shot as stated by the witness.

The defendant promptly stated his perfect willingness to have it done. But I hesitated about it, for the desecration of a grave I knew to be a felony in New Mexico, and might involve me in a very serious manner.

We went to trial on the testimony, the substance of which I have given, and the jury returned a verdict against the defendant, and he was sentenced to the territorial prison for the term of thirty-five years, which judgment was, on appeal to the supreme court, reversed for errors committed by the trial judge and a new trial ordered.

In my next I will relate how we secured testimony that the murdered man had not been shot.

The college president was entertaining a freshman at dinner, when the conversation turned upon football. To the student's surprise, the president displayed a thorough familiarity with the game, and proceeded to discuss it as earnestly as though it had been Greek or mathematics. Indeed, his treatment of the topic brought out so many points that the freshman had overlooked that the youth was moved to remark to his hostess: "Well, this talk with Professor Blank has showed me how true it is we never meet any one from whom we can't learn something."

TO-DAY IN CANADIAN HISTORY

One hundred years ago to-day a force of British and Canadians from Halifax attacked Fort Sullivan, at Eastport, Maine, and speedily forced its surrender. This was the beginning of a series of attacks on the coast and frontier of Maine which rendered memorable the last year of the war between the United States and Britain. Major-General Sherbrooke, lieutenant-governor of Nova Scotia, had at his command a number of British men-of-war and a small army of regulars. After the capture of Fort Sullivan the British forces took possession of a number of other places in Maine. The fort at Castine was destroyed by its garrison on the approach of the fleet from Halifax. A little later a British force, under Sherbrooke and Griffiths, landed at Buck's Harbor, three miles below Machias, and marched against the fort, which was blown up by the American garrison. As the conflict neared its close the whole great region from Penobscot to the St. Croix was in possession of the British, and Major-General Gerard Gosnell was appointed to govern the province. The Americans offered little resistance to the occupation. It was not until April 25, 1815, four months after the signing of the treaty of peace at Ghent, that the British troops evacuated Castine. Having given up the territory gained in war, the maritime provinces were destined to lose more in peaceful diplomacy. The dispute over the boundary between New Brunswick and Maine almost reached the point of war in 1858. The matter was referred to arbitration and New Brunswick lost the larger and more valuable portion of the disputed territory, while the Dominion of the future was shut off from an Atlantic winter port, and a wedge of American soil was pushed up into the heart of the maritime provinces.

FIRST THINGS

The eleventh of July is a noteworthy date in theatrical history, as marking the birthday in the year 525 B.C., of Aeschylus, the Greek, who was the father of the drama. Aeschylus was a soldier during the Persian invasion, and took part in the battle of Marathon, and later in the historic conflict with the Persians at Salamis. These tremendous events inspired him to seek literary expression in what were the first genuine dramas ever written by man. More than three-score plays came from his brain and hand, but of these only a half-dozen have been preserved. Of these the greatest are the "Prometheus," which is considered by some critics to be the equal of the production of Shakespeare's genius; the "Persians," a patriotic and military drama, and "Agamemnon," which still ranks among the world's dramatic masterpieces. According to legend, the first dramatist met death in a novel and dramatic way. An eagle, flying over a field where the playwright sat plunged in thought, dropped a tortoise which fell on the bard's head and killed him instantly.

FRECKLE-FACE

Sun and Wind Bring Out Ugly Spots. How to Remove Easily.

Here's a chance, Miss Freckle-face, to try a remedy for freckles with the guarantee of a reliable dealer that it will not cost you a penny unless it removes the freckles; while if it does give you a clear complexion the expense is trifling.

Simply get an ounce of othine—double strength from any druggist—and a few applications should show you how easy it is to rid yourself of the homely freckles and get a beautiful complexion. Rarely is more than one ounce needed for the worst case.

Be sure to ask the druggist for the double strength othine as this is the prescription sold under guarantee of money back if it fails to remove freckles.

On Derby Day a certain short-sighted peer went to the club intending to lunch there. He walked up to the board on which the club luncheon menu was usually posted. On this day, however, the board had been used to post up the draw for the club Derby sweepstake. The peer scanned the list carefully, and at length turned away with disgust. "Confound them!" he said. "There's never anything fit to eat here! I shall go to the Carlton."

HUMAN PROCESSION

At the recent convention of advertising men in Toronto the delegates gave emphasis to the importance of strict adherence to truth in advertisements. This policy has been adhered to for many years by most of the successful manufacturers and merchants of America, and that honesty pays cash dividends has been demonstrated so often that it can no longer be denied. Yet there was a period, within the scope of the memory of those now living, when dishonest, exaggerated and lying advertisements were the rule, rather than the rare exception. The credit for this radical change in merchandising methods cannot be attributed to any one man, but the great majority of his fellow-merchants give the greatest credit to John Wanamaker.

The pioneer in the "honest advertising," one-price, satisfaction-or-your-money-back school of modern merchandising was born seventy-six years ago to-day, July 11, 1838, in Philadelphia. After serving a mercantile apprenticeship as errand boy and retail clothing salesman, he established in 1861 the clothing concern of Wanamaker & Brown.

From the first the future merchant prince preached and practiced the doctrine of truthful advertising. Honest merchandise was the foundation of his great business structure, and printer's ink the mortar. He advertised as liberally as his finances would permit, and he applied to every statement the touchstone of truth. At that period the vast majority of even the most honest of merchants considered that a little exaggeration, a stretching of the truth, was necessary in order to make advertising attract customers. Business rivals predicted that the Wanamaker theory would never work out in practice. They were mistaken, for within fifteen years the Wanamaker business had expanded until it was a great enterprise dealing in a wide variety of merchandise. A quarter of a century ago the merchant was made a member of President Harrison's cabinet, and as postmaster-general, he was a pioneer advocate of the parcel post. In 1896 Mr. Wanamaker bought the famous New York store of A. T. Stewart.

In a recent hearing before the federal commission of industrial relations, Mr. Wanamaker denounced as false the charges of immorality among feminine store workers. "These young women could not do their work as efficiently as they do if they lived the lives they are said to live," asserted the veteran merchant.

Mr. Wanamaker has long been prominent in religious and philanthropic work. At a recent convention of Sunday school workers Mr. Wanamaker startled his hearers by recommending for general adoption some of the methods of "Billy" Sunday, the "baseball evangelist."

"Religious services are too long and dry," said the veteran merchant, "and the church or Sunday school that expects to meet with success must deliver the goods the people want. Some persons object to Sunday's language. It is hard to break away from the language a man has been using since childhood, and, anyhow, we should not overlook the harvest to examine the harrow too closely."

Mr. Wanamaker has long been interested in Sunday school work. It is related that on one occasion, as teacher of a class of youngsters, he concluded the lesson with the assurance that any young yearner for truth who had questions to propound was at liberty to do so. The merchant was much gratified when a little girl manifested a desire to take advantage of the invitation. "Please, Mr. Wanamaker," was her question, "what is the price of those dolls you have in your window?"

The country demands service of every class working in harmony one with another for the good of the nation as a whole.—Duke of Portland.

SCRAP BOOK

Festival of Pius, First of Ten Popes to Bear That Name.

In the calendar of Catholicism to-day is the festival of St. Pius I, pope and martyr, who was the first of the successors of St. Peter to adopt the name of Pius. It is a far cry from Pius I. to Pius X., for the former became the head of the church in the year 143 and died a martyr's death in 157. Thirteen centuries passed before another Pius sat upon the throne as vicar of Christ. Pius II., Eneas Sylvian Piccolomini, was a Tuscan, and was famed for his learning. He died in 1461, and early in the following century Francesco Piccolomini adopted the title of Pius III. upon his elevation to the papal throne. His reign lasted but three weeks. Cardinal de Medici was elected pontiff in 1559 and became Pius IV. His successor, Michael Ghisleri, adopted the same name. Like the first Pius, he was canonized. Before his elevation to the rulership of the church he was inquisitor-general, and famed for his zeal against "heretics." He excommunicated Queen Elizabeth, encouraged Mary Queen of Scots, supported the French king against the Huguenots, and formed the holy league which by its armies crushed the Ottoman forces and saved Europe from the Turk. After his death two centuries passed before another Pius appeared. Giovanni Angelo Braschi, Pius VI., was an able administrator. He was made a prisoner by Napoleon and carried over the Alps to Valence, where he died in 1799.

Pius VII., Gregorio Batnaba Chiaramonti, crowned Napoleon emperor, but afterward engaged in a forceful controversy with the Corsican. The pope was arrested and lodged at Fontainebleau, and was not permitted to return to the Eternal City until 1814. After the restoration he re-established the inquisition and the Jesuits. Pius VIII. was Francis Xaviera Castiglioni, and his pontificate lasted but one year. Pius IX., Giovanni Maria Mastai Ferretti, was elected to the papacy in 1846. During the war for Italian unity he had to flee from Rome, but was restored by Napoleon III. In 1870 the French troops were withdrawn and the territory of the church was annexed to the kingdom of Italy, thus ending the temporal power of the church. Pius X., who now occupies the throne of St. Peter, was elected in 1903. He was Giuseppe Sarto (in English, Joseph Taylor), before he

SOME NEW BOOKS

A new set of volumes of the "Home University Library of Modern Knowledge" will be published by Messrs. Williams & Norgate on July 7. The editors—Prof. Gilbert Murray, Dr. Herbert Fisher and Prof. J. Arthur Thomson—are to be congratulated upon the twelfth issue of this successful series, bringing the number of volumes up to ninety-five. The first of the five new volumes is "The Alps" by Mr. Arnold Lunn, who writes as an experienced and enthusiastic climber, as well as a scholar in the literature of Alpine exploration. Prof. W. R. Shepherd gives a timely account of the twenty republics of "Central and South America," their history, economic resources, political constitution, and social life. Miss Edith Schiel contributes a glowing sketch of the princes, popes and grand ladies, the poets and thinkers, artists and reformers, soldiers and swashbucklers of "The Renaissance." Dr. R. H. Charles, Canon of Westminster, in a detailed examination of the apocryphal and pseudocographical writings, shows how important was the period of "Religious Development between the Old and the New Testaments." Finally, Mr. J. M. Robertson, M. P., has found time amid his parliamentary and departmental labors to compose a critical survey of "Elizabethan Literature."

"ALL THE TALENTS."

For their hoped-for new ministry the French are using a term invented in England—the ministry of all the talents. This famous ministry came into being on the death of Pitt in 1806. His majesty abhorred Fox, yet he found himself in the position of asking Lord Granville to form a cabinet in which he knew that the hated Whig must be included. In this cabinet Erskine became lord chancellor and Sheridan paymaster-general. The odd thing is that the name "all the talents" given by friends should afterwards have sunk, on a shaft of ridicule thrown out by Canning, into a term of contempt.

The real trouble about the present generation is not that there is too little interest in social problems, but that there is an excessive consciousness of the existence of those troubles and too little concentration on the ordinary facts of life. We should take an interest in the child as an individual rather than in children as problems.—Lord Lytton.

BOOTH'S "SENTIMENT."

The late General Butler had a curious story to tell about a visit to the field of Waterloo, which enthusiasts want to save from the builders' encroachments. According to Butler, a certain man visited the historic battlefield on June 3, 1826, and left the following entry in the visitors' book, which, at that time, was kept in the farmhouse of La Belle Alliance: "I this day visited the field of Waterloo, where Napoleon, by the misconduct of an officer, was obliged to yield the palm of victory to superior numbers, and that his son may one day avenge his death, and shake Europe to its centre, is the wish of a sincere American." This "sentiment" was signed "Junius Brutus Booth, citizen of the United States." Thirty-nine years later the writer's son, J. Wilkes Booth, shot Abraham Lincoln in a Washington theatre, and a continent was shaken to its centre.

The greatest part of an author's time is spent in reading. In order to write, a man will turn over half a library to make one book.—Dr. Johnson.

One Can Have A Good Time At Table without the usual cup of tea or coffee, and feel a whole lot better between meals, too—free from that old "off color feeling"—biliousness, indigestion, nervousness and heart flutter.

The secret is

POSTUM

—Instead of tea or coffee.

Try the change for a couple of weeks and observe two noticeable things:

You won't miss the old beverage, for Postum has a delicious snappy flavor.

Further, there's the brisk alert feeling,—free from the logyness of a lazy liver and disturbed digestion.

Thousands of people have made the change and know

"There's a Reason"

Postum comes in two forms:

Regular Postum—must be well boiled. 15c and 25c packages.

Instant Postum—needs no boiling. A teaspoonful of the soluble powder stirred in a cup of hot water makes a delightful beverage instantly. Add cream and sugar to taste. 30c and 50c tins.

The cost per cup of both kinds is about the same.

Grocers everywhere sell POSTUM.

La Marquise de Fontenoy

Lady Brooke enjoys, as Rance, or Sultana of Sarawak, all the rights and prerogatives, in England and abroad, of a consort of an independent sovereign, subject only to British suzerainty and protection. She and her husband, who is a retired officer of the royal English navy, and with whom she now resides almost entirely in England, are entitled to a salute of twenty odd guns, as vassal sovereigns, are accorded by the English court and government the predicate of "Highness," and possesses the same territorial rights, prerogatives and immunities, as foreign ambassadors, that is to say, they are exempt from the jurisdiction of all English courts of justice.

This being the case, something of a sensation has been created by the notion of the Rance in giving at a woman's suffrage meeting, held at Knightsbridge, in London, her public approval of the militant suffragettes, whom she described as "those noble-hearted women" whose example should be in her opinion an incentive to every woman interested in the suffragette cause, to be up and doing something every day for the great cause which they had at heart.

By many, this totally uncalculated proclamation by the Rance of Sarawak, of her views, will be regarded as singularly indiscreet, if not worse, at a moment when militant suffragettes are committing all sorts of criminal outrages, in the way of arson and destruction of national and private property, and when they are also attacking the king, and queen on every possible occasion, one of them having recently knocked the king's hat off his head, while another was arrested while making her way into Buckingham Palace with a couple of loaded revolvers in her pocket. The militant suffragettes have likewise threatened, both by word of mouth and in print, to use explosives, bombs, etc., against prominent personages, in order to attract attention to their cause and to terrorize crown and government into giving way.

Under the circumstances the Rance's speech at Knightsbridge the other day can only be regarded in the light of public encouragement of crime, against a government to whom she and her husband are indebted not only for the protection accorded to them by King George as their suzerain but also for many honors and distinctions.

If the Rance were the native wife of one of the great vassal rulers of India, such as for instance the Maharajah of Baroda, she would undoubtedly have been asked to quit the United Kingdom and to return immediately to India, at any rate to keep out of England, while the sovereign honors accorded to her husband and to herself would be suspended. But the Rance of Sarawak besides being the consort of the Rajah of Sarawak is also an Englishwoman, the wife of an Englishman, who in spite of his possession through inheritance of his throne in the Far East, has never ceased to be an English citizen. Consequently the Rance cannot be asked to leave the country.

The most that King George can do, if he cares to take any official notice of her conduct, is to deprive her of her sovereign honors, prerogatives and immunities, which were granted by the British crown to the Rajah and herself, not as a matter of right, but as an act of grace and honor, in recognition of the excellence of the Rajah's rule over the sultanate of Sarawak for nearly fifty years past.

The Rance is a sister of the explorer, Harry de Windt, who attracted some attention sixteen years or so ago by an unsuccessful attempt to travel from New York to Paris by land, crossing over the Behring straits on foot upon ice. He almost got drowned while crossing the straits, and had to be rescued by a whaler.

The Rajah and Rance of Sarawak have a country place, known as Chesterton House, near Cirencester, in England, and a villa at Bogliasco, on the Italian Riviera, near Genoa. Their eldest son, the Rajah Muda, or heir apparent to the throne of Sarawak, was educated at Winchester and at Cambridge, and is married to Lord Ishe's daughter, the Hon. Sylvia Brett. She has a strain of American blood in her veins, for her grandmother, old Baroness Van der Weyer, was a daughter and heiress of Joseph Bates, of Boston, the American partner of the great banking house of Baring.

Last year the Rance published a very entertaining book on the subject of her life in Sarawak and of the confidence imparted to her by that wonderful character, the chief sultan of the sultanate, Queen Victoria used always to treat her with marked consideration and made a point of invariably rising from her seat to meet her, in recognition that she was more than a mere subject, indeed, rather a sister sovereign.

If Duke Alexander Constantine of Oldenburg succumbed to the very grave injuries sustained in the wreck of his automobile, just outside the Baden village of Wiesenthal, it will be the second case of the death of a royal personage through a motor accident, the only other one having been that of the elder brother of the reigning Duke of Oldenburg, who has been an invalid for some time past, was travelling with his nurse and his valet, his gentleman in waiting following in a second automobile, and those with him in the wrecked motor were all badly hurt.

The Duke, although a member of the German reigning dynasty of Oldenburg, and in the immediate line of succession to the grandducal throne of that North German state, is a Russian rather than a German, having been born in Russia, of a Russian mother, Grandduchess Catherine Paulowna, and having spent his entire life in the dominions and in the military service of the czar. As the Imperial house of Russia constitutes part and parcel of the Oldenburg dynasty, he has always been considered at St. Petersburg a member of the Imperial family. Moreover, his wife is one of the daughters of the union of Grandduchess Marie of Russia with the Duke of Leuchtenberg, himself a son of Eugene de Beauharnais, the stepson of the first Napoleon. Princess Alexander of Leuchtenberg is therefore on her father's side a great-granddaughter of Empress Josephine, and on her mother's side a great-granddaughter of the celebrated Queen Louise of Prussia, the heroine of the war of German liberation, at the beginning of the nineteenth century.

Of all the Royal and Imperial personages at St. Petersburg, there are probably no two who are so universally beloved as the Duke and Duchess Alexander of Oldenburg, who may be said to devote the whole of their life and the greater portion of their great wealth to philanthropy. There is no end to the number of charitable institutions, hospitals and especially orphan asylums and technical schools that have been founded by this royal couple on the banks of the Neva and throughout Russia. In the so-called Oldenburg Institute at St. Petersburg more than two thousand boys and girls are taught trades, and receive technical education, being furnished with board and lodging, all at the expense of the duke and duchess. The latter, moreover, have established on the banks of the Neva a sort of people's palace, on the lines of the one which Sir Walter Scott obtained in London, and where the poor can obtain either for a nominal price or else gratis food and non-alcoholic beverages as well as theatrical and musical entertainment.

Their kindness, however, and their charity to the poor and suffering did not prevent their beautiful chateau in the province of Voronezh, in Southern Russia, from being burned to the ground and plundered by the peasants of the district, at the same time that they wrecked the duke's sugar refinery near by, during the great agrarian troubles in Southern Russia a few years ago.

The Duke and duchess have an only son, Duke Peter of Oldenburg, a general in the Russian army, who is married to Grandduchess Olga, the youngest sister of Emperor Nicholas.

PITHY PARAGRAPHS

An old lady in the Highlands engaged the young son of a crofter to act as page, and fitted him out with livery, which was to be worn only on special occasions. On the day of a dinner party a shock-head was thrust into the drawing-room, and a voice inquired: "Please, ma'am, am I to put on my ain breeks or yours?"

Little Johnny had been naughty all day. At last, to cap the climax, he slapped his small sister. When father came home from the office the mother told him of his son's misdeeds. "The next time you tease your sister go to bed without your dinner," the father said sternly. The kiddie sat in silence for a few moments. Then, all of a sudden, he turned to his father. "The next time I want to hit sister I'll wait until after dinner," he remarked.

The magistrate looked severely at the small, red-faced man who had been summoned before him, and who returned his gaze without flinching. "So you kicked your landlord down stairs?" queried the magistrate. "Did you imagine that was within the right of a tenant?" "I'll bring my lease in and show it to you," said the little man, growing redder. "And I'll wager you'll agree with me that anything they've forgotten to prohibit in that lease I had a right to do the very first chance I got."

When a certain North Carolina jurist made his first appearance at the bar as a young lawyer, he was given charge, by the state's solicitor, of the prosecution of a man who was charged with some misdemeanor. Although there was practically no evidence against the man, the youthful attorney did his best, but was astonished when the jury brought in a verdict of "guilty." After the trial one of the jurors tapped the young lawyer on the shoulder. "We didn't think that man was guilty," he explained, "but at the same time we didn't like to discourage a young lawyer by acquitting him."

It is told of a certain famous painter that on one occasion he was taken by an American millionaire through his picture gallery. It contained, apparently, a very bad collection of pictures, and the great artist was very bored. "Mr. millionaire," said the millionaire said at length, gazing with pride on the canvases, "I've decided to leave my pictures to some public institution. What institution would you suggest?" "A blind asylum," said the painter.

Signor Caruso has been having a busy time lately. Between singing at Covent Garden, singing in London, and fighting a law case in Italy. The story goes that not long ago the great Italian singer dined at a private house in London, and he was so pleased with a dish of macaroni that the cook had sent up to the table that he insisted on going down to the kitchen to offer his thanks in person. Not only did he thank the lady but he offered her the choice of a ticket to hear him sing at Covent Garden or a song on the spot. The cook, not trusting very much to the remembering capacity of famous tenors, said she would have the song on the spot. So Caruso, leaning against the kitchen dresser, immediately favored her with "La Donna e Mobile" in his most brilliant manner. As somebody pointed out afterwards: "Caruso expects at least £500 for a private concert, which makes the cook's macaroni the most expensive dish ever eaten!"

WEALTH OF BLOOMS

Beautiful Display Pleases Many Visitors; Mrs. Paterson Opens the Event

The Sidney flower show, held under the auspices of the North and South Saanich Agricultural society, was formally opened shortly after three o'clock this afternoon. His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor, accompanied by Mrs. Paterson, drove out from Victoria early in the afternoon in order to be present at the first exhibition of the kind ever held in that town.

Berquist hall, the scene of the show this afternoon and evening, presented a very pleasing sight, with its banks of beautiful garden and hot-house blooms very tastefully arranged by the committee, and in his brief address to the large crowd of visitors who were present for the occasion his honor congratulated the various committees on the success of their undertaking and the beautiful collection of flowers which they had assembled for the occasion in such an attractive manner.

Mrs. Paterson, who wore a very handsome gown of Alice blue cloth, with black hat trimmed with blue plumes to match, indicated her great interest in the show in formally declaring it open.

The hall was prettily decorated with cedar boughs and attractively-colored paper covered the tables. One whole table was occupied with sweetpeas, which formed perhaps the most comprehensive exhibit in the show. There were no less than 104 entries in the sweetpea classes, while nasturtiums were also a very strong feature of the display. There were large exhibits of perennials and annuals, notable among the former being gallardias, pentstemons, Canterbury bells and other plants. The entries covered a wide range of territory, among the exhibitors being growers in Victoria, Saanich, Royal Oak and other points. Displays were also sent from Salt Spring Island and other gulf islands.

There was a very good showing of roses in spite of the lateness of the season. The favorite varieties included Hugh Dickson, Pape Gontier and Mamou Coche. About twenty varieties in all were shown. One example which attracted much attention was a splendid rambler.

Other outdoor plants were the Spanish Broom, Cononanthus, a beautiful vase of carnations, pink rambles and corollas, the bridal bouquets, in which gypsophylla formed the foliage, received the praise of the many visitors. In the fruit classes the display of small fruits, which are at their best at this time of year, drew much praise. There were some splendid exhibits of dishes of loganberries, raspberries, gooseberries, and even of peaches, while a few cherries were also shown.

The most notable exhibit in the fruit section was that of raspberries in the Herbert type, sent by Mrs. S. A. Kelly. Perhaps the most noticeable display of the show was the splendid collection, not for competition, sent by Sidney Experimental Farm, under the direction of Manager Spencer. This had been staged by H. Prueve, under the supervision of Mr. Spencer. Not only did it include trees indigenous to British Columbia, but also some importations of valuable shrubs from Japan and other countries. Fine examples of the department of agriculture, Ottawa, who is visiting on the coast, as the judge, and his decisions gave great satisfaction.

The committee had been fortunate in securing the services of F. E. Buck, B. S. A., a member of the horticultural staff of the department of agriculture, Ottawa, who is visiting on the coast, as the judge, and his decisions gave great satisfaction.

Many members of the Victoria Automobile association who motored out to the club quarters and lunched there, visited the show during the day. Afternoon tea was served under the direction of Mrs. A. O. Wheeler, in the tea room adjoining the hall.

Among the officers of the society who spent a busy morning were J. J. White, chairman, and G. F. Bolingbroke, hon. secretary. H. S. Albury, secretary of the North and South Saanich Agricultural society, gave valuable assistance.

Miss Mary Boyd and Miss Helen Boyd, of Kansas City, are spending a vacation with their aunt, Mrs. Pen-dray, Belleville street.

TWELFTH OF JULY
CELEBRATED HERE

Orangemen of British Columbia Hold Gathering in Honor of Battle of Boyne

The 224th anniversary of the Battle of the Boyne is being observed to-day by the Orangemen of British Columbia in this city. There are half a dozen other celebrations in out-of-the-way places, where representatives could not be sent to the provincial gathering here, but the celebration in Victoria is the main one.

There were about three thousand members of the order in line when the procession started out from the corner of Yates and Blanshard streets shortly after 2 o'clock for Beacon Hill park. The membership of the order here was added to by over one thousand from Vancouver who came over on the Princess Charlotte, which sailed from Vancouver an hour and a half earlier than usual and got in at 12.30. From points up the Island there were as many more, who came in on a special train over the E. & N., arriving at 11.30. From Saanich points there was a large attendance in by road and interurban line.

The different sections of the parade formed up on the side streets off Yates street under their masters and marshals, and no difficulty was experienced in getting them under way when all was ready. In the parade were members of forty primary lodges and six ladies' organizations, as well as the county bodies of Victoria and Vancouver counties, and delegations from the Sons of England and the Daughters and Maids of England.

The way was led by the county officers and the district lodge of Victoria, with Worshipful Brother Leonard Tait, district master, in the lead. With a band between, one of the half-dozen in the line, followed the Black Knights of Ireland, in their striking but sombre uniforms, to the number of twenty-five. Then came the Vancouver lodges, with banners, but not in any particular order, as some of them did not have a large enough representation out to make it advisable to march alone.

The Victoria district lodges were naturally out in almost full force, marshaled by W. C. Thompson, past master of L.O.L. 1610. That lodge was in the position of honor, as became the banner lodge of the province, with its four hundred odd members. It was in charge of J. C. Scott, master, and was followed by L.O.L. 1428, under B. F. Lefebvre, master; Sir George White lodge, under W. Blech, master, and Sir Charles Beresford lodge, under E. Mitchell, master, the Royal Black preceptory and the Royal Scarlet chapter.

Then came the Vancouver United club, the Sons and Daughters of the ladies' societies in carriages. The route followed was by way of Yates, Douglas, Cormorant, Government, Belleville, Menzies and Simcoe streets to the park clearing at the end of Douglas street. In the parade were the various city regimental bands and pipers and the brass and five-and-drum bands of the visiting lodges. There was great variety of regalia and numerous people not in the procession wore the Orange color.

At the park a stand had been erected where Leonard Tait took the chair, and there the visitors were welcomed by Mayor Stewart in a brief speech. They followed the addresses of the day, made by H. H. Stevens, M. P. for Vancouver, and Rev. A. E. Cook, of Kitilano. These were suited to the occasion, and in support of the following resolution, which was carried:

"We, as part of the British empire, protest against the handing-over of the loyal minority of Ireland to a proselytizing element who have on every occasion asserted that they would never be satisfied until the last link which binds Ireland to the empire is severed."

"We believe the foundation of the empire will be undermined if the present obnoxious home rule measure is put in effect, and we assure our loyal Irish fellow-subjects that to the utmost of our power we will assist them in maintaining their present position in the empire, and will never consent to their being forced out."

The covenant signed by the loyalists of Ireland we stand by, and have confidence in their leaders. Our watchword is re-echoed from the walls of Derry—no surrender—irrespective of whatever takes place, believing as we do, that no government has a right to place in jeopardy a loyal people who fought for and purchased with their blood the rights we now enjoy."

"We unalterably oppose the coercion of our brethren in Ulster to submit to a papal parliament in College Green, and we pledge our active support to our brethren in their struggle for civil and religious liberty. Their battle will be our battle to maintain the supremacy of the empire, and in withstanding the onslaught of the hierarchy upon Protestant Ulster."

The latter part of the afternoon was spent in games and athletic sports, a lengthy programme for which had been prepared. This evening a ball will be held in the drill hall under the patronage of his honor the lieutenant-governor and Sir Richard McBride. The doors will be open at half-past seven and dancing will start at eight o'clock.

To-morrow forenoon the Orangemen will walk to St. John's church to attend divine service. A sermon appropriate to the occasion will be preached by the Rev. F. A. P. Chadwick, assistant rector.

Will Meet Monday.—The Victoria and Island Football association, having a number of matters requiring arrangement, the industrial commissioner has called a meeting of the provisional council of the association for 4 p. m. on Monday. Numerous matters affecting the organization will be discussed.

Exposition Official Here.—Among the guests at the Empress hotel is A. A. Carpenter, of San Francisco, who occupies an important position in connection with the engineering department of the Panama-Pacific exposition. Mr. Carpenter met some of the Victoria lumbermen yesterday and today in connection with business matters pertaining to the exhibition. He is making a brief stay here.

BROCK FLIES FIRST IN HENDON-PARIS RACE

London, July 11.—The aeroplane race from Hendon to Paris and back to-day was won by Walter L. Brock, the American aviator, who recently carried off the aerial Derby round London and the London-to-Manchester air race.

London, July 11.—Brock arrived at the Hendon aerodrome just outside London at 4.08 p. m., having taken exactly 3 1/2 hours to fly from the Buc aerodrome, outside Paris.

As his flying time on the outward journey from Hendon to Paris was three hours and thirty-three minutes, the total duration of his double journey was 7 hours 3 minutes and 6 seconds, official time.

Brock was the first of the six contestants to arrive at the Buc aerodrome, Paris. He landed at 11.18 a. m. Lord John Carbery was second at 12.04 p. m. and Raoul Garros third at 12.10 on the Hendon-Paris half of the flight.

Brock's flying time from London to Paris was 3 hours 33 minutes; Carbery's 3 hours 52 minutes, and Garros' 4 hours 5 minutes.

Brock started on his return journey to London at 1.18 p. m. Brock was the first to arrive on the French side of the channel. He landed at Hardelet, Boulogne, and after taking a 15-minute rest, he continued his flight to Paris, Carbery, Garros and Eugene Renaux, two Frenchmen, closely followed Brock; Renaux carrying with him a woman as a passenger.

Two other British entrants, Reginald H. Carr and Louis Noel descended before reaching the English coast from London.

BURIED WITH HONORS

Remains of G. N. Sutton Accorded Military Funeral This Afternoon.

With the band of his former regiment playing the strains of Chopin's "Marche Funebre," the remains of the late G. N. Sutton were this afternoon conveyed to their last rest on a simple gun-carriage, enwrapped in a Union Jack.

It was an impressive military funeral, and the crowds which gathered in the streets formed eloquent tribute to the popularity of the deceased, who was both widely known and widely appreciated. The cortege started from the B. C. Funeral parlors at about 3 o'clock, and headed by the regimental band of the 88th Fusiliers, followed by detachments from the 88th, the Fifth and the 50th Highlanders, made its way to Christ Church Cathedral, where an impressive service was read.

After the procession re-formed and with the band playing the magnificent melody of the Dead March in Saul, marched as far as the Ross Bay cemetery.

A firing party from the deceased's late company of the Fusiliers fired the last volleys over the grave, while the Last Post was sounded as the casket was being lowered.

Many beautiful floral tributes filled a special carriage in the procession, and among them were wreaths from the regiments, including the 88th, the 5th and the 50th Highlanders.

The bearers were all chosen from the 88th regiment: Corporal D. Michelin and Privates F. J. Webb, R. Ely, A. H. C. Jones, J. Grassick, and James Roenson.

The funeral arrangements were in the hands of the B. C. Funeral company.

ALBERTA OIL LEASES

We own upwards of 50,000 acres of oil leases, selected early, and reported on by well-known men of practical oil experience. Men operated in California, Borneo, Egypt, New Zealand, South Africa, South America, and in all the known fields of the world.

These leases are located close to development work in each of the following districts: Sweet Grass, Pincher Creek, Dinosaur, Mowbray-Berkeley, Monarch, north and south, Red Deer, Wetaskiwin and Wainwright.

The leases of many well-known companies in Alberta to-day have been selected from our holdings and we can supply you with anything from 40 acres up in any district you wish.

So many wells are now being drilled that the location of the main crude oil field is only a matter of weeks. For the successful formation of an oil company, we suggest well located leases in each district, so that the finding of a large body of oil in any one will benefit all.

We have a number of Alberta charters ready for companies of different sizes. We can lay down a Standard Drilling outfit in a short time, on easy payments, and supply experienced men to operate it. We will co-operate the flotation of a company with responsible men who have, or soon will, develop a good sales organization.

Experienced oil men all agree that the discovery in Alberta of one of the largest oil fields of the world is imminent. The possibilities to you in the flotation of a company in your locality are tremendous.

By a careful selection of leases you can safeguard your stockholders, and practically eliminate all chance of loss.

REVIVAL OF INTEREST IN OIL DEPARTMENT

Active Trading Develops at Session of Local Stock Exchange

Trading on the local stock exchange this morning was extremely good. Justifying recent sustained support, Athabasca oil sold at firm prices and at the last bidding was at best. Small lots of Alberta Petroleum and Okotoks changed hands and Monarch sold at $10 per share.

Coronation Gold was trendless and just a modicum of interest in the issue drew forth a bid of five cents only, although sellers were not disposed to reduce their offers below fifteen.

The revival in Alberta Coal & Coke is on the strength of the company's timber limits sold to give the stock a worth of three cents at least.

The financial fabric of the so-called Gould rails are visibly under the effects of readjustment, which taken in conjunction with the continued postponement of the rate decision checks good feeling.

BLACK RUST INFECTION NOT YET WIDESPREAD

(By F. W. Stevenson & Co.)

Chicago, July 11.—Lower cables and better weather in the northwest failed to drag wheat prices to-day. Buying was more influential. Reports from most parts of the northwest were of a reassuring kind. Black rust infection so far is confined to southern counties of South Dakota, where the wheat acreage is small. Foreign news favored the bull side. Russian news was less favorable and demand from other side continues good. Seaboard reported 800,000 bushels sold for export and there was fair business being done here.

WILL RESUME SOON

Canadian Puget Sound Mills Will Help Meet Demands of Reviving Market.

The Canadian Puget Sound mills will recommence operations as soon as the market for lumber improves. It was stated this morning by Vice-president J. H. Moore, who explained that the financial negotiations which have brought the company's affairs to court are now being straightened out and that the necessary money will be forthcoming.

While the box factory is the only part now operating, the company intends to have the saw and planing mills going again at an early date. He fully recognized the importance to the community of the largest plant in Victoria continuing work. Over 200 men were out of employment here temporarily through the suspension of operations, and 300 at the lumber camps around Jordan river, where are located the limits of the company.

The company is still selling lumber from the yards, as well as keeping the box factory going, but the low price of lumber due to the decline in building operations has made it inexpedient to resume full running. With an improvement anticipated in building and a better demand for cargoes to overseas points it is hoped the plant will be reopened in the fall.

The mill last year had a payroll of about $40,000 a month.

STOCK MARKED WEAK

CAUSES ARE OUTLINED

New York, July 11.—Various conflicting conditions imparted a weak tone to this week's stock market. The news was more than ordinarily a mixture of good and bad, the former including the splendid crop report, the new attitude of Washington toward business, and the more hopeful views entertained by representatives of the steel industry.

These were more than counterbalanced by continued delay in the eastern freight rate decision and heavy selling of numerous low-priced railway shares, including Gould issues, Rock Islands, New Haven and Chesapeake & Ohio, most of which fell to lowest prices ever recorded.

Selling of the Goulds was unexplained, except on the general ground that investors have become discouraged with the outlook for that and affiliated properties. There was also reason to believe that the short interest accelerated the downward movement in these securities.

The causes back of the selling of New Haven and Chesapeake & Ohio were more apparent. Towards the end of the week high grade stocks which had held relatively steady, began to reflect the force of the movement in the obscure stocks and indications of liquidation in that part of the list were manifested.

STOLE OLD TIRE

Two Men Earn a Month in Jail Apiece for Theft of Rubber Worth 60 Cents.

A month's confinement in jail apiece is the price William Finlay and Alex. McKenzie will pay for taking an old and ragged tire worth 60 cents from the premises of the Victoria Junk company. McKenzie pleaded he was not in a fit state to be tried, and was shaking in the dock from the effects of over drinking, but he was nevertheless found guilty and sentenced.

John Smirl, who is with the junk company, gave evidence to the effect that he first saw both the accused yesterday morning sitting on the sidewalk in front of the Occidental hotel. Shortly afterwards McKenzie walked towards the store and was seen to roll the tire towards him. On the owner coming out, however, he dropped the tire and went away.

Half an hour later Smirl saw McKenzie come up and grab the tire, and taking it over his arm hand it to Finlay, who passed on with it to the premises of another junk dealer on Johnson street. In this store Finlay was stopped and taken back to the Victoria Junk company's office. McKenzie was found and arrested later in the Occidental hotel.

Both men pleaded not guilty, and Finlay told a long story about coming down Johnson street and finding the tire lying on the sidewalk. He stated that he thought it belonged to the store and he merely returned it to whom he thought were its owners. The magistrate did not believe his story and found both men guilty.

CADETS COMPLETE

TRAINING IN CAMP

Nine Hundred Boys Leave for Home To-day; Campaigners' Shield Presented

The cadet camp broke up to-day after an excellent week's training at Macaulay Plains. Lieut.-Col. Leckie marshalled the cadets from the mainland under their company leaders for the parade downtown in order to catch the steamer at the Canadian Pacific wharves, the local and island companies leaving camp in the course of the day under the direction of the respective cadet instructors.

Great interest was taken in the field sports yesterday afternoon, among the awards being the following: Tug-of-war, won by No. 2 battalion.

Bandsmen's race—1. R. Bagley, of Vancouver; 2. J. Grode. Cadet officers' race—1. Victor MacKenzie, Vancouver; 2. George Stewart, Seaford; 3. F. C. M. S. Fraser, Vancouver.

Instructors' race—1. G. A. Coombs, Nanaimo; 2. J. M. Thomas, North Vancouver. Class A, 75 yards—1. E. Slevin, Vancouver; 2. J. Lent, Vancouver.

Class B, 100 yards—1. G. Hutchinson, Esquimalt; 2. G. McPherson, Vancouver. Class A, 220 yards—1. K. Price, Victoria; 2. McPherson, Nanaimo.

Class C, 100 yards—1. E. Sheasgreen, Vancouver; 2. V. Mackenzie, Nanaimo. The presentation of the shield to No. 1 company, Victoria, the Central school cadet corps, which is the best company in the Victoria district, took place last evening. The shield was donated last fall by the British Campaigners' Association. The president, Major Wilson, made the presentation last evening.

In the absence of Lieut.-Col. Leckie, Major Belson received the campaigners. The members of the association who attended included Vice-President Beaumont Boggs and Dr. Barty. The campaigners marched into camp led by the Seaford Highlanders' cadet band.

Brief addresses were delivered by the president and Mr. Boggs, the latter referring to the fact that his son had been a High school cadet and was now an officer in the Indian army. Only No. 1 company paraded.

The officers of the camp expressed themselves as particularly well satisfied with the training. It had been carried out during splendid weather. Wet weather was a very serious drawback to a boys' camp.

The school teachers who are training as cadet instructors are continuing in camp to complete their full course to qualify as militia lieutenants.

hall on Thursday next at 8 p. m. for instruction.

The drums and fife will practice in the bandroom, Johnson street, on Monday next at 8 p. m.

THE TERRIBLE FOR SALE

The cruiser Terrible, the guns from which were landed by Sir Percy Scott, then her captain, and helped to save Ladysmith, is about to be sold out of the navy.

The Terrible, a twin-screw cruiser, was built at Clydebank and launched in the summer of 1895. She is 500 feet long between perpendiculars, of 14,440 tons displacement, with engines of 25,000 h.p., her contract speed being twenty-two knots, but this was well exceeded on her trials.

Unfortunately, she proved to be a heavy coal eater, and was partly reconstructed in 1903.

SCOUTS IN CAMP

ENJOY THEMSELVES

Boys of Third Troop on Outing; Visitors Will Be Received To-morrow

A very pleasant time is being experienced by the members of Third Troop, Boy Scouts, who are camping on Picnic Point, beyond Craigflower bridge, on Portage Inlet. Practically every member of the troop and the junior troop, formerly First troop, is in camp.

Unfortunately the scoutmaster, Lieut. H. R. Selfe, has been called away by his duties as district signalling officer, but the boys are in good hands in charge of Assistant Scoutmasters J. C. Anthony and Brown. Patrol Leader Herbert Brown is quartermaster for the camp, with Patrol Leader Hal Woolson as his assistant.

Instructional parades are being held twice a day, for two hours in the morning and for an hour in the afternoon, and there is parade in full dress every evening. There is splendid bathing in the inlet and good boating, but the boys are not allowed in or on the water without permission, and every care is taken to avoid accidents. During the bathing parade in the early morning a picket is told off and the boats manned. There is a compulsory rest hour each day after dinner.

An idea of the day the boys spend may be gleaned from their daily routine during camp, which is as follows:

Reveille, 6 a. m.
Prayers, 6.05.
Physical drill, 6.10.
Bathing parade, 6.20.
Breakfast, 6.45.
Instructional parade, 8 to 10.
Dinner, 12 noon.
Rest hour, 1 to 2 p. m.
Instructional parade, 3 to 4.
Supper, 6.30.
Parade, 7.30.
First post, 8.30.
Prayers, 9.
Last post, 9.15.
Lights out, 9.30.

The troop did fine work on Wednesday at the fire in the Burrard Engineering company's plant. The boys saw the smoke and ran for the scene at the double, getting there about the same time as Chief Davis, and forming a bucket brigade, the only feasible way of dealing with the outbreak. When the flames were under the manager of the company provided the boys with refreshments and expressed his thanks for the work they had done.

To-morrow afternoon will be visitors' day at the camp. Those who desire to walk will find their way out by the Craigflower road or from the Gorge car line by the Tillicum road and over Craigflower bridge. There will be a launch and boats at the public landing at the Gorge park at 3 o'clock for those who desire to go by water, and at intervals during the afternoon.

What Is Home Without a Really Comfortable Chair?

Making To Order and Renovating Old Chairs Is An Important Branch Of The "Home-Maker's" Business

Upholstered furniture is an essential factor in every home. Without a few pieces of furniture affording solid comfort—a real rest when needed—home is robbed of much of its charm.

It is poor economy to try to get along without an easy chair to call your own, or to make the worn out upholstery on the chairs you have do further service. You lose in comfort and rob yourself of much needed rest.

Easy Chairs and Lounges Built to Order.

Built to give you the most comfort at a price you are willing to pay. Dependable materials are necessary, but behind these things must be skilful workmanship if you are to have lasting satisfaction.

Samples in our windows, and the display on our third floor furnishes convincing evidence that we can please even you.

Repairs, Re-covering and Renovating

Are important branches of our business and specialists are ready to give you prompt and valuable service. Estimates free.

Easy Terms Easily Arranged. Don't run away with the idea that you can't afford to have the work done. Take instant advantage of the easy terms we offer.

Slip Covers Are Decorative, Inexpensive and Sanitary

What an important part in home decorations Cretonnes are playing in these days. But there is no wonder at this being the case, the material comes in such a huge assortment of pretty patterns and colorings, is so inexpensive and always looks so new and bright when laundered.

There's your bedside chair, the comfortable rocker, the big and cosy wing chair, perhaps a settee or box couch that should have loose covers to make them really pleasing for summer service.

Let us quote you prices. You'll find them very attractive.

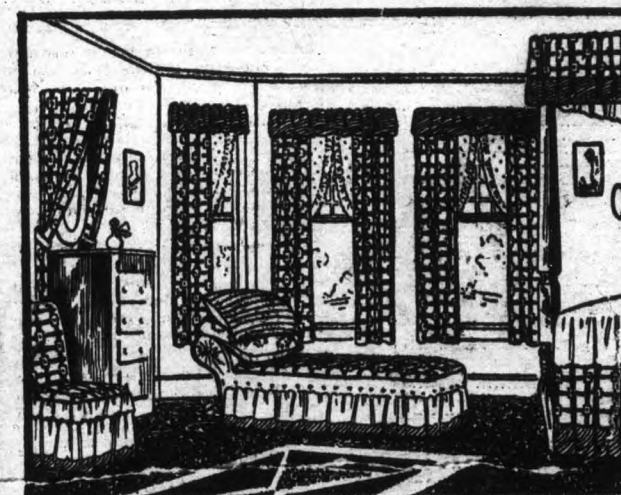

Washable and Unfaded Bath Rugs

While this line is really intended for use in the bathroom, there is no reason why they should not be used in the bedroom, especially when used in conjunction with a light-colored Scotch wool carpet or a light linoleum.

They are finished with pretty floral patterns, in colors, and are most serviceable and desirable.

Size 2 x 4 ft. are marked at only $3.25
Size 2 1/4 x 4 1/2 ft. are marked at $4.00
Size 2 3/4 x 5 ft. are marked at only $5.50

Cretonne As An Ideal Drapery Material

Cretonne Curtains and Drapes are the very height of the mode, and can be used in addition to lace, net or scrim curtains, or alone, according to taste and the amount of light in the room to be curtailed.

Simple but very artistic draperies may be made at a very slight expense; in fact, there is such a wide range of qualities and patterns to select from that the housekeeper with a very slim pocketbook can have her rooms prettily draped.

On our second floor we are displaying a very fine assortment, over 200 different patterns, and invite you to see them at your earliest convenience. Prices, per yard, up to $2 from 25¢.

Beautifully Patterned Printed Bedspreads

Choice Color Combinations, a host of beautiful floral, conventional and Oriental patterns, and sizes for single and double beds are to be had. Ideal for Summer service, especially for rooms in which cretonnes or printed linens are used for hangings. Prices start as low as $3.75

Reliable Refrigerators From Only $12.50

Refrigeration is the only really sanitary, economical and safe method of preserving perishable foods during the summer months. Buy your refrigerator on our easy payment plan. Better values are not to be had and the prices are tempting.

Sizes and styles to suit any kind of a home are being shown on our fourth floor. Why not choose yours at once?

Don't Leave Your Dishes Uncovered

Keep the fly off your food and protect your health. Of all dish covers so far introduced, none so good as this line with the wire gauze supported by four strips of steel.

Last much longer and cost no more than any other cover. Sizes up to 26-inch at 75¢ from 10-inch at 25¢ in stock.
